TRISTAN DA CUNHA

Version July 2020

Introduction

Postage stamps and related objects are miniature communication tools, and they tell a story about cultural and political identities and about artistic forms of identity expressions. They are part of the world's material heritage, and part of history. Ever more of this postal heritage becomes available online, published by stamp collectors' organizations, auction houses, commercial stamp shops, online catalogues, and individual collectors. Virtually collecting postage stamps and postal history has recently become a possibility. These working papers about Africa are examples of what can be done. But they are work-in-progress! Everyone who would like to contribute, by sending corrections, additions, and new area studies can do so by sending an email message to the APH editor: Ton Dietz (dietzaj@asc.leidenuniv.nl). You are welcome!

https://web.archive.org/web/20180702195750/http://www.stampworldhistory.com/country-profiles-2/africa/tristan-da-cunha/: “Tristan da Cunha is a group of volcanic islands located in the southern Atlantic Ocean – the most remote inhabited archipelago in the world. Tristan da Cunha is discovered in the 16th century by the Portuguese explorer Tristan da Cunha. Tristan da Cunha is annexed by the British, in 1816, as a British colony. The British had taken an interest in Tristan da Cunha as a base to prevent the French from liberating Napoleon who, from 1815 to 1821, was banned to Saint Helena – also in the southern Atlantic Ocean. Initially, Tristan da Cunha is administered from Cape of Good Hope and made a dependency of Saint Helena in 1938. Saint Helena, itself, becomes a British dependency in 1981 and a British overseas territory in 2002. In 2009, the status of the dependencies of Saint Helena – Ascension has become a dependency of Saint Helena in 1922 – is made the same as that of Saint Helena itself, when the British overseas territory of Saint Helena, Ascension & Tristan da Cunha is formed. The main island of Tristan is inhabited, Inaccessible and Gough are wildlife reserves on the list of World Heritage Sites. Postal history Tristan da Cunha. Mail from Tristan da Cunha is sent without stamps from 1881. From 1918, stamps of Ascension, Great Britain, Saint Helena and South Africa are used – if and when available.

Occasionally, mail is still sent without stamps marked 'no stamps available'. Stamps are issued for Tristan da Cunha since 1952"(with thanks to and admiration for Gerben van Gelder, who sadly passed away in 2016).

"Tristan da Cunha … colloquially Tristan, is both a remote group of volcanic islands in the south Atlantic Ocean and the main island of that group. It is the most remote inhabited archipelago in the world, lying approximately 1,511 miles (2,432 km) off the coast of Cape Town in South Africa, 1,343 miles (2,161 km) from Saint Helena and 2,166 miles (3,486 km) off the coast from the Falkland Islands. The territory consists of the main island, Tristan da Cunha, which has a diameter of roughly 11 kilometres (6.8 mi) and an area of 98 square kilometres (38 sq mi), the smaller, uninhabited Nightingale Islands, and the wildlife reserves of Inaccessible Island and Gough Island. As of October 2018, the main island has 250 permanent inhabitants who all carry British Overseas Territories citizenship. The other islands are uninhabited, except for the personnel of a weather station on Gough Island. Tristan da Cunha is part of the British Overseas Territory of Saint Helena, Ascension and Tristan da Cunha. This includes Saint Helena and also near-equatorial Ascension Island, which lies some 1,741 miles (2,802 km) to the north of Tristan. There is no airstrip of any kind on the main island, meaning that the only way of travelling in and out of Tristan is by boat, a six-day trip from South Africa".

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Tristan_da_Cunha

The islands were first recorded as sighted in 1506 by Portuguese explorer Tristão da Cunha, though rough seas prevented a landing. He named the main island after himself, Ilha de Tristão da Cunha. It was later anglicised from its earliest mention on British Admiralty charts to Tristan da Cunha Island. Some sources state that the Portuguese made the first landing in 1520, when the Lás Rafael captained by Ruy Vaz Pereira called at Tristan for water. The first undisputed landing was made on 7 February 1643 by the crew of the Dutch East India Company ship Heemstede, captained by Claes Gerritsz Bierenbroodspot. The Dutch stopped at the island four more times in the next 25 years, and in 1656 created the first rough charts of the archipelago.

The remainder of this long letter includes a fascinating outline of visits to the tiny islands of St. Paul and Amsterdam in the south Indian Ocean, and the voyage past the coasts of Sumatra, Cambodia, Formosa and China, the writer took his ship north of Chusan into the Yellow Sea, to which he says that no European had ever been before".*

Geen briewe het bewaar gebly van die tydperk onmiddellik na die volksplanting van Tristan da Cunha in 1810 deur Jonathan Lambert nie. Briewe van 1816 en 1817 is wel te sien in die amptelike rekords van die Kaapkolonie, maar die eerste brief van William Glass wat nog bestaan, van 31 Desember 1822, maak melding van twee vorige briewe van hom, wat egter nooit opgespoor kon word nie.

