ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Time flies. Four years went past after the cold windy and rainy day I first arrived in the Netherlands. Now I would like to express my sincere gratitude to all the warm-hearted people who fulfill all my happiness during my stay in this tiny but great country.

First of all, I would like to thank Paul, who gave me the opportunity to work in his wonderful group. I really learned a lot in his lab and spent a very happy time as well.

Sylvia, I think only “thank you” can not express my gratitude to you. Since you gave me a warm welcome when I arrived at the Clusius lab, I benefited a lot from all kind of your supervision, not only for scientific work but also for scientific life.

Amke, thank you for helping me a lot with the gene targeting project and all the troubles I met, especially the Dutch letters.

Marijn, thanks for all the help in the lab and teaching Dutch culture to me and my students. Tiia and Bego, my lovely and sweet students, thanks a lot for killing the plants with me together.

Hongtao Zhang, Fang Yu, Meiliang Zhou, Qifang Pan, Yanxia Zhang, Chao Cui, Shuning He, Yuntao Dai and all the Chinese colleges in IBL, thanks for the feeling of home.

Yu Qin and Feng Wang, we applied together for the scholarship, we came to the Netherlands in the same year, and we shared all the feeling about happiness and worries when we came to this far-away place. Thanks for your company in the four years. 秦宇, 同窗八载, 情深意重. Fang Wang and Heer Zhao, thanks for you to let me know that vinegar or no vinegar is a problem.
