KEY TO THE COMPOSITE TEXT

EST/PST numbering:

0000	-	main entry numbers
.001 / a-z	-	sub-entry numbers
...	-	gap, entries missing
(+1?)	-	gap, indication of number of entries missing
(...)	-	end of text fragment but probably no gap
int(1)	-	SaV only : interpolation (with reference number) with explanation added (/gr/aphic, /ph/onetic or /sem/antic association)

Logograms:

[.ĜE ₂₆]	-	Sumerian reconstructed from MSL
(.A)	-	variant formed with phonetic complement
Akk:	-	Sumerian not preserved, Akkadian text given instead

Akkadian equivalents:

Akkadian	-	Akkadian equivalent found in Emar, adjusted to AHw form
Ak-ka-di-an	-	Akkadian equivalent found in Emar, original spelling
[]	-	Akkadian equivalent not preserved
-	-	no Akkadian equivalent found in Emar (unilingual version)
(Akkadian)	-	Akkadian equivalent found in canonical series as edited in MSL, adjusted to AHw form

ELEMENTARY SIGN-LISTS

0. Tu-ta-ti

Organization of the material:

There is only one extract (E1) and no composite edition is needed but the text is given here in order to provide it with an interpretation.

Interpretation:¹

In view of the fact that Tu-ta-ti is regularly attested in Ugarit, it is remarkable that in Emar no complete texts of this series are found. In fact, doubt may be shed on the identification of E1 as a Tu-ta-ti text. The only similarity found between the Tu-ta-ti exercises as found in Ugarit² and E1 lies in the fact that in both the content provides a systematic listing of phonetic spelling of vowels in combination with given consonants. In case of E1 both the vowels and the consonant are particularly relevant to the writing of Hurrian. It should be noted that the consonants (w and p) that are treated in E1, the only text with a ‘Tu-ta-ti-like’ phonetic exercise in Emar, are also the only consonants that are systematically omitted from the traditional (OB) inventory found in the Ugarit Tu-ta-ti texts³. This ‘complementary distribution’ suggests that the phonetic values treated in E1 may have been treated separately in both Ugarit and Emar, perhaps because in both sites a need was felt for a separate approach to training in the spelling of Hurrian. The first column of the exercise may be interpreted as a complete series of spellings of the Hurrian /f-v/ consonantal phoneme (rendered with the PI sign) in combination with each of the Hurrian vowel phonemes. Note the characteristic graphic distinction of /o/ with spelling –u (line 1) and /u/ with spelling –ú (line 5). The second column of the Tu-ta-ti exercise attempts to give an approximate Akkadian phonetic rendering of each item: the shared sign values with p- are the only ones consistent with the Hurrian phonemes /f-v/.

1. Syllable Alphabet A Vocabulary

Organization of the material:

There are two tablets and a few fragments. Fragments C and D may be part of T 2 but since there are no physical joins and since fragment E is isolated (which means that another, third tablet must have existed) this is not certain. Not only is E, which forms the top right-hand corner of a tablet, isolated with relation to the other texts, but the horizontal organization of its entries also deviates from that of the other texts (for commentary cf. von Soden, NABU 1989 1/8).

Interpretation:

Since Landsberger's commentary on Çig's edition of the Old Babylonian Syllable Alphabet B from Nippur (Çig, 'Zwei Schulbücher', 97-116) it is common usage to assume that the 'logograms' found in the Syllable Alphabets are originally (elements of) PNs and that the Akkadian entries associated with them in the Syllable Alphabet Vocabulary texts are later, secondary additions that contain 'speculative interpretations'. In line with this convention, this composite edition offers two different sets of interpretations: the first set of interpretations are those that refer to the 'logograms' themselves (given in bold print), the second set of interpretations are those that refer to the Akkadian subentries (given in italics). The first set gives, in as far as possible, approximate translations of the Sumerian 'logograms' - some of these are clearly interpretable as (elements of) PNs⁴. When the second set, i.e. the translations of the Akkadian sub-entries, does not match the first set, the theoretically appropriate Sumerian equivalents are added in brackets. Where the theoretically appropriate Sumerian equivalents completely deviate from the logograms actually found in the Svo text, they are marked with a correction marker (!). It will be seen that in many cases the theoretically appropriate equivalents at least partially correspond to actual the logograms given by the Svo text.

References:

Note that there is no edition of the 'canonical' 1st Millennium version of Svo (Svo has not been edited in MSL)⁵. The first reference column gives the Ugarit parallels edited by Nougayrol. In it, A-G are part of Nougayrol's composite edition sections and H and N are his additions (respectively Nougayrol, 'Vocalisés', 33-9 and the separate edition of RS29103 in Nougayrol, 'Nouveau Silbenvokabular', 83-85). The second reference column gives a parallel Old Babylonian text: Sollberger's edition of BM 13902 (Sollberger, 'Silbenvokabular A', 21-8). The equivalent logograms in that text are indicated by Sollberger's numbers - they are mostly parallel to the EST count. If an equivalent of the Akkadian is also found (a hyphen means no Akkadian equivalent is found), the appropriate column is referred to (b or c are the second and third column respectively). In both reference columns an asterisk (*) indicates that a reading has minor deviations in content compared to the Emar entry.

2.1. Syllabary A Vocabulary

Organization of the material:

There are four tablets and some fragments. Of the four tablets, T1 and T2 give the whole text of SaV before continuing with an exercise that has been named Syllabary A Appendix 1 (SaA1). T3 and T4 give a substantially expanded version of SaV, in which most Sa sign have been given many more equivalents than found in the other tablets. This increased amount of entries results in a lengthening of the text and therefore tablets T3 and T4 have only room for the first 58 Sa signs. No tablets with a similar expansive treatment have been found for the other Sa signs. Of the fragments, M may be part of T2 but lacks physical joins - it also contains an interpolation not found in T1. The other fragments are very small, giving a few isolated signs only and lack physical joins - they have not been used for the composite edition.

References:

References to the edition of the canonical version of SaV in MSL are not included here but may be found in Appendix 1, which gives the historical development of the SaV sign inventory.

2.2. Remarks on Syllabary A

Organization of the material:

There is only one small fragment with Sa material (538 E). This fragment was listed in Emar VI 4 as a SaP text but it shows only single, unpaired entries without any characteristically palaeographic features and may be considered as the sole attested, non-palaeographic and unilingual Sa text in Emar.

No composite edition is given because Sa only gives a list of signs, offering exclusively graphic information.

2.3. Remarks on Syllabary A Palaeography

Organization of the material:

There are two tablets (T1-2) and a number of fragments. On both tablets the regular SaV entries are followed by two other exercises, which have been named Syllabary A Appendix 1 (SaA1) and Syllabary A Appendix 2 (SaA2). Of the fragments, D preserves parts of SaA2 but is incompatible with T1-2, which means that a third tablet with SaP material must have existed. The other fragments lack physical joins and are all very small, carrying isolated palaeographic signs only - they have not been used for the composite edition. Some of these smaller fragments may in fact have text that belongs to colophons, in which signs are often executed in palaeographic form, also if they conclude SaP exercise.

No composite edition is given because SaP only gives a list of signs and their palaeographic equivalents, offering exclusively graphic information.

2.4. Syllabary A Appendix 1Organization of the material:

There are no separate tablets with the text of SaA1: the SaA1 exercise follows after the regular sequence of S^a key signs in the SaP and SaV texts. After the SaP texts it is found in unilingual format and after the SaV texts the SaA1 text is found in bilingual format (i.e. in the former the ‘Akkadian’ column is omitted). In SaV T2 the text is broken after the first entries of SaA1 (after entry 006 in line 53) and probably this tablet did not have space for the whole exercise (column X may have fitted the entries up to approximately PST 030).

No composite edition is given because SaA2 only gives a list of signs and their palaeographic equivalents, offering exclusively graphic information.

THEMATIC LISTS

3. Weidner God ListOrganization of the material:

There is only one tablet (T1) and no composite edition is needed but the text is given here to provide it with an interpretation.

References:

Note that there does not exist a ‘canonical’ 1st Millennium version of G and that this series has not been edited in MSL. The first column gives the standard reference, viz. the composite text reconstructed by Weidner (Weidner, ‘Götterlisten’ 9-18 and 71-81). The second reference column gives the parallel Ugarit composite text reconstructed by Nougayrol (Nougayrol, ‘Voculaires’, 210-24 and 246-9).

4. HAR(UR₅).RA=hubullu

Organization of the material:

All relevant information concerning the reconstruction of tablets and the interrelation of fragments, specified per division, can be found in the Inventory of Hh texts which precedes the text edition. For a few divisions, however, where reconstruction of the composite text is particularly problematic, some additional remarks precede the relevant composite version below.

Edition of multi-version divisions:

Note that in a certain divisions (3, 7-9 and 16) there are two versions of the text, in which both inventory and sequence of entries differ from each other significantly. These versions are related to uni- and bilingual content (referred to as version A and B respectively) and mostly they are presented in separate composite editions. Exceptionally, division 9 is presented in a joint composite text (cf. the remarks preceding the composite text).