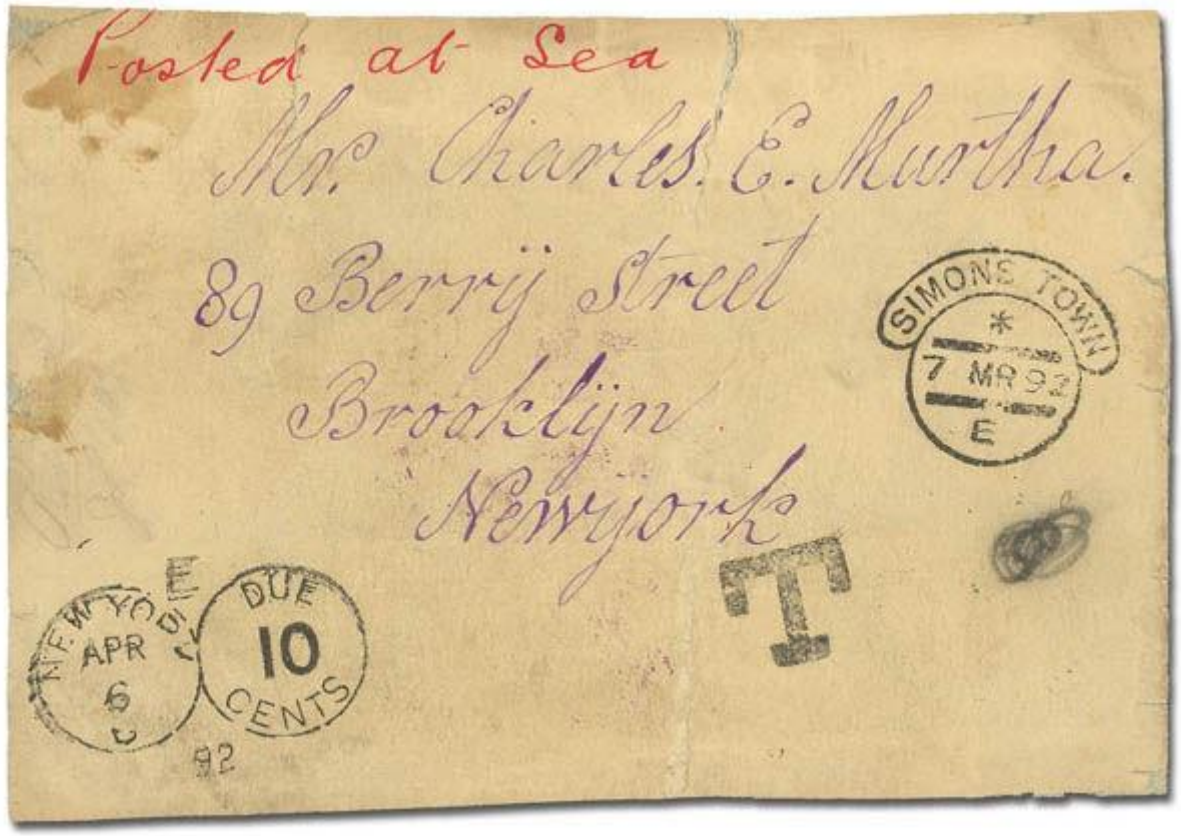

Die brief van 26 Junie 1840 (twee bladsye vroeër), wat ene Alfred Salwey uit Australië aan 'n kolonel Salwey in Brittanje geskryf het, beskryf sy besoek aan Tristan (fotostaat op vorige bladsy). Salwey vertel soos volg oor sy besoek:

"During our voyage we did not touch anywhere but sighted the following places - the Madeira Isles, the Canaries, Trinidad Island and Tristan D'Acunha where we heaved to for two hours and a boat came to us. We endeavoured to purchased some sheep, our stock being rather low, but the 'Mangles' having been there the day before us we could not effect our purpose as Mr. Glass (formerly a private in the Army) & the boat's crew were drunk. There are four or five families settled on this island & the above mentioned Mr. Glass, a drunken beggar who cannot write his name is considered 'Governor'. In parting, we said Good Bye, Your Excellency, and one of his subjects first descended into the boat to show a proper respect to his superior cried out to us, 'Pitch that old poodle (meaning Glass) down here! The approach to Tristan D'Acunha was most splendid, it being an immense cone formed by volcanic eruptions. It was so grand that it was almost worth the passage to see it."

Splendid, insightful content offered in this highly literate letter, from a John Rose to his wife, offering keen insights to the lives of the whalers. He writes "I shall stop hereabouts until Dec, when if I do not get 1,000 or 2,000 bls, I shall go to the Crosetts or to desolation as thats the place of resort for ships which whale hereabouts"; minor water stains…A magnificent, rare and exceptionally important item of Tristan postal history, long considered to be the earliest known surviving letter from Tristan, now taking its place as the second earliest example. (See introductory paragraph in Gibbons referencing the previous lot, the 1836 cover, as well as this one). A cornerstone exhibition piece".

COMPASSIONATE RATE

There seems to have been an unofficial policy of surcharging at only the equivalent British rate, for mail posted at sea where no stamps were available. This is shown on the example below.

There was no regular mail service to Tristan da Cunha, ships visited irregularly and infrequently, and someone writing a letter in Tristan would have no certainty that it would ever be delivered: or when it might be collected!

In 1924, the Post Office formally decided that mail from Tristan da Cunha, where it was impossible to prepay postage (there was no post office!) should be treated in this way. "Normal" mail would be charged Postage Due at only single inland rate, ie. 1½d per ounce. This 1½d charge was specified in a Foreign Mails circular of 18 May 1928. This concession was further extended to mail from Pitcairn Islands, and for mail posted at sea but bearing a "No stamps available" endorsement.

Sept 1922. Letter from a Paquebot, endorsed on the front "Sorry no stamp available" and for good measure, on the reverse, "Impossible to get any stamps. Eric". If stamped, this should have been prepaid at British inland rate, ie.1½d: in fact, it was charged Postage Due at single inland rate, also 1½d.

Shackleton-Rowett Antarctic Expedition Visit

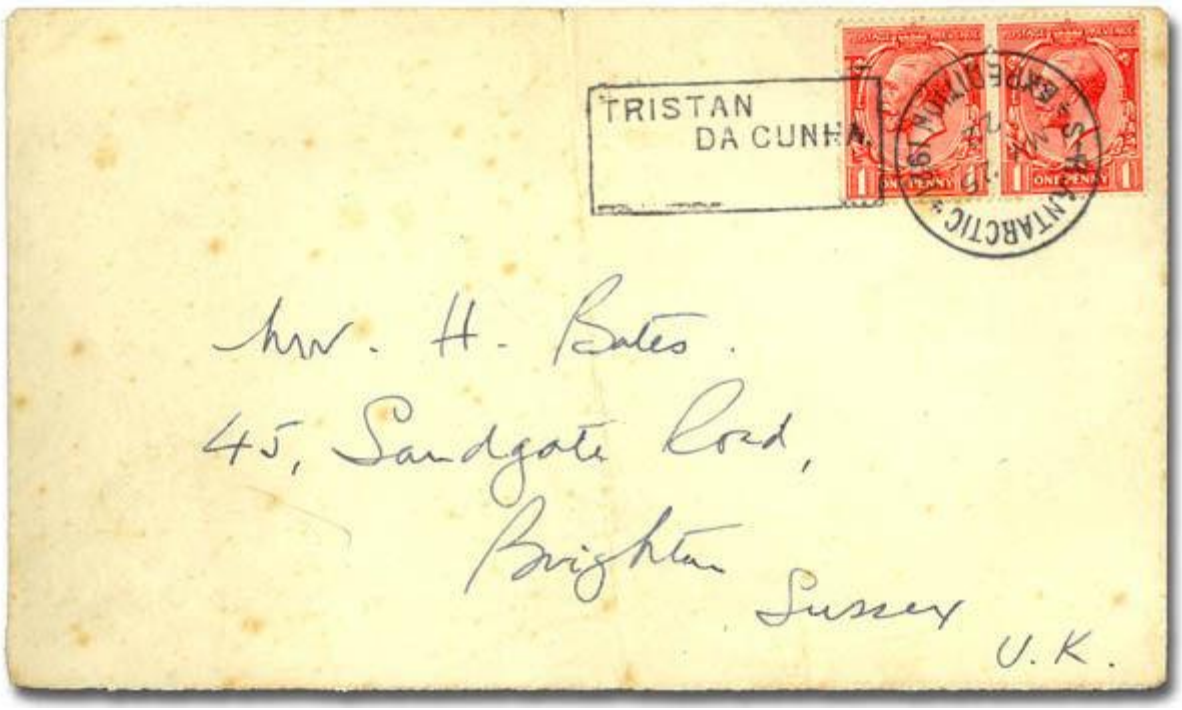

The Expedition was curtailed due to the death of its leader, Sir Ernest Shackleton. Their ship, the schooner "Quest," called at Tristan da Cunha in May 1922 on its homeward voyage, and stayed six days. All but one of the covers receiving Tristan cachets during the "Quest's" call have Type II cachets; the exception (with Type III) is shown later herein.

