ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It has been a privilege to complete my Ph.D. research with the support of so many wonderful people.

My gratitude first and foremost goes out to Prof. Nico Schrijver, my ‘promotor’. You have expressed faith in me and supported me in every step of this process, as well as in my personal voyage. Nico, I thank you: both for this support, and for always managing to challenge me on the content of the thesis. This appreciation similarly goes out to Dr. Robert Heinsch. Your critical comments and willingness to always discuss my questions and thoughts have improved my work and kept me going through various stages of the research: thank you.

Next to Leiden University, this thesis was written at various stages while visiting Tel Aviv University. I am grateful for the support of Prof. Eyal Benvenisti in giving me an academic home away from home, and for his insightful comments on my manuscript as a member of the Ph.D. committee.

Many thanks of course also go to the other members of the committee: Prof. Willem van Genugten, Prof. Cedric van Ryngaert, Dr. Heike Spieker, Prof. Horst Fischer and Prof. Carsten Stahn for their perceptive comments. You have given me the opportunity to improve myself.

My sincere recognition also goes to the people behind the Gieskes-Strijbis Fund, for their continuous interest in the protection of those in need, resulting in their generous support of this Ph.D. research.

At a personal level, my deep, deep thanks go out to my parents, both of whom have spent many an hour supporting the positive outcome of this project. Parental love is immeasurable. Similarly Steffi, I want to thank you for your steadfast faith in me, and always reminding me of that of opa. Robert Jan: thank you for your brotherly advice and technical support, often supplemented of course by Niene. Our discussions have always helped shape my thoughts.

Words cannot express how honoured I am to have so many wonderful friends, my ‘adoptive family’, who have always cheered me on and believed in the outcome of this project. I am a better friend, researcher and person because of you. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for being there for the hope, the despair and all the chapters in between. In particular my appreciation goes out to Lotte, as well as to Marianne, Jessica, Lisa, Pauline, Rogier, Tali, Ranish, Olga, Denise, Jorrit, Tess and Esther. Many thanks also of course to all those I do not name as space is running out – you know who you are!

I would furthermore especially like to thank my dear colleagues at Leiden University. My two roommates Daniëlla and Hanna made me look forward to coming to work every day in the otherwise often lonely process of writing a Ph.D. thesis. The rest of the group has also always made my days in Leiden joyful and only upon leaving did I truly realise what I had: thanks to all and in particular Vid, Ruben, Cecily, Erik, Helen, Niels, Andrea, Luca, Mette and of course the ladies across the hall from my office, Esther, and Wendy for her editorial work! Stefanie: I am glad you jumped on board when I brainstormed the idea of organising a conference together. It was one of the most fulfilling experiences I have had whilst working on my Ph.D., and I am happy we had the opportunity to share it. Thanks also of course to those who have shared my lunches and coffees at TAU, especially Keren, Mirjam, Masua and Myriam – it has been a pleasure sharing my days working on the thesis with you.

And so, it comes to an end. The thesis has been completed. I am grateful to have been surrounded by so many wonderful people during this process. I thank you all.