EST numbers in multi-version divisions:

In the composite edition of these divisions the unilingual version is provided with regular EST numbers (e.g. 7a001). The bilingual version, however, essentially uses the EST numbers of the unilingual text and only adds extra bilingual EST numbers (e.g. 7b001) for those entries that are not attested in the unilingual text. These extra bilingual EST numbers are marked with a “+” to emphasize the fact that the bilingual texts, in effect, consist of a (somewhat modified) framework of unilingual entries to which (often sizeable) interpolations are added. Exceptionally, version B of division 16 does not use the unilingual EST numbers (cf. the remarks preceding the composite text).

References:

All divisions are provided with standard references to the MSL canonical text, even if the reconstruction found there is lacking in coherence. The canonical references are given in the first reference column. In most divisions for which MSL gives a separate edition of the RS Forerunner (only provided from volume VIII onwards), references to these RS editions are also provided: they are added in the second reference column. Where necessary, additional notes on complications regarding the MSL reference system are given in remarks preceding the divisions to which they apply. Note that, for convenient reference, an edition concordance between the edition of the Emar material offered here and the edition of the canonical material offered in MSL is provided in Appendix 2. In addition to the references to MSL, references to the Veldhuis edition of the OB Nippur ĠŠ-list (with its Standard Nippur Text numbers) are included for divisions 3-4: they are found in the second reference column.

Division 7 (canonical XI-XII) Version B (bilingual)

Reconstruction of the version B text:

Reconstruction of version B is hampered by the fragmentary state of the bilingual texts available. There are two larger fragments, I and H, covering what are, in the canonical version, the first part of the KUŠ section and the section before URUDU respectively. H (identified as 7bT1) ends with a colophon, probably after the ŠIM and IM sections. There are also two extracts and a number of smaller fragments. Some of the smaller fragments lack context and have too few identifiable entries to make inclusion in a composite text feasible.

Division 9 (canonical XIV-XV)

Joint edition of versions A and B:

Unilingual and bilingual versions are only simultaneously attested for the same text in three small sections (viz. immediately following the base words MUŠ, KIŠI₈ and EH). However, in each of these three instances the bilingual texts have additional entries: for MUŠ and KIŠI₈ they add colour specifications not found in the unilingual format, while for MUŠ and EH they also give additional entries before or after the base word. It is therefore reasonable to assume that there were, as in divisions 7 and 8, two systematically distinguished versions. Since there is little material found where the two versions overlap, unlike the situation in divisions 7 and 8, it has been decided to present both versions of division 9 in a combined composite edition, allowing an easy overview of all material.

Introduction to divisions 14-17 (canonical XX-XXIII)

References:

1. Sequence of entries in MSL: MSL does not give a coherent reconstruction of canonical tablets XX-XXIII, instead it gives unconnected sections to present the limited and fragmentary source materials. Lacking context, these sections are ordered according to the sequences found in OB or RS Forerunners. Note that the MSL edition of RS Forerunners for Hh XX-XXIa has been made largely obsolete by the revised and expanded reconstruction of the Ugarit material in van Soldt, ‘Ugarit Version’, 429-40. A few addenda to van Soldt’s edition may be found below.

2. Numbering: Prompted by the MSL edition format discussed under 1, the canonical reference numbers used here are constructed as follows: the first two numbers (20-23) are, as usual, tablet numbers (for tablet XX-XXIII), the third is the (MSL) section number and the last two numbers (after ‘:’) are the line numbers within that section. The MSL RS Forerunners’ reference numbers in MSL are only given for division 16 because for divisions 14-15 they have been replaced by the reference numbers used in van Soldt’s improved reconstruction of the Ugarit text (mentioned under 1) while in division 17 MSL gives none. The references to van Soldt’s reconstruction give section (1-10) and line numbers separated by “:” markers.

Addenda to van Soldt, ‘Ugarit Version’, p. 440 n. 120:

1. The identification of Arnaud’s fragment ‘558 A’ needs correction. Arnaud has assigned this number twice: the first time for 74129e, which is part of 15T1 (note that this fragment is also identical to Arnaud’s 559 K because Arnaud edits this tablet in two artificial divisions, presenting the Emar material in parallel to the MSL edition of the canonical version), and the second time for 74234b, which is 15E1 - the latter has been renamed 558 A’ in this edition.

2. 558 K (74104p) is not a duplicate of 558 A - instead these two fragments make up two parts of one tablet 15T1: K joins A in Rev IV.

3. Not 558 C but 558 D (74198b) equals 559 I.

4. 558 D (74198b = 559 I) is not part of 558 C(+) but is a separate tablet (16aT1) with a different (unilingual) version of this division.

5. Of the other fragments listed as joining 558 C in 16bT2 only E (74187) has a direct physical join with it. F (listed with ‘?’) has a deviating sequence and does not join either 16bT1 or T2. Fragments H, I, J and L are likely to belong to 16bT2 with 558 C but lack physical joins.

6. Two other fragments that have physical joins with 16bT2 (i.e. 558 C+E+) are not listed: 559 C (74158j) and 559 E (74122u).

7. 559 B is not a second duplicate of 558 B but is the same as 558 E (this again is a double listing, used by Arnaud to maintain his artificial divisions).

8. In 558 C (16bT2) the KUR-section is not omitted but merely broken (in columns III-IV).

Division 16 (canonical XXIb-XXII) Version B (bilingual)

Reconstruction of version B:

Both versions of division 16 start around the same point in the KI-series (both 16aT1 and 16bT2 lack an approximately equal portion of their first column and then have a number of common entries) and both end with the ÉŠ-section, but there are a number of significant differences. Not only do the shared sections deviate both in content and internal sequencing, but also - more importantly - not all sections are shared: version A has an ÉG-section that is missing in B while B has a KUR-section lacking in A. Some floating B-version fragments (H', I, J, L, H) are provisionally placed in sequential conformity to the parallel RS Forerunner A, which is closely followed in the rest of the Emar 16b texts. Some other, smaller fragments lack context and have too few identifiable entries to make inclusion in a composite text feasible - they are not used for the composite edition.

EST numbers of version B:

In the other divisions with multiple versions (3, 7-9) it was possible to present the bilingual B-versions as elaborations of the unilingual A-versions and, by not assigning independent EST numbers to them, they were presented as such in their composite editions. Because of the much larger sequential discrepancies and because of the omission of complete sections of A in B and vice versa, such an edition format is not feasible here. Therefore the B version has here been given its own EST numbers, independent from version A.

Other notes:

- interpretation column: * the indication 'GN' in the interpretation column means that the Akkadian gives a phonetic spelling of a GN
 * an interpretation between asterisks ([]*) indicates modern astronomical terminology
- last column: * references to the MSL edition of the RS Forerunner (sections are given in Roman numerals, line count in Arabic numerals, a = Recension A)

5. LU=ša

Organization of the material:

1. Division 1: There are two tablets (1T1-2) and a number of fragments. Some fragments (C+I, J, K+O, R, V, W, Y, Z, AA and AD) may belong to T2 but lack physical joins. Other fragments (E' and T) are incompatible with the two reconstructed tablets, suggesting that there may have been a third one. A few smaller fragments have not been used for the composite edition - their reconstruction as part of the larger text is impossible due to the lack of both physical joins and reliable parallels.

2. Division 2: There is one tablet (2T1) and one extract (2E1). All relevant information about the organization of fragments within 2T1 is given in the Inventory and edition concordance of fragments belonging to 2T1 which precedes its text edition. Note that the first section of Izi series is also found on 2T1, directly following Lu 2 (the LEE preserves some entries but the Izi text must have started in column X, which is broken).

References:

1. MSL references: The reconstructed text is provided with references to both the canonical text (left-hand reference column) and the OB text (right-hand reference column) editions as found in MSL XII. The canonical text that is relevant to the Emar Lu material is LU=ša, which MSL presents in three (interrelated) recensions; the references given here apply to its 'Standard Recension' only. Of the OB texts edited in MSL XII, only Proto-Lu is relevant to Emar Lu (despite its name, OB Lu - also known by its incipit, ^{LU}ÁZLAG=ašlāku - is a completely different series). Therefore, the right-hand reference column numbers only refer to Proto-Lu.

2. Numbering: For the canonical text, the first figure in the reference numbers given here always specifies the tablet number of LU=ša in the 'Standard Recension' (1-5) but the organization of the subsequent figures differs per tablet, reflecting the varying organization in MSL XII. MSL XII gives tablets 1 and 4 with a continuous line count but tablets 2, 3 and 5 are given with a (broken and incomplete) line count according to reconstructed columns: for easy reference these respective methods are maintained here. For the OB text, the continuous line count found in the MSL edition of Proto-Lu is given.