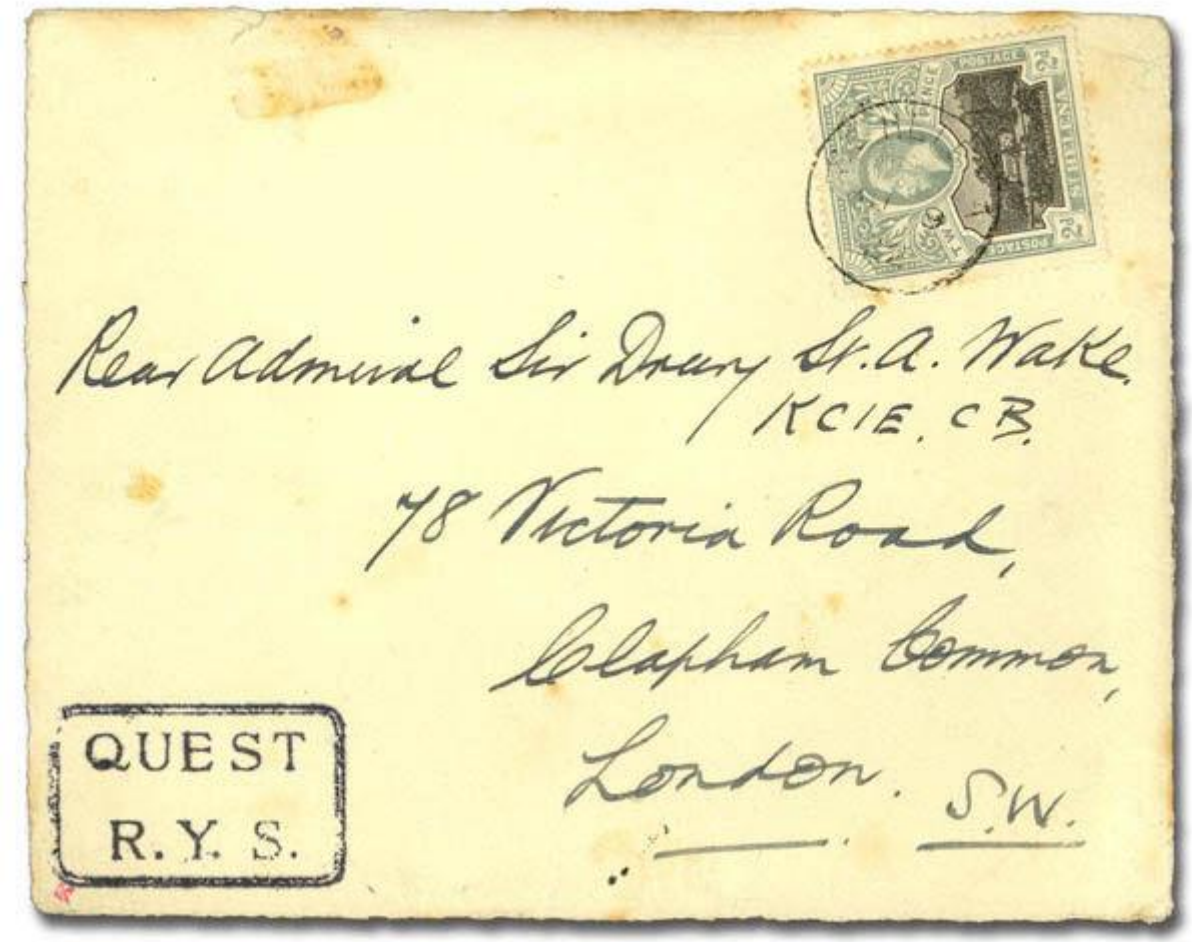

The Shackleton-Rowett Expedition had stamps of Great Britain available, together with a boxed cachet denoting Tristan da Cunha. They were not made available to the islanders, but were used on crew correspondence and to produce philatelic souvenirs.

Canceled by boxed "Tristan da Cunha" cachet and Expedition datestamp for 30 May 1922, well after the "Quest" had left Tristan.

During 1928 only three ships called at Tristan: "RMS Empress of France" (Feb. 26); "SS Author" (Mar. 15) and "SS Baron Tweedmouth" (Oct. 28). It is probable that the postage due handstamp, as well as the 50¢ endorsement were applied in Formosa on arrival*".

