CURRICULUM VITAE

Paula Kemp was awarded a master's degree in private and business law at the University of Groningen in 2011. The same year, she started to work as a lawyer for an international oriented commercial practice, which sparked her interest in the intricacies of cross-border contracting. In 2015, Paula moved to Singapore to expand the international practice and she jumped at the opportunity to start a PhD in her field of interest. Her research project concerned the availability of enforced performance of obligations arising from commercial sales contracts in the Netherlands, Singapore and China and how the domestic solutions correlate to the international sales and contract law principles. In addition to her position as a doctoral researcher to the institute of Private Law of the University Leiden, Paula also obtained a position as Visiting Scholar at the Centre for Cross-Border Commercial Law in Asia at the Singapore Management University, School of Law. During this period, she presented papers at international conferences on topics related to her PhD research. After three years working in Singapore, Paula moved back to the Netherlands and continues to work as a lawyer with a focus on Dutch and Asian companies involved in cross-border trade.