ADVANCED SIGN-LISTS

6. IZI=išātu

Organization of the material:

0. Introductory remarks - Due to a combination of the incomplete and fragmentary state of the acrographic text material in Emar and the deficient attestation of parallel texts, a coherent reconstruction of the Izi material is impossible at present. The parallels from the OB forerunners and the 1st Millennium canonical series (both edited in MSL XIII) are of limited use for the reconstruction of the Emar Izi material. The historical development of Izi shows a pronounced flexibility in form and content as well as a marked tendency to (exponential) expansion, with the canonical versions absorbing material from other series. The preserved Emar material suggests that, in form and size, it stands half-way between the compact, well-defined OB Proto-Izi and the heterogeneous, encyclopaedic-size, 1st Millennium canonical Izi. After joining some fragments and classifying content, the scattered remains of the Emar material are presented here according to the available parallels. Thus, the groups of material presented here as Izi 1-4 are not text versions or divisions reflecting the actual textual situation in Emar. Rather, they are mere presentational devices, relying on chronologically diverging parallels. Under points 1-4 a few remarks shall be made on the possible relations between the groups, but there are no sufficient leads for a coherent reconstruction except to say that, to accommodate all the material found, there must have been (an)other tablet(s) after Izi 1T1. Details information regarding the placement and interrelation of individual text fragments is provided in the Inventory and concordance of Izi texts preceding the text edition.

1. Izi 1 (parallel to Proto-Izi I) - Some of the material appears to initially follow Proto-Izi in both sequence and content: this is the case with the Izi material that follows Lu 2 (on the LEE of Lu 2T1) and with the fragments listed below. In fact, taken in parallel to Proto-Izi, Izi 1T1 continues from the point where Lu 2T1 ended - this implies that in the Emar school Izi followed immediately after Lu and seems to have been considered as an actual continuation of Lu. It seems unlikely that a small chunk of Izi - more than a mere catch-line but less than a half-column - would have been given directly after Lu, instead of starting it on a new tablet, unless it was considered a direct continuation of it. If fragment 74122ab (p.309), which has EN-NU-UN entries, is part of Izi, then, counting according to its Proto-Izi sequence, it does not fit on Izi 1T1 but must have been part of another Izi tablet. It should be noted that this fragment does not belong to Lu, where Emar has different EN.NU.ÛĜ-entries (matched in the Standard Recension as well as Excerpt II¹³⁶). Next, the question arises how these Proto-Izi-style texts relate to the material of the other groups, which have their parallels in the Hattusha and canonical versions rather than in Proto-Izi. This question, in turn, is related to the larger, unresolved issue of the relation of Proto-Izi to the later Izi versions (a preliminary discussion is found in MSL XIII, 154-5).

2. Izi 2 (parallel to Hattusha Izi A-B) - As noted in the Civil review, some material follows the parallels in Hattusha rather than those in Proto-Izi, even if, due to the poor state of preservation of both the Emar and the Hattusha material, the points of contact that can be established are not very numerous. The material of Izi 2 relates to Hattusha tablets A and B, hence the specifications 2A and 2B. A possible relation of Izi 2 to Izi 1 may be suggested by the fact that the Izi 2 material shares some content with Proto-Izi II (A has A and ZAG, B has BAD). Note that the shared material of 2B, and hence that of Hattusha B, actually precedes that of 2A in Proto-Izi (B - BAD 1157ff and A - Á-AŠ 2047/ZAG 2259 respectively) - for easy reference, however, the lettering has been made to conform to the lettering used in the MSL XIII edition of the Hattusha texts. Strictly theoretically therefore, the 2B material may have belonged to Izi 1 T1 and the 2A material to another, later tablet, but with the general lack of joins in the material and with too many interpolations and sequential deviations in the attested text, this can not be ascertained. In any case, the content indicates that the Izi 2 text continues the Izi 1 text, maintaining a skeleton of Proto-Izi entries while adding many additions around it. Generally, the relation of Emar Izi to Proto-Izi seems to be similar to that of the canonical version to Proto-Izi, even if the Emar text never reaches the extent of rearrangement witnessed in the latter.

3. Izi 3 (parallel to canonical Izi XV) - The single text listed here has no parallels in either Proto-Izi or Hattusha but it has a parallel in canonical Izi tablet XV. The reason that it is assumed to belong to Izi is twofold. First, the combination of systematic use of compound logograms with the graphic repetition of key-signs means it does not belong to the other sign-list series (cf. Organizational Table 4 of the text edition). Second, the repetition of barû in the last Akkadian entry (EST 3002) suggests that the Sumerian equivalent for this entry must be reconstructed as another IGI-compound, which fits in with the parallel context of canonical Izi XV. A possible relation of Izi 3 to the preceding groups may be suggested by the occurrence of IGI-compounds in Izi 2B (Rev IV'): Izi 3 may have preceded it as part of the same tablet, reflecting a similarity in content with canonical Izi XV.

4. Izi 4 (no substantial parallel; ŠU and NIR-sections) - Even more than for the other Izi material, establishing the exact identity of the texts listed here as Izi 4 is hampered by the lack of parallels. The reason that they are listed as belonging to Izi is twofold. First and generally, the historical expansion of Proto-Izi, growing into an acrographically arranged collection of heterogeneous material may be clearly seen in the other Emar Izi texts. This makes it likely that acrographically arranged material which does not obviously fit in elsewhere, such as the material in question, belongs to the expanding Izi series. The combination of systematic use of compound logograms with the graphic repetition of key-signs means it does not belong to the later advanced sign-lists (cf. Organizational Table 4 of the text edition). This is confirmed by its specific content: Nigga has ŠU but not NIR while Kagal has neither. Second, an overlap with Proto-Izi may be found for the NIR-section (Proto-Izi I 180ff). However, it is unlikely that Izi 4 is part of Izi 1 T1 because this would have meant that column I ends with the NIR-section and that column VI' starts with the ŠU-section. This would be unexpected after the preceding early entry sequence of Izi 1T1, which otherwise tends to follow the Proto-Izi parallel sequence. The Izi 4 material seems to belong to another Izi tablet that originally followed 1 T1.

References:

The only reference numbers added to individual entries are those that establish the primary parallels which were used to reconstruct the text groups Izi 1-3: these are indicated (between brackets) in title of each group. Izi 4 lacks substantial parallels and therefore the texts in this group also lack references.

9. NÍĜ.GA=makkūruOrganization of the material:

There is one tablet and there are some floating fragments. The fragments are not used because, due to the lack of direct joins or close parallels, their placement in the reconstructed text is not feasible. The single tablet does not warrant a composite edition but the text is given here to provide it with an interpretation.

Organization of the material:

The scattered remnants of the Emar Diri material are too fragmentary to allow a comprehensive reconstruction of its sequence. Provisionally, the present text and composite editions give the fragments, as far as possible, in the sequence of the parallel Ugarit material. For two sections, the AMAR-AMAR/KU₇-KU₇ and NĪG-GÚG sections, the equivalents in the Ugarit texts are missing - these have been related to the rest of the material by positioning them in parallel to the canonical version (respectively before and after the rest of the text fragments). It should be noted, however, that the sequences found in the Ugarit and canonical versions differ from each other significantly. All relevant information on the placement and interrelation of individual fragments is found in the inventory and concordance of fragments preceding the text edition.

References:

The references given refer to the parallel canonical and Ugarit texts. Note that both these texts are spread over multiple tablets: the canonical and Ugarit have at least six and three tablets respectively¹⁶⁶. It therefore seems likely that the Emar text originally also had more than one tablet.

6. ^{LÚ}AZLAG=ašlakku (professions and human properties, supplement to proto-LÚ=ša - MSL XII)

ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY

Organization

... confusa et noxia illa librorum multitudo ...

All text publications, editions and commentaries used for the new edition of the Emar material provided by parts 1 and 2 of The Emar Lexical Texts are listed in the following annotated bibliography. It should be noted that a few lexical texts from Emar are published and/or edited outside Arnaud's Emar VI: in the following bibliography such text publications and editions are marked with a bracketed asterisk (*).

The most important works, each covering the Emar material as a whole, are listed first in the section Primary references. These are the first publication and edition by Arnaud in Emar VI, the reviews of it by Civil, Durand and Klengel as well as Cohen's dissertation on the Emar school. These works are frequently referred to in the present study and in the notes to parts 1 and 2 they are simply referred to by the name of the author (i.e. 'Arnaud', 'Civil' and 'Cohen').

Apart from the primary references and a final section dealing with miscellaneous publications, this bibliography has been organized by presenting the relevant books and articles in sections, according to the relevant lexical series and/or chronological span they cover. Each title is followed by a short description of content. This presentation is meant to provide the reader with some guidance in the often inconsistent and fragmented literary landscape of Assyriology. Note that a regular, alphabetically organized bibliography for parts 1-3 of The Emar Lexical Texts will be found at the end of Part 3.

For the new edition of the Emar texts given in this study, parallel texts were used extensively and a systematic listing of all important parallel texts, including 1st Millennium canonical, LBA peripheral and OB versions, is found in Organizational Table 4 of Part 1. Many of these parallel texts may be found in MSL (the appropriate volumes are briefly discussed in the relevant sections of the bibliography below). Additionally, a more detailed discussion of MSL is given in the introduction to Part 1.

With regard to other Emar-related themes further literature may be found by referring to the Emar Bibliography section below.

List of bibliographical abbreviations

Note that the only abbreviations given in italics are those that refer to periodicals.