1929: The Reverend Pooley overprints

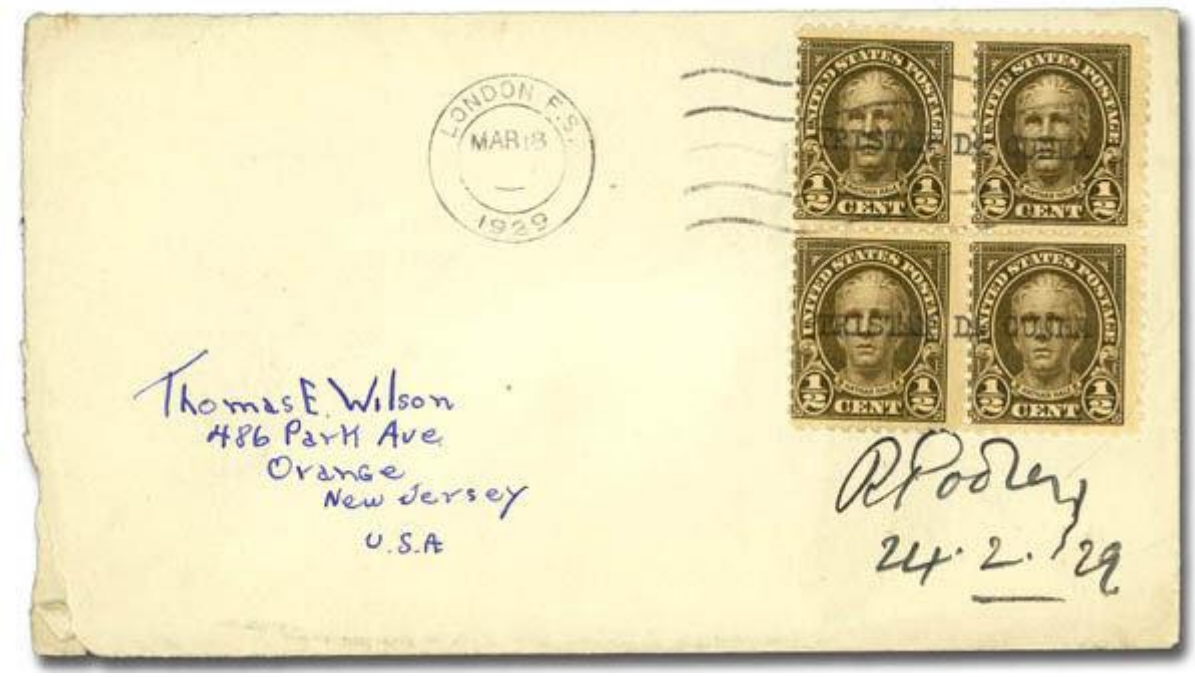

https://www.sandafayre.com/News/Tristan-Da-Cunha-Exciting-New-Discovery-and-a-mystery-solved/?i=382: "In the long fight for Tristan Da Cunha to have her own stamps, the so-called 'Pooley' covers, sent by the island's clergyman Rev. Pooley, stand as famous Tristan rarities. It has long been accepted that on the day of his departure from the island on 24th Feb 1929, on board the liner 'Duchess Of Atholl' the good Reverend, unaware that the ship carried a letter from the authorities in London warning of dire legal consequences should the island produce its own stamps, or apply an overprint to British stamps, set about overprinting a few British stamps with his typewriter and used them to frank covers. Reportedly, six covers bearing these overprinted stamps were sent to friends in the Manchester area, but George Crabb in his exhaustive book, stated that by 1980 he had only seen two covers. Each bears the 'R Pooley' signature and is dated in the same hand, '24.2.29'. The covers passed through the post without incident and were all cancelled by a London circular date stamp and wavy line 'Paquebot' postmark of 18th March 1929. In the early 1980s we offered a third 'Pooley' cover from a collection in Manchester. At the time we thought it was probably the last surviving example, and it sold for approximately £8000. I was a young trainee at the time, but I recall that the late owner (who had some distant personal connection to Rev. Pooley) believed that at least two of the six covers had been sent to America, not to England. Until now I assumed that the other three covers had been lost forever, but it appears that the Rev. Pooley did not in fact send all of them to England. Recently unearthed in the USA is a stampless envelope addressed to New Jersey: it is clearly a 'Pooley' cover with the typed 'TRISTAN DA CUNHA' overprint, with his signature and his handwritten '24.2.29' date alongside. It passed through London collecting the same 18th March 1929 cancellation. Inside we found a note, which reads 'Tristan / 24.2.29 / R. Pooley'. It seems that the Rev. Pooley probably did send the reported six covers, yet some were not addressed to friends back home in Manchester, but instead (as had been hinted to us 30 years ago) to a friend in America. He possibly did not trust the U.S. postal service to accept the overprinted British stamps, or perhaps he was making a case for Tristan to have its own stampless postal stationery? We may never know, but he typed and sent this cover without British stamps. The story of the wrangling between Tristan and the British Post Office is a fascinating one. Consider that Tristan Da Cunha was a barter society with very little money in circulation, and you can immediately see the problems encountered on both sides of the argument!".

https://www.academia.edu/37044662/The_1935_Tristan_da_Cunha_overprints_New_discoveries_and_a_suspected_forgery?fs=rwc: "The 1935 Tristan da Cunha overprints: New discoveries and a suspected forgery by Neil Donen and Gary Wayne Loew. In: FLAGSTAFF - ISSUE 56: APRIL 2018 2 4".

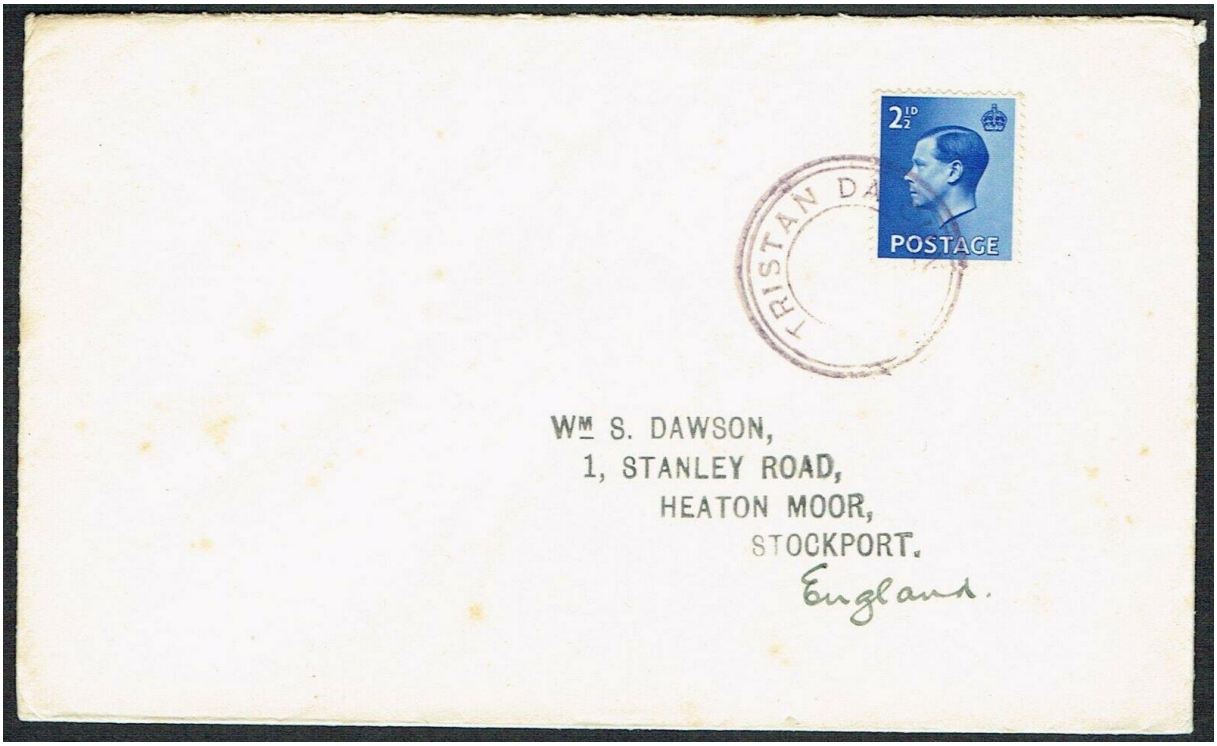

For the past 30 years the Tristan da Cunha (Tristan) overprints on the 1935 Great Britain Silver Jubilee stamps have both fascinated and attracted collectors (Figures 1 and 2). They have been labelled bogus by some as they were not legal tender, yet they have commanded increasingly higher prices when coming to auction. The reason for this interest is not clear, but one suspects it has something to do with the mystique of Tristan. In this last of three articles about Tristan da Cunha and the 1935 Silver Jubilee issue, we provide some background history to their production and sales.
…Harold Wilde served as chaplain, administrator and postmaster on Tristan between 1934 and 1940. Aware of the increasing interest by philatelists in receiving covers from Tristan, Wilde tried, unsuccessfully, to interest both the Society for the for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts (SPG), who employed him to this position on Tristan, and the British Post Office in producing stamps for the island. In 1937 Wilde returned to England. Prior to his departure back to Tristan in November, he arranged to have overprints reading 'Tristan / da Cunha' made which were applied to the Great Britain 1935 Silver Jubilee stamps. In August 1940 Wilde left Tristan …[to] Lincolnshire, England. It was during this period that …he gave the overprinted stamps to selected friends as gifts. We are not aware of any of these overprints being used by Wild whilst he was on Tristan". For more information please see the Flagstaff article and also: https://www.shatps.org/SAC152.pdf (written in 2016): "Revd. Wild's Tristan Silver Jubilee 1935/37 overprints. By Ray Lloyd - a Special Interest Group TdC1/2 Article". The stamps were numbered up to 36 for both the 1/2d and the 1d value. According to Ray Lloyd the following numbers are known to exist [in 2016]: ½ d: Nos. 5, 6, 8, 9, 16, 17, 18, 19, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 31, 32, 34, 35 and 36; 1d: Nos. 4, 6, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 23, 24, 25, 27, 28, 36.

