Universiteit
Leiden
The Netherlands

The Making of the Democratic Party. The Emergence of the Party Organizations of the German Social Democratic Workers' Party, the British National Liberal Federation and the Dutch Anti-Revolutionary Party, 1860s-1880s

Heyer, A.

Citation
Heyer, A. (2019, January 9). The Making of the Democratic Party. The Emergence of the Party Organizations of the German Social Democratic Workers' Party, the British National Liberal Federation and the Dutch Anti-Revolutionary Party, 1860s-1880s. Retrieved from https://hdl.handle.net/1887/67912

Version:	Not Applicable (or Unknown)
License:	Licence agreement concerning inclusion of doctoral thesis in the Institutional Repository of the University of Leiden
Downloaded from:	https://hdl.handle.net/1887/67912

Note: To cite this publication please use the final published version (if applicable).

Cover Page

Universiteit Leiden

Leiden University Repository

The following handle holds various files of this Leiden University dissertation:
http://hdl.handle.net/1887/67912

Author: Heyer, A.
Title: The Making of the Democratic Party
Issue Date: 2019-01-09

The Making of the Democratic Party

The Emergence of the Party Organizations of the German Social Democratic Workers' Party, the British National Liberal Federation and the Dutch Anti-Revolutionary Party, 1860s-1880s

Anne Heyer

The Making of the Democratic Party

The Emergence of Party of the Party Organizations of the German Social Democratic Workers' Party, the British National Liberal Federation and the Dutch Anti-Revolutionary Party, 1860s – 1880s

Proefschrift

ter verkrijging van de graad van Doctor aan de Universiteit Leiden, op gezag van Rector Magnificus prof. mr. C.J.J.M. Stolker, volgens besluit van het College voor Promoties te verdedigen op woensdag 9 januari 2019

klokke 11:15 uur

door

Anne Heyer

geboren te Magdeburg (Duitsland) in 1986

Promotor*:*

Prof. dr. H. te Velde

Co-promotor:

Dr. M. J. Janse

Promotiecommissie:

Prof. dr. B. Rieger

Prof. dr. I.C. van Biezen

Prof. Dr. S. Berger, Ruhr Universiät Bochum

Dr. P. Stamatov, Universidad Carlos III Madrid

Dr. J. W. Hoekstra, Universiteit Groningen

This dissertation was written as part of the research project "The Promise of Organization. Political Associations, 1820-1890, Debate and Practice" at the Institute for History at Leiden University and financed by the Netherlands Organization for Scientific Research (NWO).

Acknowledgements

They say that a PhD is a lonely journey, but I will always remember this time as one of great support. In German academia they use the word Doktorvater and -mutter to describe PhD supervisors. Henk te Velde and Maartje Janse have ensured that I reached scholarly adulthood in these past years. I am truly grateful for their inspiration, precision and, above all, willingness to believe in my abilities to succeed in- and outside academia.

My gratitude goes to the friends and colleagues without whom I would have never finished this project. Geerten Waling made project work a true pleasure. Honorata Mazepus and Elisabeth Dieterman showed me the beauty of studying democracy in more ways than I ever imagined. Carolien Boenders and Anne Petterson always had an open door for questions about vaderlandse geschiedenis, and life. Aniek Smit and Esther Zwinkels were my guides in the exotic land of Dutch academia.

My thanks also include the numerous colleagues who provided feedback and gezelligheid, especially but not exclusively: Adriaan van Veldhuizen, Adriejan van Veen, Albertine Bloemendal, Bart and Jasper van der Steen, Diederik Smit, Girija Joshi, Joris Gijsenbergh, Lauren Lauret, Marat Markert, Mark te Vries and Onni Pekonen. I am grateful for the Section Vaderlandse Geschiedenis and the Political Legitimacy Profile Area for giving me an academic home. I owe the people of d|part for their warm company in studying political participation.

I would like to thank the doctoral committee for detailed and inspiring comments. Peter Stamatov for generously giving me the time to finish this project in a meaningful way. Willem van Rooijen has provided the layout.