Primary references

- Arnaud, D., Recherches au pays d'Aštata. Emar VI (Paris 1985-7) --- Volumes 1 and 2 contain the autograph publication of almost all epigraphic material unearthed by the Mission Archéologique d'Emar led by Margueron. This material is ordered by excavation number and a catalogue (Volume 1 p. 7-21) lists the exact locations where each text fragment was found. Volume 4 contains Arnaud's original composite edition of the Emar lexical material - in it each text fragment is given an edition number ordered by series (e.g. 537 is SaV, 540 is Diri etc.). Note, however, that some edition numbers refer to unspecified generic text types (fragments acrophoniques, lexicographiques etc.) and that the numbering within Hh reflects improvisation rather than actual tablet divisions. Some commentary on the characteristics and limitations of the Arnaud edition is provided in the introduction preceding the new text edition provided by this study.
- Civil, M., 'The Texts from Meskene-Emar', AuOr 7 (1989) 5-25. --- This review of Emar VI pays special attention to the lexical material, giving some additions, suggesting certain joins as well as providing alternative readings.
- Cohen, Y., The Transmission and Reception of Mesopotamian Scholarly Texts at the City of Emar (Ann Arbor 2003) --- This study of the Emar school texts dedicates a special chapter (Chapter 3) to analysis of most of the lexical material (it does not treat G, Kagal, Nigga and Diri). Apart from the orthographic-linguistic analysis that is its main purpose, Chapter 3 offers some autograph joins, mostly based on Civil's review, and various excursus on scribal errors. Among the other contributions to the study of the Emar school texts provided by Cohen are a contextual, socio-historical analysis of the school (partially based on a study of the colophons) and a study of some non-lexical genres (the omen and incantation texts). References to various improved readings and relevant text analysis in Cohen are systematically included in the present edition by means of footnotes.
- Durand, J.M., 'Daniel Arnaud, Recherches au Pays d'Aštata, Emar VI, Textes sumériens et accadiens, Ed. Recherche sur les civilisations, Paris, 1986, vol. 1, 2 et 3.', RA 83 (1989) 163-91 and RA 84 (1990) 49-85 --- This review of Emar VI focuses on part of the non-lexical texts in the Arnaud publication and consists of a general commentary followed by a list of improved readings and addenda (the first part of this list is found in RA 83, the second in RA 84). The general commentary contains many remarks that are also valid for the lexical part of the Emar VI.
- Klengel, H., 'Die Keilschrifttexte von Meskene und die Geschichte von Aštata/Emar', OLZ 83.6 (1988) 645-53 --- This review provides the Emar VI texts with background, information, giving an overview of the historical context of the Emar archives and a listing of the attestations of the city of Emar in cuneiform documents from other parts of the Ancient Near East.

1. Syllable Alphabet A Vocabulary (Svo)

General

- Beaulieu, P.A., ‘An Excerpt from a Menology with Reverse Writing’, ASJ 17 (1995) 1-14 --- Contains an analysis of selected entries from Svo in the context of examples of retrography in cuneiform literature.
- Farber, G., ‘Kleiner Leitfaden zum Silbenvokabular A’ in: B. Böck (ed.), Munuscula Mesopotamica. Festschrift für Johannes Renger (Münster 1999) 117-33 --- Contains a general introduction to Sal/Svo as well as a complete inventory of all known texts, ordered by period and provenance.
- Hallo, W.W., ‘The Lame and the Halt’, Eretz Israel 9 (1969) 66-70 --- Contains a discussion of the Svo entries BA.ZA and BA.ZA.ZA (EST 048-9), including references to their attestations as PNs.
- Landsberger, B., ‘Die angebliche babylonische Notenschrift’, AfO Beiheft 1 (1933): Aus fünf Jahrtausenden morgenländischer Kultur. Festschrift Max Freiherrn von Oppenheim zum 70. Geburtstag gewidmet von Freunden und Mitarbeitern 170-8 --- Contains a composite edition of OB and NA Sal A texts, defines the Syllable Alphabet as a series, relates it to the added vocabularies and places it in a historical and literary context.

Emar

- Cavigneaux, A., ‘Lexicographie’, NABU 1988 2/26 --- Offers identification, transliteration and interpretation of additional fragments.
- Soden, W. von, ‘Weitere Bemerkungen zu Texten aus Emar’, NABU 1989 1/8 --- Offers identification and transliteration of an additional Svo fragment.

LBA Periphery

- Nougayrol, J., “‘Vocalisés’ et ‘syllables en liberté’ à Ugarit”, in: H.G. Güterbock and Th. Jacobsen (eds.), Studies in Honor of Benno Landsberger on his Seventy-Fifth Birthday: April 21, 1965. AS 16 (1965) 29-39 --- Contains the composite edition of the tu-ta-ti, Sal A and Svo A texts from Ugarit with a commentary. Fragments are mostly reconstructed in larger multi-column tablets and the preserved sections are listed by tablet and tablet face (letters A-G) as well as line number. In addition, one excerpt tablet was found and has been edited separately on page 39 (in this study it is referred to as text H).
- Nougayrol, J., ‘Nouveau “Silbenvokabular A” d’Ugarit (RS 29103)’, RA 63 (1969) 83-5 --- Contains the edition of the Svo A text of RS 29103, found after the publication of the Ugarit material published by Nougayrol in FS Landsberger.

Old Babylonian

- Çiğ, M. and H. Kizilyay, Zwei altbabylonische Schulbücher aus Nippur (Ankara 1959) --- Contains an edition of tu-ta-ti and Sal B texts from Nippur, a concordance of the latter with the composite Sal A text reconstructed by Landsberger in FS Oppenheim (1933) and a commentary by Landsberger in which he interprets Sal as a list of (parts of) PNs and Svo as adding speculative secondary interpretations.

Sollberger, E., 'A Three-column Silbenvokabular A' in: H.G. Güterbock and Th. Jacobsen (eds.), Studies in Honor of Benno Landsberger on his Seventy-Fifth Birthday: April 21, 1965. AS 16 (1965) 21-8 --- Contains an edition of the Svo A text of BM 13902, with reconstructions from parallel texts.

2. Syllabary A/Vocabulary/Palaeography (Sa/V/P)

Emar

Sjöberg, Å.W., 'Studies in the Emar S^a Vocabulary', ZA 88 (1998) 240-83 --- Contains inventory, commentary and index for all new or deviating glosses, logogram readings and Akkadian forms occurring in the Emar SaV. This article also includes a detailed study of the West Semitic vocabulary that may underlie some of these forms.

Gong, Y., 'Die mittelbabylonischen Namen der Keilschriftzeichen aus Hattuša und Emar', RA 85 (1995) 47-57 --- Contains a synchronic study of all sign names found in Emar and Hattusha as well as systematic diachronic references to the canonical version edited in MSL.

LBA Periphery

Gantzert, M., 'Syrian Lexical Texts 1-2', UF 38 (2007) (abbreviated SLT 1-2) --- The first article of this series (SLT 1) contains a synchronic analysis of the peripheral SaP texts, including a comparison with the SaV texts. The second article (SLT 2) gives an analysis of the LBA peripheral appendices of Sa(V), including re-editions and reinterpretations of part of the relevant text corpus. The concordances included in both articles provide a comprehensive Peripheral Standard Text reference system for the S^a-format lists as well as their appendices.

Nougayrol, J., 'Textes suméro-accadiens des archives et bibliothèques privées d'Ugarit', Ugaritica V (Paris 1968) 1-446 --- Contains publication and edition of most Sa and SaV material from Ugarit (publication respectively 409-410 and 418-23; edition respectively 203-10 and 230-50).

Soldt, W.H. van, 'The Ugarit Version of Syllabary A' --- Contains a new edition and analysis of all Ugarit Sa/P material, including a comparison with the Ugarit SaV material.

Canonical

Landsberger, B., Das Syllabar A; das Vokabular Sa; das Vokabular Sb; Berichtigungen und Nachträge zu MsL II; Indices zu MSL II. MSL III (Rome 1955) --- Contains a composite text for Sa and SaV that intends to establish a canonical version. It should be noted that, in fact, both composite texts contain much material from periods earlier than the 1st Millennium: the Sa text (p. 3-45) is partially reconstructed from the Old Babylonian Kiš school-text and the SaV text (p. 49-87) is actually a mixture of 2nd Millennium Assur and Hattusha texts.

3. Weidner God List (G)

Emar

- (*) Laroche, E., ‘La version hourrite de la liste AN de Meskène-Emar’, CRAIBL 1989 8-12 --- Contains some remarks on the unpublished Sumero-Hurrian version of G (‘Astata VII 1’).

General

- Lambert, W.G., ‘Götterlisten’, RIA Band 3: Fabel-Gyges und Nachtrag (Berlin 1957-1971) 473-9 --- Contains an overview of the typology and history of the lists of DNs, including a discussion of the form and content of the Weidner List.
- Schroeder, O., ‘Ein neuer Götterlistentypus aus Assur’, ZA 33 (1931) 123-47 --- Contains the first systematic identification as well as a partial reconstruction of the list that is now generally known as the Weidner List, including a somewhat dated but still useful alphabetic inventory of all DNs with commentary.
- Weidner, E.F., ‘Altbabylonische Götterlisten’, AfK 2 (1924-5) = AfO 1-3 (1923-6) 1-18 and 71-82 --- Expanding Schroeder’s edition, this article adds the OB material and gives a full composite edition, provided with extensive commentary. This edition is the standard basic reference point for the reconstructed list, now mostly referred to as the ‘Weidner List’.