TRISTAN DA CUNHA

March 1937

H.M.S. Carlisle first visited Tristan in 1932.

On this second visit in 1937, 'Carlisle' carried 74lbs of letters and 1,628 lbs of parcels and printed papers. After the visit 'Carlisle' called at St Helena and Freetown before returning to Devonport to prepare for the Coronation Fleet Review at Spithead.

The ship's Mail Officer, Lt C.H.C. Adams produced 500 covers as souvenirs of the visit.

"Suomen Joutsen" made eight long international voyages before the Second World War and later served in various support and supply roles during the war. The seventh voyage of "Suomen Joutsen" began on 20 October 1937 and took the ship first across the Atlantic to South America. After calling Montevideo, she continued east to Cape Town, stopping at Tristan da Cunha along the way. The seventh voyage has often been called the "unluckiest one" as three crew members were lost before the ship arrived back in Finland on 12 May 1938. A remarkable postal history piece used on the next stage of the ship's voyage after leaving Tristan".*

An anonymous author added the following interesting information to the 'stampboard' website (http://www.stampboards.com/viewtopic.php?t=4971):

“Prior to World War II, any mail to and from Tristan da Cunha was carried by whaling or other ships. Individual agreements had to be made with captains, resulting in a delivery time of 12 or 15 months or longer before the mail reached the addressee. An attempt to attract attention to the island by the issue of own postage stamps was made by a man named Allan B. Crawford in 1946. He was a British meteorologist who spent a long time on the island since 1938. In 1943 he published the first island publication "The Tristan Times". The price of the paper was fixed in island currency: The value was "3 cigarettes or 4 large potatoes".

Crawford left the island in October 1943 but returned on board the "S.A.S. Transvaal" on May 8, 1946, with a petition for postage stamps. The petition is dated May 10, 1946. On this day, the "S.A.S. Transvaal" left Tristan and returned to South Africa. It carried the petition which was signed by the 12 members of the Island Council and addressed to the South African Post Master General who forwarded it to the Colonial Secretary in London.

The petition sets out in six pages and 33 main clauses the reasons behind the request for distinctive postage stamps for use on the island. A page containing the designs of nine postage stamps was attached as an appendix, and a strip of five printed stamps was affixed on the last page. These stamps were designed by Allan B. Crawford who reported them in his book "Penguins, Potatoes & Postage Stamps" (1999):

"Before I left the mainland [i.e. South Africa, in spring 1946], I realized that for many years there was considerable demand from stamp collectors all over the world for postage stamps and letters from the world's loneliest island. Why should I not develop this potential?... I therefore designed a set of postage stamps. I had little work in a peacetime weather headquarters and I found the department draughtsman, Sergeant Jimmy Brown, also had time on his hands. So the two of us worked together. I thought up the ideas and produced the rough designs, and he completed the 'artwork'... A problem was there was still no money on the island so we could not 'sell' our stamps!

However, just as the islanders and sailors during World War II had bought their "Tristan Times" for potatoes and cigarettes, each stamp bore a local value expressed in potatoes. The values were based on four potatoes being equivalent to one penny.... We planned originally nine stamps...(and) to portray the islander's loyalty to the Royal family, we designed a tenth stamp showing HM The King sitting at the microphone broadcasting his annual Christmas message to the people of the Commonwealth..."

Nine of the ten designs were included in the attachment of the petition without a mention of colors. Many designs were taken from photographs:

- ½D (2 potatoes = newspaper rate), illustrating a map of the South Atlantic Ocean with an arrow pointing at a tiny dot in the ocean representing Tristan da Cunha.

- 1D (4 potatoes = postcard rate). A rockhopper penguin stands in front of a silhouette of Tristan island. This is the stamp of which a strip of five was affixed to the petition. Hortors Limited, Printers of Johannesburg, South Africa, confirmed the order to print 10,000 copies of the red rockhopper penguin stamps under job No. 406626, dated April 8, 1946. The stamps were printed in sheets of 35 (7x5) and were perforated. The order was subsequently increased to 20,000 copies. A.B. Crawford wrote: "Provisionally, I had printed in Johannesburg 20,000 penny red stamps to assist the project as a 'booster', and this they certainly did. The object was to apply them to the islander's mail as supporting propaganda towards obtaining their own stamps."

- 1½D (6 potatoes = local letter rate). A map of Tristan da Cunha with inscriptions of a few important places.

- 1½D (6 potatoes = local letter rate), featuring a cart with two bullocks in front of the potato patches. This design was not included in the petition

- 2D (8 potatoes = empire letter rate). The British King George sitting at the microphone.

- 3D (12 potatoes = foreign letter rate), depicting one of the typical canvas longboats sailing in Tristan waters.

- 4D (16 potatoes = registered rate). A spinning wheel in front of the Edinburgh settlement.

- 6D (24 potatoes = parcel rate per pound). Two little girls on the shore watching a ship in the distance.

- 1/- ... One Shilling - (48 potatoes) The meteorological station at Tristan.

- 2/6P (120 potatoes) The island's church St. Mary's.

All designs have the value in a circle and the British flag in the upper corners.

Allan B. Crawford presented his stamp essays to the South African Post Master General before he talked to the Tristan Island Council about the matter. He acted on his own and had the 1D stamps printed without knowledge of the islanders.

A short announcement in the British newspaper "Evening Standard" of May 21, 1946, reported the petition. It was headed "The Flag and Potato - A stamp, not an Inn" and read: "Johannesburg. - Tristan da Cunha which has never had coins or postage stamps is planning a stamp which will show the Union Jack and potatoes side by side. Potatoes are the island's currency. A.P." The interest of the public was boosted by articles like this but nevertheless the petition was turned down for some reasons in September 1946. The press publicity, however, "impelled philatelists to write to Tristan enclosing potatoes in payment for the 'stamps'. By the time the parcels of potatoes reached the island most of them were mouldy, and there was a real risk of blight affecting the Tristan crops."

Today, the 1D potato stamp is not easy to locate. The reason for this rarity is a mystery. Only a handful covers with the potato stamp affixed were ever illustrated in the philatelic press. The earliest known cover is from 1947, and was carried by the "HMS Natal" which arrived at Tristan at Easter 1947 and left the island on April 5. Some covers are known from 1948 and - after a long pause - some from 1962. The absence of letters of the 1950s bearing the potato stamp might be explained by the loss of interest to use this item after Tristan da Cunha issued its first regular set of stamps in 1952.

Only a fraction of the potato stamps could have been used by the islanders as stickers on their mail. An unknown number was bartered whenever one of the long awaited ships approached the island. Did Crawford bring all the 20,000 copies to Tristan when he arrived in May 1946?

