

Universiteit
Leiden
The Netherlands

Mastering the worst of trades : England's early Africa companies and their traders, 1618-1672

Svalastog, J.M.

Citation

Svalastog, J. M. (2018, September 19). Mastering the worst of trades : England's early Africa companies and their traders, 1618-1672. Retrieved from <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/65635>

Version: Not Applicable (or Unknown)

License: Licence agreement concerning inclusion of doctoral thesis in the Institutional Repository of the University of Leiden

Downloaded from: <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/65635>

Note: To cite this publication please use the final published version (if applicable).

Cover Page

Universiteit Leiden

The handle <http://hdl.handle.net/1887/65635> holds various files of this Leiden University dissertation.

Author: Svalastog, J.M.

Title: Mastering the worst of trades : England's early Africa companies and their traders, 1618-1672

Issue Date: 2018-09-19

Mastering the Worst of Trades:

England's early Africa companies and their traders, 1618-1672.

Proefschrift

ter verkrijging van de graad van Doctor aan de Universiteit Leiden op gezag van de Rector Magnificus prof. mr. C.J.J.M. Stolker, volgens besluit van het College voor Promoties
te verdedigen op woensdag 19 september 2018, klokke 11:15 uur

door

Julie Mo Svalastog

geboren te Drammen (Noorwegen)

in 1988

Promotor:

Prof. dr. C.A.P. Antunes (Universiteit Leiden)

Co-promotor:

Dr. W.A. Pettigrew (Kent University)

Promotiecommissie:

Prof.dr. D.A. Pargas (Universiteit Leiden)

Prof.dr. G.J. Oostindie (Universiteit Leiden)

Dr. F. Ribeiro da Silva (Internationaal Instituut voor Sociale Geschiedenis, Amsterdam)

Prof. dr. C.A. Davids (Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam)

Prof. dr. W. Klooster (Clark University)

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This thesis would not have seen completion without the invaluable help and support of friends, family and colleagues during these last four years. I am eternally grateful to my supervisor, Professor Catia Antunes, for her help, advice, drive, and support over the course of the project. Our team, and the lasting bond we have formed, must be credited to her, who put together a group - and created an environment - that inspired curiosity, thought and care. I am also grateful to my co-supervisor, Dr. William Pettigrew, for extending his help to me throughout, and bringing forth insightful and invaluable input on numerous drafts over the years.

I extend my sincerest gratitude to my team. Kaarle for his warm heart and support, Eli for her no-nonsense attitude and help, and to Edgar for his vast knowledge and good conversations. Work on the thesis and the time spent in Leiden, far from friends and family at home, would not have been possible without you. Thanks also to our extended team, to Kate, Erik, Joris, Bram and Hasan, for their help with drafts during Monday meetings and for great discussions over cake and Turkish Delights.

I am grateful to the University of Leiden and the people there, especially Jeannette, Sanne, Marion, Aniek, Damian and others, who have helped make my time there so special.

My sincere appreciation to the many colleagues who have offered their advice and feedback on my work through the years, to Susana and Joao Paolo, to Toby Green, Francisco Bethencourt, Ingrid de Zwarte, Jonne Harmsma, Lisa Hellman and many others. I have also had great support, good discussions, and much fun with Edmond, Aske and the rest of Will's team in London, working together in the archives and the British Library. Thanks also to the archivists and librarians there that have assisted me in the research.

Lastly, I owe the finishing of this thesis to my friends and family. To my parents, Inger and Tov, to my brother Vetle, to Christian, Christine, my grandparents Asbjørn and Vesla, Aud, and Gunnar. They have provided unending support, and unwavering faith in my abilities when I lost sight of them myself. My warmest thanks also to Åsa, Carro, Camilla and Kim who never stopped asking me to explain what it is I do, and for being so proud of me. Thank you to my dear friends Elin, Alice and Marlee, for understanding what a challenge writing a thesis is, and for offering Secret Bonus Options when I needed a break. Thanks to Tom, Josie, Sophie, Jesper, Cris, George, Luke and Hannah, for believing me every time I said I was almost finished.

The final thank you goes to my grandmother, Åse, for instilling in me an appreciation for the importance of history to our shared future, and to never accept “not knowing” as an excuse.

Tusen takk.