LBA Periphery

- Arnaud, D., ‘Les textes cunéiformes suméro-accadiens des campagnes 1979-1980 à Ras Shamra-Ougarit’, Syria 59 (1982) 199-222 --- Contains the autograph publication and edition of an additional G text from Ugarit. The commentary includes some comparisons with the Emar material.
- Gantzert, M., ‘Syrian Lexical Texts 3’, UF 38 (2007) (abbreviated SLT 3) --- The third article of the SLT series contains a synchronic analysis of the peripheral G texts and the concordance included gives a comprehensive Peripheral Standard Text reference system for G.
- Nougayrol, J., ‘Textes suméro-accadiens des archives et bibliothèques privées d’Ugarit’, Ugaritica 5 (1968) 1-446 --- Contains a composite edition of the Ugarit G material (including critical apparatus) on pages 210-30. Note that another G text is found on a tablet together with SaV, and is edited separately as part of text 137 on pages 246-9.

Secondary literature

- Black, J., and A. Green, Gods, Demons and Symbols of Ancient Mesopotamia. An Illustrated Dictionary (London 1992) --- This thematic dictionary examines most of the divinities listed in G, offering an overview of their names, titles, attributes and interrelations.

4. HAR(UR₅).RA=hubullu (Hh)

Note that for Hh an overview of the correspondences between the Emar divisions and the canonical tablets published in MSL, with a parallel listing of the relevant volumes, is provided in Appendix 2 of Part 2.

4.1. Divisions 1-2

LBA Periphery

Arnaud, D., 'Les textes cunéiformes suméro-accadiens des campagnes 1979-1980 à Ras Shamra-Ougarit', Syria 59 (1982) 199-207 --- Contains an edition of Ugarit Hh 1 extract RS 1979-22, which has added phonetic spelling of the Sumerian entries and text parallel to Emar 1167-1177, including translation and comparative commentary.

Huehnergard, J. and W.H. van Soldt, 'A Cuneiform Lexical Text from Ashkelon with a Canaanite Column', IEJ 49 (1999) 184-92 --- Contains the edition of a Hh 1 fragment found in Ashkelon which also offers a systematic comparison with the relevant sections of the Ugarit and Emar material and a reconstruction of the Canaanite entries to the ITI-entries equivalent to 1111a-f.

Old Babylonian

Landsberger, B., Die Serie 'ana ittišu'. MSL I (Rome 1937) --- Contains the series KI.ULUDIN.BI.ŠÈ=ana ittišu, which includes much material that partially precedes or runs parallel to Emar divisions 1-2. It offers an English translation, a concordance with canonical tablets I-II and an extensive commentary. Not that a revised concordance with MSL, a new concordance with Emar and a commentary on the relation between KI.ULUDIN.BI.ŠÈ is provided in Appendix 3.

Canonical

Landsberger, B., The Series 'HAR-ra=hubullu', Tablets I-IV. MSL V (Rome 1957) --- Contains the edition of the first part of Hh (canonical tablets I-IV), covering the material parallel to Emar divisions 1-2 (canonical tablets I-II), which is provided with an English translation.

4.2. Divisions 3-4

Emar

Farber, G., 'Mannam Lušpur ana Enkidu: Some New Thoughts about an Old Motif', JNES 49 (1990) 299-321 --- Contains a partial transliteration and interpretation of the Mannam Lušpur incantation found following the Hh text of 3aT1. The article provides an overview of the whole literary tradition of the incantation, listing all known parallels.

Old Babylonian

Veldhuis, N.C., Elementary Education at Nippur. The Lists of Trees and Wooden Objects (Groningen 1997) --- Contains a composite edition of the Old Babylonian ĜIŠ-list material found in Nippur, resulting in a Standard Nippur Text (SNT) of 707 entries. This Standard Nippur Text is provided with extensive philological commentary, including a systematic comparison with the relevant Emar material. A discussion about the historical and educational context precedes the actual edition and a concordance is added to it.

Canonical

Landsberger, B., The Series 'HAR-ra=hubullu', Tablets I-IV. MSL V (Rome 1957) --- Contains the edition of the first part of Hh (canonical tablets I-IV), covering most of the material parallel to Emar division 3 (canonical tablets III-IV).

Landsberger, B., The Series 'HAR-ra=hubullu', Tablets V-VII. MSL VI (Rome 1958) --- Contains the edition of canonical tablets V-VII, covering the rest of the material parallel to Emar divisions 3-4 (canonical tablets V-VII). Canonical tablet VII has been edited in two versions (A and B).

4.3. Divisions 5-7

Emar

(*) Watanabe, K., 'Freiburger Vorläufer zu HAR-ra=hubullu XI and XII', Acta Sumerologica 9 (1987) 277-91 (abbreviated FVH) --- Contains the photo publication and an edition of a large fragment of 7aT3, acquired by the Freiburg Museum für Völkerkunde. This fragment has been re-edited in this study as part of the larger tablet to which it belongs (7a T 3) - it will here be referred to as the FVH-fragment, in reference to its first edition provided in this article.

Canonical

Civil, M., 'HAR-ra=hubullu: Tablet X dug=karpatu' in: W. Sallaberger, Der babylonische Töpfer und seine Gefäße nach Urkunden altsumerischer bis altbabylonischer Zeit sowie lexikalischen und literarischen Zeugnissen. Mesopotamian History and Environment Series II Memoirs III (Ghent 1996) (abbreviated BTG) --- Contains an updated and revised edition of canonical tablet X, presenting the material in approximately the same modernized format as provided by the later MSL publications. Sallaberger's book, of which this edition is a part, also provides useful indexes to Sumerian and Akkadian vocabulary (p. 95-118) found in the DUG-list (Emar division 10) as well as an extensive relevant bibliography (p. 119ff.).

Landsberger, B., The Series 'HAR-ra=hubullu', Tablets VIII-XII. MSL VII (Rome 1959) --- Contains the edition of canonical tablets VIII-XII, covering the material parallel to Emar divisions 5-7. Note that the edition of canonical tablets IX and XII is riddled with big gaps, at times hindering a coherent reconstruction. In this study, a commentary about the gaps in the MSL edition of canonical tablet IX precedes the composite edition of division 5.

4.4. Divisions 8-13

Emar

Fleming, D., 'The NIN.DINGIR/ittu at Emar', NABU 1990 1/8 --- Contains remarks on the use and reading of the term NIN.DIĜIR.RA in Emar with a discussion of the relevant passage in 13E2 (556 D).

Canonical

Civil, M. and Landsberger, B., The Series 'HAR-ra=hubullu', Tablet XV and Related Texts, with Additions and Corrections to MSL II, III, V and VII. MSL IX (Rome 1967) --- Contains the edition of canonical tablet XV, which is the part of the material parallel to Emar division 9 that was not covered in MSL VIII. It also edits the series UGU.ĜU₁₀, which is thematically related to the UZU-list.

Landsberger, B., The Fauna of Ancient Mesopotamia. MSL VIII 1-2 (Rome 1960-2) --- Thematically arranged, this volume of MSL covers the tablets with domestic and wild animals, fish and birds. Divided into two parts, part one contains the edition of canonical tablet XIII, covering the material parallel to Emar division 8. Part two contains the edition of canonical tablets XIV and XVIII, covering the material parallel to part of Emar division 9 and to the whole of Emar division 12. In addition, part two edits sections of the series ^ùURU.AN.NA=^ùmaštakal, Practical Vocabulary of Assur and malku=šarru that are thematically related to the list of domestic animals in division 9. Note also that each part contains an excursus on some specific vocabulary.

Landsberger, B. and Reiner, E., The Series 'HAR-ra=hubullu', Tablets XVI, XVII, XIX and related Texts. MSL X (Rome 1970) --- Contains the edition of canonical tablets XVI, XVII and XIX, covering the material parallel to Emar divisions 10-12. It also edits the Neo-Babylonian Stone List and a section of the series ^ùURU.AN.NA=^ùmaštakal, thematically related to the NA₄-list.

4.5. Divisions 14-18

LBA Periphery

Soldt, W.H. van, 'The Ugarit Version of Harra-hubullu 20-21a. A New Source' in: M. Dietrich and O. Loretz (eds.), Mesopotamica – Ugaritica – Biblica. Festschrift für Kurt Bergerhof zur Vollendung seines 70. Lebensjahres am 7. Mai 1992 (Neukirchen 1993) 427-46 --- Contains a revised edition of the Ugarit material parallel to canonical tablets XX-XXIa (Emar divisions 14-15), which including a new text (LB 2647) and replaces the incomplete and jumbled edition of the RS Forerunners in MSL XI. Note that a few addenda to this article are provided in the remarks preceding the composite edition of divisions 14-17.