One explanation of the potato stamp's rarity might be the eruption of the island's volcano on October 10, 1961, which led to the temporary evacuation of the entire population of Tristan. Before leaving the island, the administrator (being also the postmaster) "realised that he had to ensure that the post office 'set up' was destroyed, he therefore returned to the settlement with assistance and collected the locked cabinet containing the government records, stock of stamps, datestamps etc. from the post office.

These were carried to the shore loaded on to the small boat from the Tristania and rowed off shore where the cabinet was tipped overboard but refused to sink; with the aid of some shots from his revolver, however, the cabinet was persuaded to carry its load to the bottom, fathoms down. This was the dramatic end to the Tristan Post office..." Unfortunately, it is unknown if potato stamps were among the destroyed stamps.

The evacuated Tristan people lived in Great Britain until 1963. Between September 1962 and November 1963 they resettled the island. In 1962, Allan Crawford allowed his essays to be reprinted in miniature sheets and sold to collectors provided the islanders would benefit from the sales. The firm Cluett Burns Ltd of Southampton printed two imperforated, gummed sheetlets which were placed on the philatelic market by "Rembrandt Philatelics" of Southampton/Hants.

One contained nine potato essays with the design and values transposed in some cases (for instance, it includes a 9D value, a formerly unknown denomination, and the 1½D value featuring a cart with bullocks in place of the stamp illustrating the British King).

The colors of the reprints are: ½D orange-beige, 1D red, 1½D light green, 2D lilac, 3D brown, 4D ultramarine, 6D turquoise, 9D bright olive, 1P dark green. The other sheetlet has four of the red 1D=4 potatoes penguin stamps with an explaining paragraph in blue and the handwritten signature of A.B. Crawford in blue ink on the lower margin. Although frequently offered and described as essays, these miniature sheets are just reproductions. They are interesting because they show the original essay designs which otherwise would be unknown to many collectors.

The postal authority of Tristan da Cunha remembered the beginning of the island's history as a stamp issuing country when it illustrated the 1D potato stamp on a sheetlet which was part of a set issued to commemorate the 100th anniversary of Sir Rowland Hill's death in 1979. The great importance of the potato stamp essays in the postal history of Tristan da Cunha was recognized in the sale of the famous Jack Cole collection at Stanley Gibbons in October 1998: The original of the six page typed "Petition for postage stamps" of 1946, estimated at £500-600, sold for £10,350”.

http://www.stampboards.com/viewtopic.php?t=41980: “Tristan da Cunha 1946 Potato set, essays. Only the One Penny was ever printed in bulk at the time and available for use. Here is a set of nine of the essays for the first Tristan da Cunha stamps of 1946. This is a set printed on gloss paper and perf 12. Please note these are NOT catalogue-listed and should be regarded as "forerunners" or "essays" as they were never approved for issue, despite showing His Majesty on the 2d grey, and the Union Jack on all other values”.

TO ALL STAMP DEALERS

Dear Sirs,

In 1946 the Islanders of Tristan Da Cunha sent a petition to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, calling for an issue of Postage Stamps for use on the Island.

Mr. A. B. Crawford of South Africa, was responsible for organising the petition, and in particular, for the designing of a SET of stamps which were submitted with the petition, as suggested designs for the Islanders' FIRST STAMPS. The petition was rejected, one of the reasons being that the amount of mail being sent, or likely to be sent in the future, would be insufficient to warrant the preparation of a separate stamp issue!!!

Nevertheless, Mr. Crawford ordered a printing of the 1d. or "4 potato" value (as illustrated above) which item was used as a seal or sticker on the Islanders' mail. It has become, however, a valuable acquisition to stamp dealers and collectors alike, and has generally been accepted as the "Potato Essay" or perhaps more commonly, "The Potato Stamp". With the incredible popularity of Tristan Da Cunha postage stamps since the volcano erupted on the island, this "potato stamp" has been much sought after and complete sheets of 35 now realise around £45 or $130. It is in fact, a well known item.

The remainder of the set of designs is not so well known. Therefore in close conjunction with Mr. Crawford, we are releasing for general world-wide sale - souvenir miniature sheets containing NINE values to the 1/- or 48 potatoes value of the other designs. One or two minor variations have had to be made, but basically these are the suggested designs that accompanied the 1946 petition.

These nine values have been produced in a souvenir miniature sheet form, 3 × 3 IMPERFORATED, so as to cause no confusion with the original 1d "Potato stamp" which was perforated and had an additional thin border. The sheet is of good quality gummed paper, and depicts the nine designs in superb colour: the 1d being in its original red.

In addition, Mr. Crawford has personally signed his name on neat souvenir sheets bearing four facsimile of the original "Potato Stamp," with a brief write up of its history. PLEASE NOTE that EACH ONE is personally autographed - the signatures are NOT facsimile copies. Souvenir sheets without the signature are also available on finest quality high gloss art paper. (It is not possible to write in ink on high gloss paper).

SPECIAL NOTE:-

In conjunction with the Honorary Welfare Office of Tristan Da Cunha, and with notification having been given to the present Administrator, A PROPORTION OF THE MONIES REALISED FROM THE SALE OF ALL MINIATURE SHEETS AND SOUVENIR SHEETS WITH AUTOGRAPH WILL BE PASSED AUTOMATICALLY TO THE TRISTAN DA CUNHA WELFARE FUND. These monies will no doubt be utilised towards re- establishing certain amenities on the Island.

ALMOST EVERY DEALER AND STAMP COLLECTOR IN THE WORLD HAS BENEFITED BY THE UNFORTUNATE VOLCANIC ERUPTION WHICH RESULTED IN THE ISLANDERS LEAVING THEIR HOME. THE ISLANDERS DID NOT BENEFIT! AN OPPORTUNITY IS NOW PRESENTED TO US WHEREBY THEY CAN BENEFIT!!

A SAMPLE OF EACH ITEM OFFERED IS ENCLOSED WITH AN ORDER FORM

Retail Prices are:-	Souvenir Sheet with Autograph	5/-	(70c)
	Miniature Sheets of nine	6/-	(85c)
	or ONE of each item only	10/-	($1.42)

