Curriculum vitae

Nadia Sánchez Castillo-Winckels (Combarbalá, Chile, 1978) is a lawyer specializing in public international law. She obtained her undergraduate law degree (LL.B. equivalent) from the Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile. Nadia received her Juris Doctor degree from the Supreme Court of Chile in 2003. After practicing law for two years, Nadia was awarded a scholarship by the China Scholarship Council to study Chinese language and culture in Beijing. After successfully completing these studies, she worked as lecturer in public international law at the China Youth University of Political Studies and the University of International Business and Economics (UIBE), both in Beijing. She also coached teams of students participating in the Jessup International Law Moot Court competition at these universities. Additionally, Nadia worked as analyst at ProMexico and as research intern at ProChile, the export promotion bureaus of the Mexican and Chilean governments respectively located in Beijing.

In 2010, Nadia was awarded a scholarship by the Agencia Nacional de Investigación y Desarrollo (ANID, former CONICYT) to study the Advanced LL.M. in Public International Law at the Grotius Centre for International Legal Studies of Leiden University, specializing in Peace, Justice and Development. During this period, Nadia was a research intern at the IHE Delft Institute for Water Education. Her LL.M. thesis on the legal regime of the Nile River was published by the Netherlands International Law Review. In 2012, Nadia was awarded a scholarship by ANID to conduct PhD research at Leiden Law School. In the course of her PhD, Nadia served as research assistant to the International Law Commission Special Rapporteur on the Protection of the Atmosphere Professor Shinya Murase, became a member of the International Law Association's committee on the role of international law in sustainable natural resource management for development, and was a guest lecturer at UIBE. Nadia is author of solo and joint publications on issues relating to natural resource governance and sustainable development. She has presented her work at universities, conferences and workshops around the world.