Canonical

Reiner, E., The Series 'HAR-ra=hubullu', Tablets XX-XXIV. MSL XI (Rome 1974) --- Contains the edition of canonical tablets XX-XXIV, covering the material parallel to Emar divisions 14-18. No coherent reconstruction is offered - instead, the limited and fragmentary source materials are presented in loose sections. Note that van Soldt's revised edition of the Ugarit material ('Ugarit Version') now replaces the (incomplete and jumbled) edition of the RS Forerunners to canonical tablets XX-XXI given in this part of MSL.

5. LÚ=ša (Lu)

Emar

Soden, W. von, 'Weitere Bemerkungen zu Texten aus Emar', NABU 1989 1/8 --- This note identifies fragment 74198c, edited as 'texte de contenu indéterminé' in Emar VI 4 (787), as belonging to Lu and offers improved readings and some discussion about the deviating horizontal organization of its entries. It also offers some remarks about the lexical item A=MU_x and the lemma ummūtu.

OB

Taylor, J., 'A New OB Proto-Lu-Proto-Izi Combination Tablet', OrNS 70.3 (2001) 209-34 --- Contains the edition of an OB tablet combining parts of Proto-Lu and Proto-Izi, similar to what is found on Emar Lu 2T1. The transliterations are accompanied by a translation and followed by an extensive commentary, much of which is relevant to the interpretation of equivalent entries found in the later part of Lu 2.

Canonical

Civil, M., The Series lú=ša and Related Texts. MSL XII (Rome 1969) --- Contains the collected editions of all series with the theme LÚ from all places and all periods starting with the ED period, as far as known at the time of publication (i.e. before the discovery of the Emar texts). This includes the canonical series LÚ=ša and its forerunner OB Proto-LÚ, the latter of which is followed quite closely in the Emar material. This part of MSL also offers useful introductions to the material it covers.

General

Landsberger, B., 'Babylonian Scribal Craft and Its Terminology' in: D. Sinor (ed.), Proceedings of the Twenty-Third International Congress of Orientalists Cambridge 21st-28th August 1954 (London 1954) 123-7 --- Contains a listing of Sumerian terminology relevant to scribal work and the school, including interpretations of many titles and epithets encountered in Lu.

6. IZI=išātu (Izi), 7. KÁ.GAL=abullu (Kagal) and 9. NÍĜ.GA=makkūru (Nigga)

Emar

Sjöberg, Å.W., 'Some Emar Lexical Entries' in: A.K. Guinan a.o. (eds.), If a Man Builds a Joyful House: Assyriological Studies in Honor of Erle Verdun Leichty (Leiden and Boston 2006) 401-29 --- Contains interpretations of many individual entries found in the various texts listed by Arnaud as Fragments de listes acrophoniques and Fragments de textes lexicographiques (564-600), which include (part of) the Izi, Kagal and Nigga material. These interpretations include cross-references to other lexical and literary texts from Emar and elsewhere and offer many Semitic etymologies.

LBA Periphery

Weiherr, E. von, 'Ein Vokabularfragment aus Boğazköy (KBo XVI 87)', ZA 62 (1972) 109-14 --- Contains an edition of some additional Izi material from Hattusha that is to be added to the sources of MSL XIII p. 132, covering numbers Tablet E 170-83 as well as some extra IGI-compounds.

Wilhem, G., 'Die zweite Tafel der serie Kagal in Hattusa', ZA 79 (1989) 73-9 --- Contains an edition of additional Kagal fragments and reconstructs the spread of the various key-sign sections of Hattusha Kagal across two tablets.

OB

Taylor, J., 'A New OB Proto-Lu-Proto-Izi Combination Tablet', OrNS 70.3 (2001) 209-34 --- Contains the edition of an OB tablet combining parts of Proto-Lu and Proto-Izi, similar to what is found on Emar Lu 2T1. The transliterations are accompanied by a translation and followed by an extensive commentary, much of which is relevant to the interpretation of equivalent entries found in the first part of Izi 1 (1001-15).

General

Civil, M., Izi=išātu, Ká-gal=abullu and Nig-ga=makkūru. MSL XIII (Rome 1971) --- Contains edition of the canonical versions of the series listed in the title as well as reconstructions of their forerunners. It should be noted that OB Izi tends to expand as it is transmitted into later periods, evolving to a canonical version of encyclopaedic size that incorporates material of earlier separate series. For the canonical version so far 21 tablets have been reconstructed (mostly only partially and without certainty about their sequencing), compared to the two tablets of its OB forerunner. Some canonical tablets contain sections relevant to the Emar material. Other relevant material is found in the edition of Hattusha Izi. This part of MSL offers useful introductions to the material covered and discusses, among other topics, the complicated relation between the different texts over different periods.

8. SAG B (SagB)

Emar

Sjöberg, Å.W., ‘Some Emar Lexical Entries’ in: A.K. Guinan a.o. (eds.), If a Man Builds a Joyful House: Assyriological Studies in Honor of Erle Verdun Leichty (Leiden and Boston 2006) 401-29 --- Contains interpretations of many individual entries found in the various texts listed by Arnaud as Fragments de listes acrophoniques and Fragments de textes lexicographiques (564-600), which include (part of) the Sag B material. These interpretations include cross-references to other lexical and literary texts from Emar and elsewhere and offer many Semitic etymologies.

(*) Yoshikawa, M., and E. Matsushima, ‘Bilingual Lexical Tablet’, BSNESJ 23.2 (1980) 1-23 (abbreviated BLT) --- Contains the photo and autograph publication and an edition of the largest fragment of T 1, acquired by the Institute of Oriental Culture in Tokyo. This fragment has been re-edited in this study as part of the larger tablet to which it belongs - it will here be referred to as the BLT-fragment, in reference to its first edition provided in this article.

General

Civil, M., O.R. Gurney and D.A. Kennedy, The Sag-tablet; Lexical Texts in the Ashmolean Museum; Middle Babylonian Grammatical Texts; Miscellaneous Texts. MSL SS 1 (Rome 1986) --- Contains a re-edition of the BLT-fragment as part of a complete edition of all Sag-related material known at the time (i.e. without joining it to the fragment later published as number 575 in the Arnaud edition). This volume, the first in the MSL Supplementary Series, also contains a discussion of the place of the different Sag-materials in the wider acrographic tradition.

10. DIRI=watru (Diri)

Emar and general

Civil, M., The Series DIRI=(w)atru. MSL XV (Rome 2004) --- Contains the collected editions of all presently known Diri texts, including the material from Emar. The Emar material, collated for the MSL edition, is presented in a composite format but with a concordance specifying the reconstructed texts. Note that some minor corrections and additions to this edition and a concordance of the Emar VI 4 and the MSL editions can be found in the text edition of present study. MSL XV also offers useful general introductions to the material covered.

Rutz, M.T., ‘More Diri from Emar’, NABU 2006 4/85 --- Contains the transliteration of a newly identified Diri fragment (fragment 6 - 74159g) and gives the parallel Ugarit text.

Emar colophons

- Cohen, Y., 'Kidin-Gula – the Foreign Teacher at the Emar Scribal School', RA 1998 (2004) 81-100 --- Contains a discussion of the identity of one of the teacher's appearing in the colophons found in the lexical material and corrects of some of the readings offered by Arnaud.
- Fleming, D.E., Time at Emar: the Cultic Calendar and the Rituals from the Diviner's Archives (Winona Lake 2000) --- In the discussion of the 'diviner's archive' (Chapter 2), attention is given to the colophons found in the lexical material (p. 26ff.).
- Yamada, M., 'The Family of Zū-Ba^la the Diviner and the Hittites' in: S. Izre'el, I. Singer and R. Zadok (eds.), Past Links. Studies in the Languages and Cultures of the Ancient Near East. Israel Oriental Studies 18 (Winona Lake 1998) 323-34 --- Contains a reconstruction of the genealogy of the family of Zu-Ba^la the diviner, in whose library most of the Emar lexical material was found. It offers a detailed discussion of many colophons found in the lexical material of the diviner's library.

Emar bibliography

- Ikeda, J., 'A New Contribution to Northwest Semitic Lexicography', BiOr 60-3/4 (2003) 264-80 --- This article reviews Penttuc's West Semitic Vocabulary but also contains a complete list of all published Emar text material with notes and references (276-80).

Cuneiform lexicology in general

- Cavigneaux, A., 'Lexicalische Listen', RIA Band 6: Klagegesang-Libanon (Berlin and New York 1980-3) 609-41 --- This article gives a comprehensive overview of cuneiform lexicology and contains references to all publications, editions and secondary literature available at the time of its publication.
- Civil, M., 'Lexicography' in: S.J. Lieberman (ed.), Sumerological Studies in Honor of thorkild Jacobsen on his Seventieth Birthday June 7, 1974. AS 20 (Chicago and London 1975) 123-57. --- This article contains a historical and methodological introduction to cuneiform lexicology as well as a discussion of the main literature.
- Civil, M., 'Ancient Mesopotamian Lexicography' in: J.M. Sasson (ed.), Civilizations of the Ancient Near East IV (New York 1995) 2305-14. --- This article gives a short general introduction to cuneiform lexicology.
- Hoskisson, P.Y., 'Emar as an Empirical Model of the Transmission of Canon' in: K. Lawson Younger, W.W. Hallo and B.F. Batto (eds.), The Biblical Canon in Comparative Perspective. Scripture in Context IV. Ancient Near Eastern Texts and Studies 11 (Lewiston and Queenston 1991) 21-31 --- Contains a discussion of selected parts of the Emar lexical curriculum (p. 23-4) with regard to their diachronic position within the larger lexical tradition. A general characterization of the whole curriculum is given in the conclusion (p.26-8).

