Acknowledgements

First and foremost, my thanks and appreciation go to Professor Patricia Spyer for persevering with me as my supervisor throughout the time it took me to complete the dissertation. I would like to thank those in Yayasan Jurnal Perempuan: Gadis Arivia, Adriana Venny, Nur Iman Subono, Ung Wijaksana, Budi Santi, Andith Wisnu, Yoke Sri Astuti, Aji, and other staff members; at Rahima: Ciciek Farha, Syaffiq Hasyim, kiai Hussein Muhammad, Aditiana Eridani, AD. Kusumaningtyas, Mufid Azis, and other staff members; at the State Office of Women's Empowerment: bapak Abdul Azis Hoessein, ibu Sofinas Asaari, and bapak Nono Sumardoyono Ronomihardjo; at Kalyanamitra: Hegel Terome; at Offstream: Lexy Junior Rambadetta; from Tifa: Hening Tyas Sutji; at Kompas: Ninuk Mardiana Pambudi and Maria Hartiningsih; and also ibu Musdah Mulia, Veven Wardhana, bang Ashadi Siregar, Yuniyanti Chuzaifah, and Amalinda Savirani.

I am thankful to the CNWS (Centre of Non-Western Studies) Research School that generously provided me with working space and facilities, and granted funding for my fieldwork. I would also like to thank those from the Indonesian Mediations project: Professor Ben Arps, Edwin Jurriens, Katinka van Heeren and Jos Janssen; and also Emma Baulch, Bart Barendregt, and Leena Avonius for the many valuable discussions we shared and their enduring friendships. I am also indebted to Professor Mark Hobart for his insightful comments and inspiring discussion of the proposal of this research.

I extend my gratitude to Fretty and Ellen, who assisted me during my fieldwork; to Joan Suyenaga, who meticulously edited my 'English' (Indonesian-English) and thoughtfully read, questioned and commented on the draft of the dissertation; and to Judith Bosnak who provided the Dutch translation for the summary, heel erg bedankt!

Thanks to friends who made my stay in Holland memorable: Huikian, Ida, Farid, the Suryadis, members of the 'leideners', Bregtje, Klarijn, Els Bogaerts, and Revi Soekatno. I would also like to express my gratitude to other people who are not mentioned but in one way or another have helped in writing this dissertation.

Thanks also to the Mangun Winoto family, a constant source of love, support and concern over all these years. My deepest appreciation goes to Djoko Madurianto Sunarto, whose support and faith enabled me to finish the dissertation, and last but not least, this dissertation is dedicated to Kivan Naresh Widiyoko, his presence has splashed colours upon the tedious process of finishing this dissertation.
