Acknowledgements

At the end of my PhD journey, I would like to thank many institutes that and people who have helped me during my PhD study and preparation of this thesis. Firstly, I would like to thank the China Scholarship Council (CSC) of the Ministry of Education for the financial support of my four-year living and the Technology Foundation STW, project ‘Green Defense against Pests (GAP)’ grant to Prof. Dr. Peter G. L. Klinkhamer that supported my research at Leiden University.

Special thanks to Dr. Kirsten A. Leiss for the first two year supervision, helping my experimental design and paper writing. Your scientific attitudes and skills inspired me to be an independent researcher of integrity, although I still have a long way to go.

Next, I thank all the former and current colleagues at Plant Ecology and Phytochemistry group for your critical suggestions on my research proposal and oral presentations, Dr. Klaas Vrieling, Dr. Tom de Jong, Prof. Dr. Martijn Bezemer, Sanae Mouden, Dr. Martina Stang, Dr. Mirka Macel, Dr. Saskia Klumpers, Dr. Johanna Bac-Molenaar, Suzanne Kos, Dr. Marie Duhamel, Martijn Jansen, and Martine Huberty.

In addition, I would like to thank all people who have scientifically helped my PhD project and thesis completion. Many thanks to Karin van der Veen-van Wijk, Henk Nell, María José Rodríguez, Emanuela Lonardi, Gerda Lamers, Sofia C. Naranjo, Ono Schaap, Dr. Aneta Oziemlak and Merel van Dijke for your technical assistance in plant/thrips rearing, bacteria cultivation, microscope picture taking, etc. Dr. Young Hae Choi, Dr. Hye Kyong Kim, Dr. Erica Wilson, Luis Salome Abarca, Lina Bayona Maldonado, Gerardo Padierna Jiménez and Blair Kristen Berger are thanked for your help in HPLC, LC-MS, GC-MS and NMR measurements and data analysis. I would like to thank my student, Shuo Wang, for your contribution to this project. I would also like to thank Marijn van Nes who provided the Dutch translation draft of the summary and discussion of the thesis. I want to thank all reviewers for their comments and suggestions on any of my manuscripts as well.

Furthermore, I would like to thank my office mate, Yangan, who generously give me tremendous fruits and snacks for four and half years. Then, I would like to thank Jing who provides enormous topics of conversation during coffee breaks. Next, I would like to thank my former roommates Shuai, Jichao, Feng and Gangqi for those wonderful memories of video and card games and parties. I would also like to thank Feng, Yingjie, Yao, Xiaoyu, Chao, Zheren, Lin, Qiang, Ye, Xuequan, Lily, Quanchi, Qi, Wanbin, Xu, Xiansha, Yurong, Donggang, Xue and other Chinese friends for your help and suggestions. I am also grateful to our lunch groups of third floor not only for the pleasant moments but also for helps from you.

Last but not least, I would like to thank my family members. My parents and my sister, thank you for your endless love and support during my studies. In the end, I would like to express my appreciation and thankfulness to my girlfriend Jun who gives me her deepest love, trust and support. It is enough for me to have you in my life.