I would like to thank Minte Kamphuis, Sabrina Otterloo, Coreline Boots, Fransje Molenaar and Francoise Baggeler for being true friends after leaving academia. Margriet Wagner, Teresa Haberland and Yulya Mysyuk listened to wild theories about party formation under the precedent of “just having drinks”.

My gratitude goes to my parents Karola and Matthias Heyer whose encouragement to remain curious and stay stubborn made me the scholar who is writing these lines today. My sister and brother whose heroic approach to life is an inspiration. My wider Dutch and German family always had an open door.

And finally, I thank Jan Geraets who has been so brave to travel all the tops and down of this journey with me, provided excellent culinary supplies and never suggested to choose a less difficult road.

Contents

Introduction 1

1. Political Parties and Representative Democracy 1

2. Historical Comparison 6

3. Three Early Party Organizations 9

4. Sources 16

5. Dissertation Structure 16

I. A New Perspective on Party Emergence 19

1. "Powerful Unity" 19

2. The Agency of Party Founders 20

3. Industrialization and Suffrage Rights 23

4. Organizing as a Transnational Phenomenon 31

5. The Organizational Model of the Anti-Corn Law League 34

6. The Rise of Party Founders 38

7. An Alternative Explanation of Early Party Organizations 41

II. Education: The Missing Link between Association and Party 43

1. Opposition to Political Organization 43

2. Dutch Anti-School Law League 45

2.1 Contested Political Protest 45

2.2 Two Roads to the Christian School 50

3. Federation of German Workers' Associations 54

3.1 Education as a Uniting Frame 54

3.2 Two National Organizations for German Workers 57

3.3 Politicization 62

4. British National Education League 68

4.1 Birmingham and the Caucus 68

4.2 Solving the Democratic Problem of the Nation 73

5. Justifying Party Organization 75

III. Representation in the Making 77

1. Three Founding Assemblies 77

2. The Congress of the German SDAP 80

2.1 Turmoil in Eisenach 80

2.2 In Search of the Best Organizational Model 83

3. The Conference of the British NLF 87

3.1 Celebratory Gathering in Birmingham 87

3.2 The Danger of Manipulation 91

4. The Gathering of the Preliminary Central Committee of the ARP 96

4.1 Democrats against Aristocrats in Utrecht 96

4.2 The "Sensitive" Party Leader 99

5. The Meaning of Representative Procedures 102

IV. Mobilizing and Disciplining 105

1. Political Community as Family 105

2. Charismatic Representation in the Dutch ARP 106

2.1 Popular Mobilization through Paternalistic Leadership 106

2.2 Resistance to Party Discipline 109

3. Procedural Representation in the German SDAP 112

3.1 Party Organization under Pressure 112

3.2 Internal Power Struggle 114

3.3 The Disciplining Strength of the Brotherly Community 118

3.3 A Close Community of Brave Men 120

4. Hybrid Representation in the British NLF 124

4.1 Master and Darling of his Town 124

4.2 The Great Party Split 128

5. Three Models of Party Organization 132

V. The Role of Elections 135

1. The Illusion of Electoral Efficiency? 135

2. The Myth of the Electoral Machine: the British NLF 137

2.1 The Power of Disciplined Organization 137
2.2 The Rebellious Side of Mass Mobilization 141
3. Elections as a Mechanism for Internal Consolidation: the Dutch ARP 145
3.1 A Future in "Darkness"? 145
3.2 The Party in Parliament vs. the Party in the Land 149
4. Parliament as a Stage: the German SDAP 152
4.1 A Revolutionary Party's Perspective on Elections 152
4.2 Liebknecht's Usefulness Principle 154
4.3 Internal Opposition to Reichstag Participation 158
5. The Internal Function of Elections 161

VI. Conclusion 165
1. Transnational Dimensions of Party Formation 166
2. Education as the Missing Link 167
3. The Founding Process of Early Party Organizations 169
4. Three Models of Representation 170
5. The Functions of Elections 172
6. The Crisis of the Democratic Party? 173

Bibliography and Archives 177
Archives 177
Newspapers 178
Published Sources 179
Source Editions 181
Bibliography 183

Appendix 202

Nederlandse Samenvatting 205

Curriculum vitae 213