Title: Childcare in Chile. The role of ethnicity and socioeconomic inequalities

Issue Date: 2014-06-17

Dankwoord (Acknowledgements)

I would like to express my gratitude to the Corporación Municipal de Castro, CESFAM Villa Alegre de Temuco, and JUNJI Araucanía for their intensive collaboration as well as to all families who participated in the study. Similarly, I am really grateful to the School of Psychology of the Universidad Autónoma de Temuco and their students (today my colleagues) who worked really hard and walked a lot to collect the data everywhere.

I am also grateful for the support I received from the University of Magallanes in Chile, in particular from my colleagues of the School of Psychology. In Leiden I also felt more than supported at work. My special thanks go to Claudia and Frank, and Gea and Esther for being so helpful and kind. Bedankt voor alles.

Living abroad is a big challenge and full of uncertainty, but it was a marvelous experience due to the presence of very special new friends. Gracias por todo Maria José y René, Marian y Luis, Helena y Jeroen, Olivier y Mirjam, Marcelo y Julie.

Last but not least, I am very privileged to count with my -long term- friends Christian De la Harpe, Guido Bórquez, and Rodrigo Trujillo and their lovely families. I also very much appreciate the unconditional love from my family, specially Tamara y Rolando, Gladys-Carlos & hijas, and "The Cárcamos", I would like to extend special gratitude to my parents Ruperto & Lisette, my siblings, my in-laws Gastón & María Raquel, en mijn drie liefdes Anto, Agus & Ale.

Curriculum Vitae

Rodrigo Cárcamo was born on August 6, 1977 in Punta Arenas, Chile. In 1993 he completed his secondary education at the Liceo de Hombres de Puerto Montt. Subsequently, he studied Psychology at the Universidad Mayor in Temuco with a specialization in Educational Psychology (1995-2001). His graduate thesis was about the differences in learning strategies of Mapuche and non-Mapuche children. Later, he finished his Master's degree in Cognitive Psychology and Learning at the Universidad Autónoma de Madrid, taken in FLACSO Argentina. In 2006 he was appointed as a Lecturer at the University of Magallanes – Chile, where, as a Jefe de Carrera, he was responsible for the development and implementation of the Psychology program. In March 2010, he moved to the Netherlands to start his doctoral research at the Centre for Child and Family Studies, Leiden University. Currently he is Assistant Professor in the Department of Psychology at the University of Magallanes.
