

Universiteit
Leiden
The Netherlands

The rise of the Köprülü family: the reconfiguration of vizierial power in the seventeenth century

Bekar, C.

Citation

Bekar, C. (2019, March 6). The rise of the Köprülü family: the reconfiguration of vizierial power in the seventeenth century. Retrieved from <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/69483>

Version: Not Applicable (or Unknown)

License: Licence agreement concerning inclusion of doctoral thesis in the Institutional Repository of the University of Leiden

Downloaded from: <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/69483>

Note: To cite this publication please use the final published version (if applicable).

Cover Page

Universiteit Leiden

The handle <http://hdl.handle.net/1887/69483> holds various files of this Leiden University dissertation.

Author: Bekar C.

Title: The rise of the Köprülü family: the reconfiguration of vizierial power in the seventeenth century

Issue Date: 2019-03-06

Curriculum Vitae

Cumhur Bekar was born on 30 October 1982 in Adana, Turkey. He earned his BA from the department of history at Ankara University in 2006. He continued his academic pursuits at Boğaziçi University, where he completed his thesis A New Perception of Rome, Byzantium and Constantinople Hezarfen Huseyin's Universal History and received his M.A degree in 2011. He worked as research assistant in the same university during the years 2008-2010. Later, he worked as researcher in a film production company.

He started his PhD at Leiden University in 2013, where he worked as a researcher to the project 'Eurasian Empires', funded by NOW (Dutch National Research Organization), which was cooperation with the University of Amsterdam and Nijmegen University. While part of this program he was supervised by Prof. Jeroen Duindam and Prof. Metin Kunt, resulting in the present dissertation. He was a visiting fellow at Center for Middle Eastern Studies, Harvard University in 2015. While at Harvard, he was supervised by Prof. Cemal Kafadar.