¹¹ Term current in haruspicy: Nougayrol, ‘Vocalisés’, p.35 n.54.

¹² Note that PAP.E ‘canal’ would be within the semantic range of the Akkadian.

¹³ Cf. Hallo, ‘The Lame and the Halt’, 67-70.

¹⁴ Note that SAG-AN is found with the value TIRIGI (cf. ePSD), suggesting its reading as graphic variant of SI-A=DIRIG.

¹⁵ Note the parallel in Ugarit D21 a-ri-ra, probably referring to the deverbal noun ariru ‘priest’.

¹⁶ HU.RU<.UM> would be read ‘child’.

¹⁷ AN.Ú<.SA₁₁.AN> would be read ‘evening’.

¹⁸ Cf. Cohen, 155-6.

¹⁹ Note that the count for SaV is based on the concordance covering all peripheral S^a material found in Gantzert, ‘SLT 1’, UF 38 (forthcoming), using Peripheral Standard Text numbers. In other words, the PST numbers refer to the reconstructed score text of all peripheral material combined and the PST count used here does not only counts entries preserved in the attested Emar SaV texts, but also those that are lost in broken sections and (possibly) some that are only found in other peripheral sites. A concordance of PST count and the Sa reference numbers of MSL 3 may be found in Appendix 1.

²⁰ Note that interpolation 17 may be interpreted as the sign name of EZEN(=ŠIR) IDIM MURUB₄.GUB.BA ŠI-RU KA-SIG-GÁN ‘IDIM standing inside, širu the pronunciation’) with a somewhat twisted writing of the Sumerian expression KA.KA.SI.GA (‘pronunciation’). The fact that the words are spread over several lines may be an indication that the student was writing down oral instructions, the elements of which he additionally provided with multiple individual Akkadian equivalents.

²¹ Suggestion by Veldhuis (personal communication).

²² Suggestion by Veldhuis (personal communication).

²³ Alternative interpretations for 006.09-10 offered by Cohen, 178-9.

²⁴ Interpretations for 008.1-4 follow Cohen, 185.

²⁵ Note that the Akkadian equivalent uqquru means ‘cripple’ and that the sign name is ib-bi, which seems to refer to IB ‘hips’, allowing a semantic association with both preceding HAL ‘thigh’ and following UR=awilu ‘man’.

²⁶ Critical evaluation by Cohen, p.179 n.306.

²⁷ Alternative interpretation by Cohen, p.179, n.307.

²⁸ Cf. Cohen, p.175 n.293.

²⁹ Note that both a distance calculation between the fragments in SaV T1 and the line count in the parallel Ugarit text RS 20.135+ (= Ugaritica V 113 = van Soldt, ‘The Ugarit Version of Syllabary A’ text B₁) make it likely that the sections 5-10 and 11-23 in fact (partially) overlap. The present reference numbers 5-23 and the present gap indication are merely given to furnish the maximum amount of information until complete restoration becomes possible.

³⁰ Note that PST numbers 26-7 are missing in the line count to make the numbering conform to the concordance with the parallel Ugarit and Assur material given in Gantzert, ‘SLT 2’ (forthcoming).

³¹ Emendation from probable parallel in RS 20.135+21.63, Ugaritica V 113+117, vSoldt, ‘The Ugarit Version of Syllabary A’ (forthcoming) text B₁) VIII 26’.

³² The Akkadian equivalent warqu ‘green’ may be explained by reading SAR=NISIG, instead of the reading SAR=MÚ which is suggested by the prefix i-, appropriate to a verbal form.

³³ Note that this may be interpreted as a ‘broken spellings’, cf. B. Groneberg, ‘Zu den gebrochenen Schreibungen’, JCS 32.3 (1980) 163-4.

³⁴ The Akkadian equivalent miqittu ‘fall’ seems to refer to an alternate spelling of Sumerian DIRIG ‘to fall’, (normally SI-A), viz. as <RI->GA, which is sometimes found for homophone DIRIG ‘to be supreme’ (cf. ePSD).

³⁵ Cf. J.J. Stamm, Die akkadische Namengebung (Leipzig 1939) 259.

- ³⁶ Note that the count for G is based on the concordance covering all peripheral material found in Gantzer, ‘SLT 3’, UF (forthcoming), using Peripheral Standard Text numbers. In other words, the PST numbers refer to the reconstructed score text of all peripheral material combined and the PST count used here does not only counts entries preserved in the attested Emar G text, but also those that are lost in broken sections and (possibly) some that are only found in other peripheral sites.
- ³⁷ Reading confirmed by Colophon of Izi I T1 (LEE II 3’).

- ⁴¹ The section 1167-77 has an interesting parallel in Ugarit which gives a phonetic spelling of the Sumerian entries: RS 1979-22 - publication and edition with attention to the Emar material in: Arnaud, ‘Textes cunéiformes 1979-1980’, 199-203.
- ⁴² Lexicalization with nominal value, variant of Ur III MU.DU.

- ⁵⁰ The following passage has a parallel in PBS 8,2 137 and is treated in M. Roth, Scholastic Tradition and Mesopotamian Law: a Study of FLP 1287, a Prism in the Collection of the Free Library of Philadelphia (Language, Ancient), 103-14 (reference kindly supplied by Krispijn).
- ⁵¹ After UMBIN the expected verbal form would have the root KUD(TAR).
- ⁵² Cf. discussion offered by von Soden, NABU 1989 8.
- ⁵³ Presumably KAL-NA reflects Akkadian loan DAN.NA (dannu) for KAL=KALAG.
- ⁵⁴ Note that LAGAB also has the reading KUR₄, appropriate to the Akkadian equivalent kuršimu.
- ⁵⁵ The phonetic value is probably /ša/; a discussion is available in Veldhuis, Elementary education, 172. The sign form found in the OB and canonical versions is ŠÚ-A but 543 A clearly has an in-written A-element (formal likeness with AbZ 522 AMBAR).
- ⁵⁶ Parallel to emerah(UD-SAL-HÚB) in both canonical version and OB Nippur (Veldhuis, Elementary education, 173).
- ⁵⁷ Signs indicated as defined in AbZ (p.289): LAGABxA=BUĠIN, LAGABxNÍĠ=BÚĠIN, LAGABxU-A=BUĠIN₄
- ⁵⁸ Arnaud: ŠUDUL(ŠÚ-DUN₄); here nir is interpreted as an Akkadian translation of ŠUDUL (with ^{MEŠ} as gloss marker).

- ⁶³ Note phonetic proximity of ÚŠ/EŠ and ti-ik-šu/takšu I ‘drilling’ (AHw, 1309).
- ⁶⁴ Perhaps graphically defective GILIM(.MA) for napraku ‘bolt’, or phonetic for GAN.NA sikkuru.
- ⁶⁵ Discussion Veldhuis, Elementary education, 179-80.
- ⁶⁶ The MSL parallel suggests that DU reflects a phonetic rendering of DÚB.
- ⁶⁷ Perhaps a hybrid based on (AHw, 699) IGI.GÁL APIN nabritu and PA.GABA APIN nabru.
- ⁶⁸ Perhaps corruption of NAM.NU.TAR.RA/E.
- ⁶⁹ Parallels in AHW, 356.
- ⁷⁰ Note that the section 4326a-c, found in T1, covers part of the gap between 4325+4162-4 and 4327 found in T2 – this gap is about 10 lines long, which means that missing text between 4164-4326a and 4326c-4327 can only be a few lines in size.
- ⁷⁰ Arnaud: ŠUDUL(ŠÚ-DUN₄); here nir is interpreted as an Akkadian translation of ŠUDUL (with ^{MEŠ} as gloss marker).

- ⁹² Improved BTG count.
- ⁹³ Improved BTG count.
- ⁹⁴ Cf. FVH Commentary note 38f. .
- ⁹⁵ Note that graphically related KAxA has the value NAĜ, which in turn is a phonetic variant of NAĜA, meaning ‘mortar’, conform the contextual semantic range.
- ⁹⁶ LÚ.IM would be sarru ‘false’.
- ⁹⁷ Perhaps reflecting uššu III AHW, 1442.
- ⁹⁸ The ŠE.GIN section not preceded by ^{KUS} in Version B but is here given as part of the ^{KUS} section, following MSL 7, 137-8.

- ¹⁰⁰ Semantic range of metal work: šelepaju AHW, 1210.
- ¹⁰¹ DAG-KISIM₅LU+MÁŠ.
- ¹⁰² Possible alternative reading: NUNDUM(KAxNUN).MA.
- ¹⁰³ Note how the gloss reflects the graphic form (with BI for KAŠ and GAG for DÜ) instead of the phonetic values.
- ¹⁰⁴ Reconstruction follows Civil, 17.
- ¹⁰⁵ Cf. MSL 13, 163.
- ¹⁰⁶ For interpretation 8b019-21 cf. MSL 13, 160-2.
- ¹⁰⁷ For gloss ^{PU-DU} cf. MSL 8,1 n. 163a(2) p.22; also note that ZAG = pa_{tu} ‘border’.
- ¹⁰⁸ Note that Emar pá-lu-u may either reflect ibilu ‘camel; dromedary’ or refer to the BAL element.

