

Universiteit
Leiden
The Netherlands

Gender roles in traditional healing practices in Busoga

Isiko, A.P.

Citation

Isiko, A. P. (2018, June 20). Gender roles in traditional healing practices in Busoga. Retrieved from <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/63215>

Version: Not Applicable (or Unknown)

License: Licence agreement concerning inclusion of doctoral thesis in the Institutional Repository of the University of Leiden

Downloaded from: <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/63215>

Note: To cite this publication please use the final published version (if applicable).

Cover Page

Universiteit Leiden

The handle <http://hdl.handle.net/1887/63215> holds various files of this Leiden University dissertation

Author: Isiko, Alexander Paul

Title: Gender roles in traditional healing practices in Busoga

Date: 2018-06-20

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I take this opportunity to convey my sincere gratitude to all those, both individuals and institutions that have contributed significantly to the completion of this work and to my success in life. I wish to thank Leiden University for according me the opportunity to follow a PhD trajectory. This is a dream come true because it means a lot to a man from Bulagala, the remotest village in Uganda, to receive his education at Leiden University.

The guidance provided by Prof. Dr. Ernst van Alphen and Dr. Astrid Van Weyenberg of the Leiden University Centre for Cultural Disciplines is immeasurable. They guided me through the production of this dissertation. Their comments have been extremely helpful in structuring the thesis to a level of satisfaction. I express my gratitude to the German Academic Exchange Programme (DAAD) for funding this study, which initially was to be at Makerere University. I also thank Dr. Henry Manyire of the Makerere University School of Women and Gender Studies for the help he provided me during the initial conceptualisation of the topic of study.

I would like to thank the Heads of Department of Religious Studies and Philosophy, at Kyambogo University, Rev Fr Dr. Sulpicious Tumushabe and Dr. Robert Kuloba Wabyang for the conducive environment they accorded to me when I spent several days in the field collecting information. Their policy to consider reducing the number of hours for teaching enabled me to have much more time to concentrate on writing this thesis. I also thank the entire Academic and non-teaching staff of Kyambogo University and more especially those from the Department of Religious Studies for the words of encouragement and support during the time I was critically ill, suffering from suspected heart disease during my studies. I specifically wish to warmly thank the following Academic staff: Sr.Dr. Maria Gorreti Kahwa, Dr. Margaret Lubega, Prof. Wambede Nabalegwa, Rev. Dr. Grace Lubaale, Prof. John Baptist Matovu, Rev Fr Dr. Lawrence Gowon Kenyi, Mr Robert Ojambo, Dr. Elizabeth Kyazike, Mr Paulous Serugo, Mr. Julius Bahemuka, Mr. Male Hussein and Doris Kaije.

My heartfelt thanks to Mr David Gusongoire and Alex Balimwikungu for the tireless efforts rendered during the editing of this work. Many thanks also to Dr. Tugume Hassan Lubowa for his words of encouragement during my study. I also thank my friend and brother, Mr Robert Edhengo Mpala for the kind words of encouragement as well as financial and moral support he has rendered to my family over the years.

Finally, I thank my wife, Agnes Isiko Twawebwa and my children, Isiko Emmanuel Mukisa, Namugabwe Sharon Awebwa, Isiko Isaiah Samwiri and Isiko Lameka Shadrack for the support they provided throughout the study. In addition, I wish to thank Pastors Biko Moses Michael and Musoke Richard Ganya and the entire Shiloh Discipleship Ministries International-Namugongo for the words of wisdom I received from them. At a time when I was ill and feeling hopeless, this community provided me with the hope and comfort that I needed.

CURRICULUM VITAE

Alexander Paul ISIKO was born on the 23rd of July 1978 in Bulagala village in Busoga, Uganda. He obtained a Bachelor of Arts with Education degree of Makerere University in April 2001. He obtained a Master's degree in Gender Studies from Makerere University (2010) as well as Master's degree in Religious Studies from Kyambogo University (2006). He further holds a Post Graduate Diploma in Community Based Rehabilitation; with concentration on disability studies, from Kyambogo University. In 2012 he was admitted for PhD studies at the Leiden University Institute of Cultural Disciplines (LUICID) presently the Leiden University Center of Arts in Society (LUCAS). His PhD study was under the supervision of Prof. Dr. Ernst Van Alphen and Dr. Astrid Van Weyenberg of Leiden University. His PhD research was centered on 'Gender Roles in Traditional Healing Practices in Busoga society'.

In October 2001 he was appointed a 'Tutorial Fellow' later renamed 'Teaching Assistant' in the Department of Religious Studies and Philosophy of Kyambogo University. In the year 2008, he was promoted to the position of Assistant Lecturer in the same department. In November 2012, he was promoted to the position of Lecturer for which he is holding up to the present. His masters' theses were published as monographs. He has further been instrumental in the struggle for Academic staff rights and welfare at Kyambogo University. He is a member of the Kyambogo University Council and Appointments Board.