Acknowledgments

First of all, I thank the Rector of the State Institute for Islamic Studies (IAIN) Walisongo Semarang, as well as the Ministry of Religious Affairs of the Republic of Indonesia for giving me permission to undertake my Ph.D. studies at Leiden University, The Netherlands.

In conducting this research I have spent some time in the United States of America, in the office of the International Institute of Islamic Thought (IIIT) in Herndon, Virginia (May and June 2004). The Leiden University Fund (LUF) provided me with funds during my field research there. I am very thankful for that.

In America, Dr. Jamal Barzinji, Vice President of IIIT, and Dr. Fathi Malkawi, Executive Director of IIIT, welcomed me and provided me with an appropriate office equipped with a computer and internet access. They also gave me access to IIIT publications and unpublished manuscripts of seminars and conferences, as well as arranged for meetings with IIIT founders. Dr. Taha Jabir al-'Alwani, one of the founding members of IIIT, who is now the president of the Graduate School of Islamic and Social Sciences (GSISS) also welcomed me to interview him in his office at IIIT. Dr. Iqbal Unus, Director of Administration, Dr. Hisham al-Talib, and Obay al-Talib, provided me with some documents and publications of IIIT. Ms Houria and Ms Sabah and others sitting at the information desk always helped me and allowed me to use the photocopy machine. Mr. Dutamardin Umar helped me in finding a suitable accommodation. I am grateful to them all for their help during my research in Herndon.

In Indonesia, my families have suffered a lot when I left them to undertake these Ph.D. studies for more than 4 years. My beloved wife, Karsi Asih, has struggled very hard to take care of our two daughters and brought them up alone. I am fully aware of how difficult it has been for my 12-year-old daughter, Rahma Syarafina Maharani, and my 6-year-old daughter, Rosyida Hasna Kumala Dewi, to live without their father present among them. My father and mother always stimulated me and prayed for my success. This work is dedicated to them all. In heaven, the souls of my parents-in-law must have been praying for my success. I want to dedicate this study to them too.

In Leiden, many people have helped me in one way or another. This study has been enriched by discussions with a number of people. I would like to express my gratitude to my friends and colleagues whose comments on certain parts of my research have given me an inspiration in thinking and writing. These include Professor Dr. Salleh Yaapar, Professor Dr. Machasin, Mujiburrahman, Mufti Ali, Moch. Nur Ichwan, Noorhaidi, Zulkifli, and many others whom I cannot mention all here. I am alone responsible for the views expressed in this work.
