Mercy Bobuafor was born on 15th September 1970 in Accra, Ghana. She attended Sogakope Secondary School obtaining her School Certificate/General Certificate of Education (SC/GCE) "Ordinary" level in 1987. She then entered sixth form in La Bone Secondary School, Accra, and obtained her GCE "Advanced" level certificate in 1989. After working as a teacher at the Dansoman Junior High School to fulfil her national service requirements, she entered the University of Ghana in 1990 and graduated in 1994 with a BA combined honours degree in French and Linguistics. She was a year-abroad French student at the University of Ouagadougou, Burkina Faso, in the 1992-93 academic year. After serving for three years as a Teaching Assistant/Tutor in the Linguistics Department of the University of Ghana, she was admitted to the MPhil Linguistics programme. She was awarded the degree in 2001. Her thesis was on verbal alternations in Ewe, one of her first languages. She was recruited into the Public Service of Ghana in 1998 and has been working with the Electoral Commission of Ghana where she is a Senior Electoral Officer (since 2003). From August 2006 until January 2012 she was on leave without pay from the Electoral Commission. This enabled her to take up a position as a PhD Researcher (August 2006-December 2010) at the Leiden University Centre for Linguistics working on the project "The documentation and description of Tafi, a Ghana-Togo Mountain language". The project was funded under the Endangered Languages Project of the Netherlands Organisation for Scientific Research (NWO).