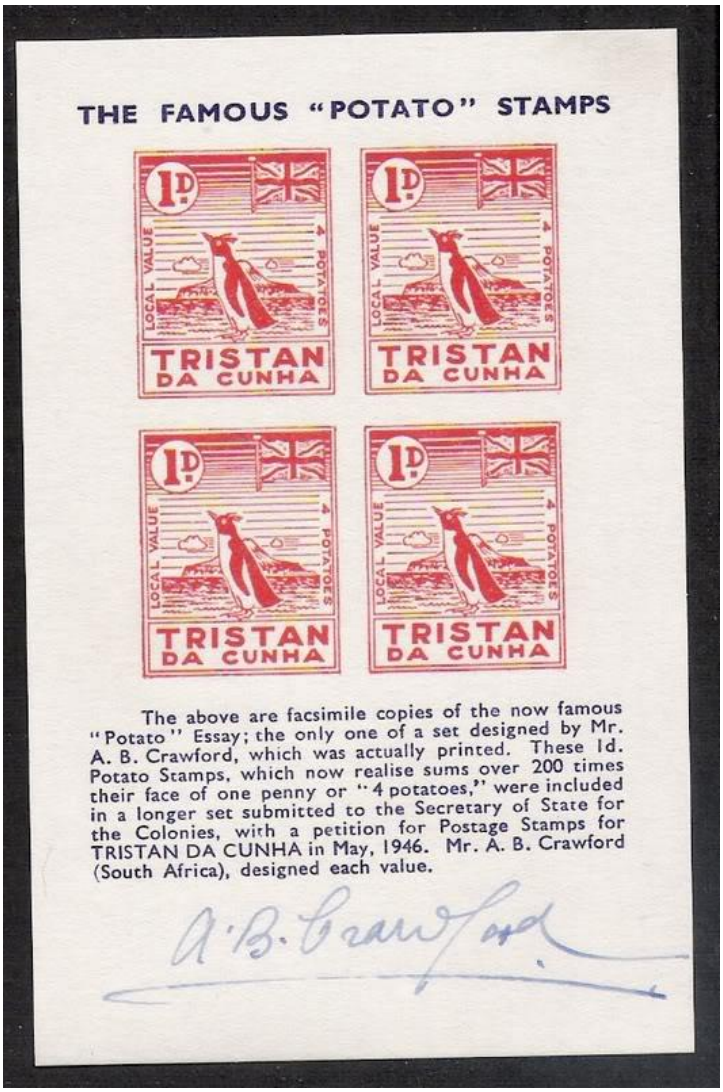

We shall be giving extensive advertising coverage in as many trade AND Retail publications as possible. Retail advertisements will bear the phrase - "Obtain your supplies from your favourite dealer". No name will appear at the bottom of the advertisements unless specifically called for.

Any of the above information can be verified, in particular the donation of a regular amount from the sale of each item to the Tristan Welfare Fund, by contacting either our Accountants or Solicitors as hereby http://www.stampboards.com/viewtopic.php?t=4971

http://www.stampboards.com/viewtopic.php?t=4971 : "1962 in Britain, the Tristanians had been evacuated after the eruption of the Volcano between August - October 1961. Some of the Islanders went to Calshott Harbour near Southampton, UK and some others went to Cape Town, Republik van Suid Afrika. The latter got a hard time, as some were descended from Corporal William Glass who had a Cape Coloured wife and these were subject to apartheid racism (Even though the Negro blood was at least 4 generations back, being that Glass married Maria Bartels in 1815). The others were all homesick and did not like living in Britain or South Africa, finding it "too worldly" amongst other things. Allan Crawford, long a friend of the Tristanians set up a fund to get them back to Tristan da Cunha. Part of this fundraising included producing facsimiles of the Potato issue, including the sheet of 9 values and a block of 4 of the 1 penny with Crawford signature. It must have worked as resettlement took place in late 1963 and the Tristanians came home".

Tristan da Cunha Resettlement Survey -

"A Royal Society expedition in early 1962 studied the new volcanic cone and its impact. After a positive feedback, the islanders lobbied to return and a Resettlement Survey Party including 12 islanders left on 9th August and arrived back on Tristan on 8th September to begin the formidable task of making the Settlement habitable and paving the way for a possible return after a year of neglect.

An advance party of 51 left Tilbury on 17th March 1963 on RMS Amazon, transferring in Rio de Janeiro to the MV Boissevain and arriving on Tristan on 9th April. The main re-settlement group of 198 islanders left Southampton aboard the Danish ferry Bornholm on 24th October and on 10th November 1963, the miracle was complete, most of the world's most isolated community had returned to their volcano-ravaged Settlement - rejecting the booming consumer society of England's swinging sixties."

Roland Svensson painting

https://www.tristandc.com/churches.php: “St Mary's Anglican Church. St Mary's Church Anglican was built under the direction of Reverend Martin Rogers and opened in July 1923. Previously services had been held in island homes, notably in William Glass's ordinal house and in Captain Andrew Hagan's home which was for many years the largest house in the Settlement. This 1978 stamp has used a recent painting by the Swedish artist Roland Svensson who was the subject of a tribute article in the March 2005 Tristan da Cunha Newsletter”.

ROYAL FLEET AUXILIARY VESSELS
RFA ORANGELEAF was built as a commercial ship named SOUTHERN SATELLITE in 1955. The ship entered RFA service in 1959 when she was transferred to the Admiralty on long term charter and fitted out for service as a support tanker. Although equipped with a limited capacity to refuel Royal Navy ships underway, ORANGELEAF is mainly employed as a freighter carrying oil products from the producing countries to the storage tanks ashore in Naval fuel depots. The ship measures 12,000 tons and is 556 feet overall.
RFA TIDEREACH was launched on 2 June 1954 and entered RFA service in 1955 as a Fleet Tanker. The ship's tanks and pumping system were arranged so that various ship and aircraft fuels, lubricating oil and water could be carried and supplied simultaneously to Royal Navy ships whilst underway without risk of one commodity contaminating another. In addition stores could be transferred at sea by jackstay or winched up by visiting helicopters. The ship measured 13,000 tons and was 583 feet overall.
RFA TARBATNESS was launched on 27 February 1967 and entered RFA service as a Stores Support Ship the following year. The ship is equipped to transfer bulk supplies of Naval and Victualling stores rapidly to Royal Navy ships whilst underway by jackstay from 6 separate points and by helicopter from her flight deck. Several jackstays and the helicopter can be operated simultaneously if necessary. The stores are moved from the ship's holds to the transfer points on deck by fork lift trucks and lifts. The ship measures 12,000 tons and is 523 feet overall.
RFA RELIANT was built in 1954 as a commercial ship named SOMERSBY. In 1958 the ship was bought by the Admiralty, renamed RELIANT and converted for RFA service as an Air Stores Support Ship. Carrying a range of ships' stores and some 40,000 different patterns of aircraft spares, the ship was also equipped for the rapid underway replenishment at sea of aircraft-carriers. No flight deck was provided but stores were able to be winched up by helicopter from a platform on the poop. RELIANT measured 8,500 tons and was 469 ft overall. With the phasing out of the aircraft-carrier from the Royal Navy, RELIANT was disposed of in 1977.

Longest Reef
The Great Barrier Reef off Queensland, north-eastern Australia is 2027km (1260 miles) in length. It is not actually a single reef but consists of thousands of separate reefs.
Biggest Island
Discounting Australia, which is usually regarded as a continental land mass, the largest island in the world is Greenland, with an area of about 2,175,600 sq.km (840,000 square miles).
Biggest Desert
The Sahara in North Africa is the largest hot desert in the world. At its greatest length it is 5150km (3200 miles) from east to west. From north to south it is between 1280 and 2250km (800 and 1400 miles).
Longest Rivers
The two longest rivers in the world are the Nile, flowing into the Mediterranean, and the Amazon, flowing into the South Atlantic. The Amazon has several mouths which widen towards the sea. If the Pará estuary is counted, its length is approximately 6750km (4195 miles). The Nile is 6695km (4160 miles) long.
Highest Mountain
Mt. Everest, in the Himalayas, has been measured to have a height of 8,848 m. (29,028.8 ft.) and its peak is the highest point in the world.
Remotest Island - inhabited
The remotest inhabited island in the world is Tristan da Cunha. The nearest inhabited land is the island of St Helena, 2435km (1315 nautical miles) to the north-east.

