Curriculum Vitae

George Saad was born in Athens, Greece on September 30th, 1989. After graduating from the International School of Choueifat in Cairo, Egypt in 2007, he moved to the Netherlands and attended University College Utrecht. In 2010, he obtained a BA in Liberal Arts, following tracks in Development Studies, Economics, Anthropology, and Linguistics. For his BA final project, he interned at an NGO in Tanzania, and wrote a report on village banking schemes in the Kilimanjaro Region, Tanzania. In 2011, he began a Research Master's program at Radboud University Nijmegen, where he graduated in 2014 with an MA thesis on the Chicham language Shuar, for which he conducted three months of field research in the Ecuadorian Amazon. From 2011 to 2014, George worked as a student assistant at the Language and Cognition group of the MPI for Psycholinguistics in Nijmegen. In 2014, he started his PhD research at the Leiden University Centre for Linguistics as part of the NWO-funded VICI project Reconstructing the past through languages of the present: The Lesser Sunda Islands, led by Marian Klamer. He currently works as a post-doctoral researcher at the University of Amsterdam in the NWO-funded VIDI project Exceptions rule! Lexical conditions on grammatical structure, led by Eva van Lier, where he is conducting research on Kamang, a Timor-Alor-Pantar language.
