ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

To conduct research and finish a PhD abroad, as I discovered, is not so simple. I am deeply thankful to all who contributed to the completion of the present dissertation and my doctoral work.

I would like to acknowledge the grant from the Netherlands Organisation for Scientific Research (NWO) to my promotor Adriana G. Bus that made the present research project possible. I would like to thank all the children and schools who volunteered to participate in the experiments and the authors of the primary studies around the world who answered my e-mails and thus contributed to the meta-analyses. I am grateful for the students who were involved in the data collection for their assistance.

I am thankful for my colleagues' support, professional or otherwise. I am sorry I did not learn to speak fluent Dutch during the years but with such thoughtful colleagues I never actually had to. I am especially grateful to my roommates, Carienke and Elise, for their help and all the good times. It was gezellig!

I would like to thank my family and friends (in Holland and in Hungary) without whom this would have never been possible. I truly appreciate the never ending encouragements that I received even from quite a distance. I owe a large part of this work to my parents who always believed in me and supported me in whatever I put my mind to. My mom, who has never stopped studying and finding herself, is a great inspiration of mine. Peti, you always make me cheerful and laidback, I miss you. Dear Csabi, howdy par'ner! I cannot express how grateful I am that you stood beside me during the last years and listened to my joy, frustration and excitement. Thank you for all the love and laugh that make my life better.

CURRICULUM VITAE

Zsolia K. Takacs was born on July 14, 1987 in Budapest, Hungary. She completed her secondary education at the Toldy Ferenc Gimnazium (Budapest) in 2006. She earned a Bachelor degree in Communication and Media Studies at Eotvos Lorand University (Budapest) with a minor in Film Studies (2009). During her undergraduate studies she was a visiting student at the University of Pennsylvania (Philadelphia, PA). She completed the Research Master program Developmental Psychopathology in Education and Child Studies at Leiden University (2011), during which she was a research assistant of Prof. dr. Adriana Bus (Department of Education and Child Studies). In March 2011 she started a PhD project under the guidance of Adriana Bus investigating the effects of different features in electronic storybooks on young children's literacy development. In 2015 she is starting as a lecturer at the Institute of Education at Eotvos Lorand University (Budapest).
