Uganda: postmarks

Version May 2017

Introduction

Postage stamps and related objects are miniature communication tools, and they tell a story about cultural and political identities and about artistic forms of identity expressions. They are part of the world's material heritage, and part of history. Ever more of this postal heritage becomes available online, published by stamp collectors' organizations, auction houses, commercial stamp shops, online catalogues, and individual collectors. Virtually collecting postage stamps and postal history has recently become a possibility. These working papers about Africa are examples of what can be done. But they are work-in-progress! Everyone who would like to contribute, by sending corrections, additions, and new area studies can do so by sending an email message to the APH editor: Ton Dietz (dietzaj@asc.leidenuniv.nl). You are welcome!

Uganda Districts (2010)

https://upload.wikimedia.org/wikipedia/commons/thumb/b/ba/Uganda_districts_2010.png/500px-Uganda_districts_2010.png : "Uganda is divided into 111 districts and one city (the capital city of Kampala), which are grouped into four administrative regions...Since 2005, the Ugandan government has been in the process of dividing districts into smaller units, with the most recent change in August 2010. This decentralization is intended to prevent resources from being distributed primarily to chief towns and leaving the remainder of each district neglected".

A note on sources

All illustrations can be found on internet sites, which are always given. An important source for this APH paper is www.postmarks.co.za, for which I am grateful. Frits Aab is the initiator of this magnificent source but it still is under construction. For Uganda he had reached Namulonge in early 2017. Other sources are auction sites (like Hamilton), or internet markets (like Ebay)