- ¹¹³ Possible readings for BIR include GIRIŠ ‘butterfly’ and ZANZANA ‘dragonfly’ - the former is found in MSL 18244. Note that 12T1 IV 18 has the remains of sa- after BIR but that 12E1 LE 12 has the gloss gu-ru-uš.
- ¹¹⁴ Note the combined logographic and phonetic use of DU-element: logographic as part of UD-DU compound, phonetic with the value RÁ.
- ¹¹⁵ Cf. WS etymology for AHW šābu I.
- ¹¹⁶ Ptc watû ‘to find; discover’.
- ¹¹⁷ Commentary in Sjöberg, ‘Lexical Entries’, 428.
- ¹¹⁸ The MSL 10 edition of the RS Forerunner (p. 152 notes to 217-20 and 253) suggests the reading A-DU=tuše on the basis of the gloss tu-še in Diri. However, here A-DU will be read A.RÁ based on the phonetic spelling A.RA found in 13021. The Diri gloss tu-še may reflect the Akkadian word (equivalent tu-un-šu) rather than the Sumerian word. Also note the phonetically and possibly semantically relevant words A.RÁ=alaktu (attestations AHW, 31) and arāmu ‘to cover’.
- ¹¹⁹ Akkadian i-ti for entu - cf. Fleming, NABU 1990 1/8.
- ¹²⁰ Note that spelling suggest Hurrian derivation (tuhšiwe AHW, 1367).

- ¹²¹ Cf. Semitic etymology for ekēdu AHw, 193.
- ¹²² Note the phonetic proximity with šišītu I ‘skin’ AHw, 1250.
- ¹²³ Akkadian equivalent (né-ba-ah na<<ah>>-ba-ši) is assumed to reflect repetition of 13062 in view of the Sumerian phonetic gloss hé-mi-ta found in 13E2 27’.
- ¹²⁴ The parallel logogram for pappardilu is ^{NA}4NÍR BABBAR.DILI.
- ¹²⁵ Some of the identifications offered in the interpretation were supplied by van Soldt (personal communication).

- ¹²⁹ Cf. Cohen, 259-60.
- ¹³⁰ Cf. Fleming, NABU 19901/8.
- ¹³¹ Cf. Cohen, 261 - note that the reading iz-bu ‘abortion’ is contextually equally appropriate.
- ¹³² Note that the same division between tablets I/II is also found in Ugarit and that there is no reason to contrast the Ugarit and Emar traditions at this point (as proposed in Hoskisson, ‘Emar’, 23).
- ¹³³ For interpretation of OB equivalents for many entries from 2064 onwards cf. Taylor, ‘OB Proto-Lu-Proto-Izi’, 215-31.
- ¹³⁴ Note ŠŪ = kalû cult singer.
- ¹³⁵ The adjustment munnakru > munnarbu follows Civil, 23 (note, however, also that KÚR = nakāru (Dt)).
- ¹³⁶ MSL 12, 117 and 107 respectively.
- ¹³⁷ For interpretation of OB equivalents of entries Izi 1 1005-15 cf. Taylor, ‘OB Proto-Lu-Proto-Izi’, 219-20 and 231-4.
- ¹³⁸ A discussion of the word AN.BAR as referring to meteoric metal and of the magic properties of knives may be found in M. Eliade, Cosmologie et alchimie babyloniennes (Paris 1991) 58 and 62ff orig.: Cosmologie și alchimie babiloniană (Bucharest 1937).

- ¹⁴⁰ For other interpretations of al-lu-ta-nu cf. Sjöberg, ‘Lexical Entries’, p.406 n.11.
- ¹⁴¹ For interpretations of entry 1014 cf. Sjöberg, ‘Lexical Entries’, 407.
- ¹⁴² Perhaps related to šarbābu ‘release of strenght’.
- ¹⁴³ Entry series 2A015 may also have the logogram GAZ: the first Akkadian equivalent (hepû) is regularly rendered GAZ (cf. attestations of AHw, 340).
- ¹⁴⁴ Note parallels with ÚLUTIN=nabnitu for entries 2A009-11 listed by Sjöberg, ‘Lexical Entries’, p.40 n.2.
- ¹⁴⁵ For interpretation cf. Sjöberg, ‘Lexical Entries’, 412-3.
- ¹⁴⁶ Perhaps related to pittu ‘sphere of power’ or BAD = petû ‘to open’.
- ¹⁴⁷ Alternative reading bartu ‘rebellion’ suggested by Sjöberg, ‘Lexical Entries’, 425.
- ¹⁴⁸ Note that the sequence GIZ.ZAL-GIŠ is not attested in Izi Hattusha or in any other Izi text but has a parallel in Proto-Kagal 514ff. (MSL 13, 81).
- ¹⁴⁹ Note that although in Hattusha there are no direct parallels for the Emar entries, a BAD section is also found on Hattusha Tablet B (MSL 13, 144-5).
- ¹⁵⁰ Line of Tablet B Obverse. Note that, based on the Emar sequence (which has BAD before MUD - cf. 2BT1 V’ 1’-15’), the sides of Hattusha Tablet B may have to be reversed. Note that a systematic comparison of the Emar entries 2B021-7 and their Hattusha equivalents is given by Cohen, 269.
- ¹⁵¹ Sjöberg, ‘Lexical Entries’, 424 suggests reading pá-ru-u and a connection to Arabic fry ‘to become confounded’.
- ¹⁵² Sjöberg, ‘Lexical Entries’, 414 suggests a connection to Arabic msk ‘to arrest, take hold of’.
- ¹⁵³ Semantic context suggests relations to either lītu I/ lutû ‘knotted’ or to letû II ‘to split’. Note that the appropriate logogram to the latter alternative, DAR, is also appropriate to following 4006e salātu.
- ¹⁵⁴ Sjöberg, ‘Lexical Entries’, 415 suggests a connection to Syriac pšh ‘to tear to pieces’.
- ¹⁵⁵ Cf. MSL 13, 125, 227 and 242ff.
- ¹⁵⁶ Note that the presence the element AŠ found in 118-20 suggests the logograms KAD₆ and KAD₈, which have the meaning ‘to tie’.
- ¹⁵⁷ Perhaps TAR-KAL is a phonetic spelling for DURGUL ‘mooring pole’.
- ¹⁵⁸ Note that the sign SIG could also be interpreted as SÍG (respectively AbZ 539 and 592), a graphic association could be established between SÍG and SI₄(=GÚ.UNU_x) for 150a-b šubtu and mūšabtu.
- ¹⁵⁹ Perhaps a phonetic association with SAĜ ÉD ‘to take precedence’.
- ¹⁶⁰ For reading šubtu as ‘ambush’ cf. Sjöberg, ‘Lexical Entries’, p.422 n.39.
- ¹⁶¹ Note the partial phonetic association between logogram and Akkadian equivalent: KA-AN = šā’ilu.
- ¹⁶² Cf. MSL 13, 96ff.
- ¹⁶³ For interpretation cf. Sjöberg, ‘Lexical Entries’, 420.

¹⁶⁴ For interpretation cf. Sjöberg, ‘Lexical Entries’, 420.

¹⁶⁵ For a connotation with the ritual aspect of (confirming) transactions cf. entries in AHw, 624.

¹⁶⁶ Cf. MSL 15, 5.

¹⁶⁷ For lack of explicit evidence (the relevant glosses are lost) the order of the reconstructed glosses for entries 004.01-5 and 6-10 respectively (PALIL-IGIŠTU) is based on the Ugarit parallel (note that the canonical version lacks IGI-DU=IGIŠTU).

¹⁶⁸ Reading of van Soldt (personal communication). Note that IGI-IGI baltu would be ‘goggle-eyed’.

¹⁶⁹ Based on the NA composite edition given in MSL 3, 3-45. The MSL text in turn is based on the composite text publication CT 11 1-5 (the constituent parts are given in CT 11 6-13) with additions from CT 12 32 and ZA 4 (1889) 394-5. Entries missing in CT were emended from the Kish school texts (OECT 4 5ff.).

¹⁷⁰ Discussion of OB divisional structure and listing of relevant sources in W.W. Hallo, ‘Notes from the Babylonian Collection, II: Old Babylonian HAR-ra’, JCS 34 (1982) 81-93, there 87.

¹⁷¹ Only the bilingual texts have a subdivision (3.1 equivalent to canonical III, 3.2 equivalent to IV-Va), the unilingual texts are given on single tablets.

¹⁷² In ana ittišu this entry is related to the preceding clause in 1113 with É.TA (‘out of the house’).

¹⁷³ Periodization follows the lexicological chronology given by Civil, ‘Ancient Mesopotamian Lexicography’, 2305. Succinct descriptions of the various series may be found in Cavigneux, ‘Lexikalische Listen’ and Civil, ‘Lexicography’.
