Acknowledgments

I would like to thank my supervisor Prof. Dr. Corinne Hofman. Without her guidance, I would not have been able to complete this work. I am grateful to the Netherlands Organization for Scientific Research (NWO) and the Island Networks Project for making this research possible.

I am especially thankful for the guidance of my co-supervisor Dr. Lewis Borck and for advice I received from Dr. Angus Mol, Dr. Andrzej Antczak, Dr. Arie Boomert, Dr. Jaime Pagán Jiménez, Dr. Marlena Antczak and Dr. Alexander Geurds. Maribel Adame Valero and Ilone de Vries-Lemaire who supported me through this process.

Jan Christoph Athenstädt (University of Konstanz) and Jan Hildenbrand, or as I like to refer to them Jan2, worked tirelessly on the route cost tool, and without them this research would not have been possible. A special thanks to Jan C. A. for checking my methods section to ensure the math was correct. I also appreciate the work of Dr. Viviana Amati (University of Konstanz) and Kirsten Ziesemer who helped me statistically analyze my results.

I owe a debt to Dr. Benoit Bérard (University of the Antilles and Guyane) for his help in understanding Caribbean canoe use. I am grateful for the support of the Karisko project and was very fortunate to work with several of the group's members, including Marcel Rapon, when I visited Martinique to take part in their canoe training exercises.

My officemate Floris Keehnen was, and is, amazing. As are the rest of my friends in the Netherlands: Felicia, Mariska, Roos, Phillipa, Jana, Eloise, Natalia, Eldris, Judith, Sam, Lou, Sony, Eduardo, Julian, Judith, Hayley, Katarina, Tom, Catarina, Marlieke, Andy, Jimmy, and Csilla. Thank you also to my friends outside the Netherlands: Nicola, Kathy, Liana, Katie, Kristin, Emily, Hannah, Julia, Patrick, and Sam. A special thanks to Alex who kept me sane and was the best travel buddy a woman could ask for. Also, to the Seattle-based brunch club who kept my spirits up on every trip home.

Thank you to my family in Florida, whom I love.

Most importantly, I would like to thank my parents. I am so grateful for everything you have done for me. Your investment in my education is a gift I can never repay. Your support has meant the world to me. I love you both.