"Stoltenhoff Island is a small uninhabited island in the South Atlantic Ocean, part of the Nightingale Islands. It is the smallest of the Nightingale Islands, and is to the north west of Nightingale Island itself. They are governed as part of Tristan da Cunha, an archipelago and part of the British overseas territory of Saint Helena, Ascension and Tristan da Cunha. The island is part of the Nightingale Islands group Important Bird Area (IBA), identified as such by BirdLife International as a breeding site for seabirds and endemic landbirds. The island is named after the two brothers Gustav and Friedrich Stoltenhoff who tried to settle on nearby Inaccessible Island. Their attempt was abandoned after two difficult years". https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Stoltenhoff_Island

2009 Mail to Tristan da Cunha

https://www.tristandc.com/po/stamps2009.php: “Nine scheduled ships a year bring mail from Cape Town to the world's most remote community. The last 2009 ship leaves Cape Town on 26th November. Miss this last post before Christmas and the next post is not due until 3rd March 2010, a gap of three months. So it is hardly surprising that the arrival of post is an important event on the island”.

2016: Peter Green, and the wreck of the Emily https://tristandc.com/po/index.php?yr=2016: “Pieter Willem Groen was born in Katwijk aan Zee, Holland on 14th April 1808 to parents Willem Groen and Jaapje Schaap.

He arrived at Tristan aboard the American schooner Emily of Stonnington sailing from New York. She called at Tristan in October 1836 having left 6 of her men on Gough Island with a boat and provisions for six months to capture seals. She anchored near the south east shore but was unfortunately too close and dragged her anchors in a sudden violent storm and was rapidly beaten to pieces on the rocks. Fortunately no lives were lost and the crew made their way round the coast to the settlement, where they were kindly received by William Glass and the community.

The Emily's Captain Ash made his way to St Helena and persuaded the US Consul to charter a British rescue ship, the Louisa, but when it eventually arrived at Gough and Tristan, most of the crew had already been picked up by the American ship Bingham. However three men decided to settle on the island: They were William Daley, an American, Peter Miller (Møller), a Dane and Peter William Green (Pieter Willem Groen), a Dutch native of Katwijk aan Zee, near Amsterdam.

In December he married Mary Jacobs (one of the daughters Sarah Jacobs bought with her from St Helena Island in 1827) although the marriage was not made official until 19th January 1852. "Legal" marriages performed by a clergyman weren't possible prior to the arrival of the island's first resident clergyman, Reverend William F. Taylor and so, were performed by the headman, William Glass. Together Peter and Mary had 4 sons and 4 daughters.

When William Glass died on 24th November 1853 he was replaced as headman by Alexander Cotton, with the assistance of Peter Green, until 1857 when Peter Green became the Headman of the island.

During his lifetime the islanders saved the lives of hundreds of shipwrecked sailors. Peter Green was thanked by the British and American Governments and received a personal acknowledgment from the King of Italy. In 1867 he welcomed HRH Prince Alfred, Duke of Edinburgh to the island and it was Peter Green who asked if the settlement could be named after him.

In 1879 he was awarded, on behalf of the community, a gold hunting-cased pocket watch and chain by the President of the United States for assistance in rescuing the passengers and crew of the Mabel Clark the previous year. In 1880 the Shipwrecked Mariner's Society awarded him a medal for gallantry for the same rescue.

Then in 1885 the Tristan lifeboat disaster occurred, an event that would make Tristan an "island of widows". This was a tragedy for both the whole island community and for Peter Green personally (he lost 3 sons, 3 grandsons, 3 brothers-in-law and 1 son-in-law). It is believed that the preservation of the settlement at this crisis was due to the influence of Peter Green, as he was greatly opposed to any idea of migration.

A medallion was presented to him, by the King of Italy, in 1893 after the islanders rescued and looked after the crew of the ship Italia which was wrecked in 1892.

As a settler on Tristan he was proud to be a subject of the Queen of England and in 1896 HMS Magpie bought his prized procession, a signed portrait of Queen Victoria that she had sent him, to the island. This now hangs in St Mary's Church. However he never forgot that he was a Dutchman and his native village of Katwijk aan Zee occupied a warm corner of his heart.

On the 2nd April, 1902 Peter Green departed this life within twelve days of reaching the age of ninety-four. On the following day he was buried with solemn ceremony in the little graveyard near the sea. All the inhabitants attended the funeral. The burial service was read by his granddaughter, Mrs. Frances Repetto. No memorial stone shows the grave of the great old man whose life for nearly seventy years was so closely connected with Tristan da Cunha, in good and in evil days. It may be supposed that he himself did not wish otherwise, if we recall his own words spoken at the visit of the Duke of Edinburgh "I am in no respect superior to the others; on Tristan we are all equal." No one had the courage to enter in the registers the death of their father, grandfather, and headman. J.Brander, Tristan da Cunha 1502-1902”.

2018: Centenary of the RAF, 1918-2018

https://tristandc.com/po/stamps201806.php: "On 10 October 1961, the eruption of a volcano adjacent to the settlement on Tristan forced the entire population of (then) 290 persons (264 islanders & 26 expats) to evacuate the island, taking to sea in two fishing boats to the uninhabited Nightingale Island. After a lengthy sea journey to Cape Town aboard Dutch Liner Tjisadade the population eventually arrived on the RMS Stirling Castle at Southampton in Britain on 3 November 1961. Initially placed in Pendell Camp in Surrey, the islanders were soon moved to better accommodation in 1930's married quarter houses at the former RAF Calshot flying boat base in Hampshire. They arrived there on 23rd January 1962, and lived there until November 1963 when most had returned to Tristan, having endured 'flu epidemics over one of the worst winters of the 20th Century 1962-1963. The road of married quarters, now private dwellings, is still named 'Tristan Close' in memory of the islander's stay. Tristan's small harbour built after the islanders' return is named 'Calshot Harbour'. In celebration of the Royal Air Force's centenary in 2018, Tristan da Cunha has decided to remember the period the islanders spent at RAF Calshot by commissioning a set of stamps portraying a variety of aircraft based at RAF Calshot over the years. Calshot was originally established as a flying station in 1913 by the Royal Flying Corps to test new seaplanes for the Naval Wing and was the base for Royal Naval Air Service seaplanes throughout the Great War. Officially renamed Royal Air Force Calshot in 1922, the interwar period saw Calshot at the forefront of marine aircraft development in addition to regular flying boat squadrons based at the station"etc. (also more information).
