

Universiteit
Leiden
The Netherlands

Wrap the Dead : The funerary textile tradition from the Osmore Valley, South Peru, and its social-political implications

Minkes, W.

Citation

Minkes, W. (2005, September 13). Wrap the Dead : The funerary textile tradition from the Osmore Valley, South Peru, and its social-political implications. Retrieved from <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/13715>

Version: Not Applicable (or Unknown)

License: Licence agreement concerning inclusion of doctoral thesis in the Institutional Repository of the University of Leiden

Downloaded from: <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/13715>

Note: To cite this publication please use the final published version (if applicable).

APPENDIX 2: LIST OF ASSOCIATED OBJECTS

Botanic remains

|                 |                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-----------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Ají             | peppers ( Capsicum sp.)                                                                                                                                         |
| Algodón         | ( Gossypium barbadense ); indigenous cotton of the Andean region, grows in coastal regions up to 1900 masl                                                      |
| Cacto           | cactus ( Cactus sp., maybe Browningia candelabris )                                                                                                      |
| Calabaza        | gourd, possibly Cucurbita sp. eaten as fruit                                                                                                                    |
| Camote          | edible tuber, sweet potato ( Ipomoea batatas )                                                                                                                  |
| Carbón          | charcoal                                                                                                                                                               |
| Coca            | leaves from shrub ( Erythroxylon sp.) chewed for endurance                                                                                                      |
| Frijol          | bean ( Phaseolus vulgaris , or: Poroto beans, Goldstein: 1989, 218)                                                                                             |
| Guayaba         | fruit from guava tree ( Psidium guajava )                                                                                                                       |
| Junquillo/Junco | type of reed fibres used for cords, ropes, and matting                                                                                                                 |
| Lúcuma          | fruit from small tree ( Lucuma biferá )                                                                                                                         |
| Maíz            | maize, corn ( Zea mays ): kernels or cobs                                                                                                                       |
| Molle           | seeds of tree ( Lithra molle , or Schinus molle ), used for brewing chicha beer, wood for tools and construction work, various parts used for dye stuffs |
| Pacay           | fruit from tree ( Inga feuillei ), inner fruit pod is eaten                                                                                                     |
| Totora          | reed fibres used for cords and ropes                                                                                                                                   |
| Yuca            | edible root tuber manioc, cassave ( Manihot sp)                                                                                                                 |

Botanic artefacts

|                       |                                                                                                     |
|-----------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Aguja                 | needle made of drilled cactus spine (probably Browningia candelabras )                       |
| Alfiler               | cactus pin (probably Browningia candelabris ), used to drill holes or to pin together cloths |
| Antara                | panpipes (sampona)                                                                                  |
| Balsa                 | miniature boat made of balsa wood                                                                   |
| Bastón                | staff made of cane or wood                                                                          |
| Caja                  | little box with internal chambers, apparently used as containers for pigments                       |
| Calabaza              | bowl or container made of gourd (probably Lagenaria sp.)                                     |
| Caña                  | reed ( Gynerium sagittatum ), used for woven matting                                         |
| Cuchara               | wooden spoon with round bowl and long handle                                                        |
| Peine                 | two-sided comb with teeth of wood, cane, or cactus needles, tied in the middle by yarn              |
| Trompo                | wooden object, probably used as bottle stoppers for tapering gourds, or as fish net floats          |
| Undetermined artefact |                                                                                                     |

Faunal remains

|                  |                                                            |
|------------------|------------------------------------------------------------|
| Camélido, pata   | mummified paw, feet, hoofs of camelid like llama or alpaca |
| Camélido, cabeza | mummified head of llama or alpaca                          |
| Camélido, piel   | hide with fleece of llama or alpaca                        |

|                      |                                                 |
|----------------------|-------------------------------------------------|
| Camélido, lana cruda | raw camelid fibre                               |
| Cuy, entero          | mummified guinea pig ( Cavia porcellus ) |
| Cuy, pata con hilo   | paw of guinea pig, wrapped by a yarn            |
| Huesos de animal     | animal bones, unidentified species              |
| Huesos de pescado    | fish bones, unidentified species                |
| Huesos humanos       | human bones, not belonging to buried individual |
| Perro, pelo y/o piel | dog, hair and/or hide                           |
| Pluma                | feather, naturally coloured or dyed             |

Faunal artefacts

|                     |                                                                                     |
|---------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Chanque (marisco)   | shell species, one half of bivalve, probably used as spoon, maybe ritual use        |
| Chorro (marisco)    | mussel, one half of bivalve, probably used as spoon, maybe with ritual use          |
| Cuenta de crisocola | beads made of sea shell                                                             |
| Wichuña             | bone pick for weaving, made of camelid tibia, tapered on one side, about 15 cm long |

Ceramics

|            |                                                                                             |
|------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Cántaro    | large sized jar with two vertical handles at opposite sites of the belly                    |
| Cuenco     | open bowl                                                                                   |
| Jarra      | pitcher, small sized jar with one vertical handle connecting the shoulder with the rim      |
| Kero       | tall drinking cup with flaring walls                                                        |
| Olla       | cooking pot with wide opening and two vertical handles connecting the shoulder with the rim |
| Tiestos    | sherds, not diagnostic                                                                      |
| Vaso/Tazón | small sized cup with slightly flaring walls                                                 |
| Urna       | large sized pot (olla) used as urn for infant burial                                        |

Other

|                 |                                                           |
|-----------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|
| Coprolito       | human excrements (post-mortem process)                    |
| Lítico          | lithic artefacts such as arrow heads, flakes              |
| Metales         | metal objects, not specified shape or substance           |
| Ocre            | ochre, probably used for pigments                         |
| Ofrenda externa | offer placed on top of the tomb: sherd, food, or textiles |