ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Generous funding from the Gieskes foundation paved the way for this seven-year study on child participation in the proceedings before the International Criminal Court which was carried out at the Grotius Centre for International Legal Studies, Leiden University.

Being part of the department of Public International Law provided me with the opportunity to discuss the many questions I was confronted with during my research but also enabled me, as a lecturer, to have plenty of fruitful exchanges in the Bachelor and Master programmes. I would therefore like to thank all my colleagues and students for providing me with numerous insights and such valuable feedback. I have always experienced the combination of research and teaching as extremely helpful in developing my own thoughts and views. The wonderful opportunity to spend time at with the Office of Public Council for Victims at the ICC constituted a significant period which enabled me to see the constraints children face when participating in proceedings. Furthermore, the possibility to participate in numerous national and international conferences alongside my teaching obligations enabled me to discuss the topic with many experts in the field far beyond Leiden and the Netherlands.

I am particularly thankful to three persons who accompanied me on my path during the past years. The inspiration and enthusiasm of Karel Wellens triggered and encouraged me to apply for the PhD position at Leiden University. Liesbeth Zegveld's faith in me and her mentoring as my 'Doktormutter', and Larissa van den Herik's support as my daily supervisor constitute the core pillars of this research project. The numerous meetings in Amsterdam and Leiden always provided me with what I needed and beyond, in order to successfully bring this project to a conclusion.

Words cannot describe how lucky I am to be part of my family and that of Johannes. Thank you for being my fellows in life and being with me on my journey throughout this research project. Most of all, I am thankful to Johannes for being there, taking me as I am and sharing joy and challenges every single day with me. Our children are our future. Since we are so blessed to live in a place where children can grow up without being threatened by any form of armed conflict or large-scale violence, I dedicate this book to all children who find themselves in less child-friendly environments. May this book contribute to the strengthening of their procedural status and encourage adults to implement child-friendly justice.
