Acknowledgements

First of all, thanks are due to the members of the European Labour Law Network for their ongoing and long term commitment. This first volume of the Restatement is the result of a joint effort by a unique group of labour law experts in Europe. The ideas offered and the comments made by the members helped immensely to set this project on its current trajectory.

Moreover, I would like to express my very great appreciation to Effrosyni Bakirtzi and Dr Marta Otto for their valuable and constructive suggestions during the planning and development of the Restatement project and for their support with editing this book. Lukas Straub and Jan Rummel adjusted the text to the publisher's house style. Hendric Stolzenberg joined the editing team late, but supported the project whole-heartedly. The proof-reader, Niki Rodousakis did a really great job in terms of improving the language.

I would like to extend my thanks to two former staff members: Christine Marburger played a crucial role in relaunching the Restatement project. Sylvia Wenzel, though not actively involved in the project, backed all activities.

My thanks also go to our project partners: the European Trade Union Confederation, the Confederation of German Employers' Associations, the European Association of Labour Court Judges, the European Employment Lawyers Association and the European Foundation for the Improvement of Living and Working Conditions.

Without the support provided by the European Commission, this volume would not have seen the light of day. I am grateful for their support and understanding. Last but certainly not least, thanks are due to Hart's editing team around Tom Adams. We could not have hoped for better partners.
