African Postal Heritage

APH Paper Nr 6; part 2

Ton Dietz

Sahara: CABO JUBY

Version January 2017

Introduction

Postage stamps and related objects are miniature communication tools, and they tell a story about cultural and political identities and about artistic forms of identity expressions. They are part of the world's material heritage, and part of history. Ever more of this postal heritage becomes available online, published by stamp collectors' organizations, auction houses, commercial stamp shops, online catalogues, and individual collectors. Virtually collecting postage stamps and postal history has recently become a possibility. These working papers about Africa are examples of what can be done. But they are work-in-progress! Everyone who would like to contribute, by sending corrections, additions, and new area studies can do so by sending an email message to the APH editor: Ton Dietz (dietzaj@asc.leidenuniv.nl). You are welcome!

Disclaimer: illustrations and some texts are copied from internet sources that are publicly available. All sources have been mentioned. If there are claims about the copy rights of these sources, please send an email to asc@asc.leidenuniv.nl, and, if requested, those illustrations will be removed from the next version of the working paper concerned.

Cabo Juby

<http://www.sidi-ifni.com/images/stories/users/jcleonbrazquez/aoe-1956-2.jpg>

En-Wikipedia:

“In 1879, the British North West Africa Company established a trading post named Port Victoria, but in 1895 sold it to the sultan of Morocco. In 1912, Spain negotiated with France (who controlled the affairs of Morocco at the time) for concessions on the southern edge of Morocco, and on July 29, 1916, Francisco Bens officially occupied Cape Juby. The location was used as a staging post for airmail flights.

When Morocco became independent in 1956, it asked for the cession of Moroccan areas controlled by Spain. After some resistance and some fighting in 1957 during the Ifni War, Cape Juby was ceded to Morocco in 1958. The region is now also known as the Tarfaya Strip”.

The American website 'Today in Postal History' adds: "Cape Juby to United States; July 4, 1938. This colorful registered airmail first day cover originated in Cape Juby in northwest Africa. Cape Juby lies on the African coast at the same latitude as the Canary Islands. Cape Juby became a Spanish possession in 1916 with agreement from the French. It was administered in conjunction with Spanish Sahara. This cover is a first day cover for all ten values of the first airmail issue in 1938 (Scott C1 to C10). The stamps are overprinted CABO JUBY on the first airmails of Spanish Morocco. Cape Juby stamps were replaced by stamps of Spanish Sahara in 1948. Cape Juby was ceded to Morocco in 1958. The stamps were cancelled with six registry cancels. There is probably only one post office in Cape Juby. The envelope was preprinted with a place for stamping the registry number (518) as well as the black cross lines indicating a registered item. Note that there was also a strike a a military censor for Cape Juby. Spain at this time was torn by the Spanish Civil War of 1936-39. A label indicating the first day of issue was added as well as a bi-lingual airmail etiquette. There are no transit marks on the front of the cover although there should be some from New York City on the rear. The cover would likely have been routed to take advantage of the Pan American Airways Trans Atlantic service established in May of 1938. The route, F.A.M. 18, was New York City, Horta (Azores), Lisbon, to Marseilles. Cape Juby has an interesting history in early aviation. Pilot-author Antoine Saint-Exupéry spent 18 months there as airfield commander for Didier Daurat. He managed to write a book in his extended spare time.”

From 1948 onwards Cabo Juby used postage stamps of Spanish Sahara and Spanish West Africa.
From 1958 onwards the area was taken over by the Kingdom of Morocco.

1951: Postage stamps of Spanish West Africa, with cancellation “Villa Bens”, in Cape Juby.
