

Universiteit
Leiden
The Netherlands

In touch with the dead : early medieval grave reopenings in the Low Countries

Haperen, M.C. van

Citation

Haperen, M. C. van. (2017, May 16). In touch with the dead : early medieval grave reopenings in the Low Countries. Retrieved from <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/48880>

Version: Not Applicable (or Unknown)

License: Licence agreement concerning inclusion of doctoral thesis in the Institutional Repository of the University of Leiden

Downloaded from: <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/48880>

Note: To cite this publication please use the final published version (if applicable).

Cover Page

Universiteit Leiden

The handle <http://hdl.handle.net/1887/48880> holds various files of this Leiden University dissertation.

Author: Haperen, M.C. van

Title: In touch with the dead : early medieval grave reopenings in the Low Countries

Issue Date: 2017-05-16

In Touch with the Dead

Early Medieval Grave Reopenings in the Low Countries

Martine van Haperen

Layout and cover design: author

Illustrations: Frans Theuws, Martine van Haperen, Anneke Dekker, Stijn Heeren, Frank van Spelde, Faculteit Archeologie Universiteit Leiden, Rijksdienst Cultureel Erfgoed, Bureau Archeologie en Monumenten gemeente Nijmegen, Afdeling Archeologie Natuur- en Milieueducatie Den Haag.

Printed by Gildeprint-Enschede

Copyright © 2017 M.C. van Haperen

All rights reserved. No part of this book or the information contained herein may be reproduced, stored in or introduced into a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means (electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise) without the written permission of the copyright holder.

In Touch with the Dead

Early Medieval Grave Reopenings in the Low Countries

Proefschrift

ter verkrijging van
de graad van Doctor aan de Univesiteit Leiden op gezag van de Rector Magnificus Prof.Mr. C.J.J.M. Stolker, volgens besluit van het College voor Promoties
te verdedigen op dinsdag 16 mei 2017
klokke 13.45 uur

door

Martine Cornelia van Haperen

geboren te Middelburg
in 1985

Promotor:

Prof. dr. F.C.J.W. Theuws

Members of the assessment committee:

Prof. dr. R.H.A. Corbey

Prof. dr. D.R. Fontijn

Prof. dr. Julia Smith (All Souls College Oxford)

Dr. E. Aspöck (Österreichischen Akademie der Wissenschaften)

Financial support for this project and publication was generously provided by NWO

To my dear grandmothers Tine and Cor whose names are my names.

Table of contents

Acknowledgements	8
1. Introduction	10
1.1 Historiography	10
1.2 Approach and research questions	16
2. Methodology	27
2.1 Identification and prevalence of grave reopenings	27
2.2. Studying grave reopening practices	32
2.3 Treatment of the grave during interventions	37
2.4 Research strategy	39
3. The cemeteries – analyzing the data	47
3.1 Broechem	47
3.2 Meerveldhoven	60
3.3 Dommelen	69
3.4 Bergeijk	74
3.5 Posterholt	84
3.6 Borgharen	97
3.7 Wijchen	103
3.8 Lent-Lentseveld	111
3.9 Solleveld	117
3.10 Oegstgeest	121
3.11 Oosterbeintum	123
3.12 Finds from the Meuse at Kessel and Roermond	125
3.13 Comparison between cemeteries	127
4. Interpretation	149
4.1 The basics	149
4.2 Ancestors and relics	158
4.3 Value and economy	171
4.4 The dangerous dead	178
5. Conclusion	184
5.1 The graves	184
5.2 The interpretations	188
5.3 Recommendations	191
References	193
Samenvatting	203
De graven	203

Interpretaties	207
Aanbevelingen	210
About the author.....	212

Acknowledgements

This thesis would not have been here without the advice, help and support of many wonderful people. First of all, my supervisor Frans Theuws. You fostered my interest for graves all the way from when I first came into your class as a second year student up to where I am now.

The supervision from the Leiden University graduate school was very useful. My annual reviewers Miguel John Versluys and Andrea Waters kept me on track and helped me finish on time. Additional thanks are due to Andrea for helping me work through my statistics problems.

Much of the cemetery data used in this study has not yet been published elsewhere, or had not yet been published when I started working on it, so I am very grateful to Rica Annaert (Broechem), Joep Hendricks (Lent), Jasper de Bruin (Oegstgeest), Frank van Spelde (Oegstgeest), Roel Lauwerier (Borgharen) and Jan Willem De Kort (Borgharen) for giving me access to their field documentation and unpublished findings.

I was very fortunate to have a wide circle of academics on whom I could rely for inspiration and advice. First and foremost thanks are due to the Grave Reopening Research group (GRR), specifically Alison Klevnäs and Edeltraud Aspöck for reading and commenting on sections of this thesis and Stephanie Zintl and Astrid Noterman for their fellowship. Both via email and in person their interest in my research has been vital to its completion.

I also very much appreciate my colleagues at Leiden University who were always available for a welcoming chat. Thank you for always being interested in my research and asking sceptical questions.

I want to thank my fellow board members at Stichting Archaeological Dialogues (SAD) for their friendly cooperation and banter during the inspiring conferences we organized together.

I was very pleased to get a lot of support and interesting discussions from my historian colleagues. Special thanks go out to Janneke Raaijmakers for her advice on the wondrous world of relics and for reading and commenting on a section of this thesis.

Brian Wong and Bob Out from the Investabish Interactive Learning Centre were of great help in carrying out the statistical analyses presented in this thesis.

I want to thank my friends for keeping me sane during this long process. To the people at the PPK, Vegan Nederland and the readers on my blogs, thank you for being wonderful and providing an outlet for my procrastination. I am very happy to still be in touch with Andrea, Mariska and Karin who have watched me grow all the way from high school in Zeeland. Thank you for the good memories, old and new.

Finally, my family. David, my companion in life, without your work on my research database and our long walks and talks this thesis would not have been here. Adriana, you raised me as an independent spirit and I am grateful for your encouragement, helping me to find my own way. Anton, you recently completed an impressive PhD yourself and had a lot of reassurance to offer about the process. Thank you for combing through my dissertation word by word, to make sure it was legible for a 'lay' audience. And last but not least David's family: Joke, Dirk, Jos, Oma, Ellen, Mario, Yoel and Mindy. You made me feel like part of the family from day one. I was glad to be there for you when you needed it, and I want to thank each of you for being there for me, even if you did not know what I was working on most of the time.

