

Universiteit
Leiden
The Netherlands

'Precarize' and divide: Iranian workers from the 1979 Revolution to the 2009 Green Movement

Morgana, M.S.

Citation

Morgana, M. S. (2021, March 31). 'Precarize' and divide: Iranian workers from the 1979 Revolution to the 2009 Green Movement. Retrieved from <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/3151771>

Version: Publisher's Version

License: Licence agreement concerning inclusion of doctoral thesis in the Institutional Repository of the University of Leiden

Downloaded from: <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/3151771>

Note: To cite this publication please use the final published version (if applicable).

Cover Page

Universiteit Leiden

The handle <http://hdl.handle.net/1887/3151771> holds various files of this Leiden University dissertation.

Author: Morgana, M.S.

Title: 'Precarize' and divide: Iranian workers from the 1979 Revolution to the 2009 Green Movement

Issue date: 2021-03-31

“PRECARIZE” AND DIVIDE:
Iranian Workers from the 1979 Revolution
to the 2009 Green Movement

Maria Stella Morgana

Cover photo by M. Stella Morgana (Tehran, 2017)

Printed by ProefschriftMaken – Leiden, The Netherlands

© 2021 M. Stella Morgana, Leiden, the Netherlands

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means without prior permission from the copyright owner.

“PRECARIZE” AND DIVIDE:
Iranian Workers from the 1979 Revolution
to the 2009 Green Movement

Proefschrift

ter verkrijging van de graad van Doctor aan de Universiteit Leiden, op gezag van Rector Magnificus prof.dr.ir. H. Bijl, volgens besluit van het College voor Promoties te verdedigen op 31 maart 2021
klokke 16.15 uur

Door
Maria Stella Morgana

geboren te Catania, Italië in 1984

Promotor

Prof. dr. Marlou Schrover

Co-promotor

Dr. Maaïke Warnaar

Promotiecommissie

Prof. dr. Arshin Adib-Moghaddam (SOAS University of London)

Prof. dr. Gabrielle van den Berg (Leiden University)

Prof. dr. Asghar Seyed-Gohrab (Leiden University & Utrecht University)

Dr. Crystal Ennis (Leiden University)

Dr. Peyman Jafari (Princeton University)

Table of Contents

PREFACE	IX
NOTE ON TRANSLITERATION	IX
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	X
INTRODUCTION	1
IRANIAN LABOR AND WORKERS IN THE ACADEMIC DEBATE	4
THEORETICAL REFLECTIONS: LINKING HEGEMONY AND DISCOURSE	14
WORKERS IN CONTEXT: DISCOURSES OF SOCIAL JUSTICE AND THE LEFT BEFORE THE REVOLUTION	18
CHAPTERS' SYNOPSIS	26
CHAPTER 1
THE POLITICS OF FIELDWORK:
RESEARCH CHALLENGES AND RISKS IN IRAN	30
INTRODUCTION	30
NAVIGATING THE CONCEPTUALIZATION OF FIELD RESEARCH IN A "CLOSED" CONTEXT	33
WHAT ARE THE CHALLENGES? IT IS A MATTER OF QUESTIONS	37
DEALING WITH THE "CLIMATE OF SUSPICION," OBSTACLES AND FAILURES IN THE FIELD	39
SITUATING KNOWLEDGE PRODUCTION: REFLECTIONS ON POSITIONALITY AND ITS INFLUENCE	43
SUBJECTIVITIES AND PEOPLE'S AGENCY AT THE CENTER	48
BEFORE AND DURING FIELDWORK: GAINING ACCESS, ENTERING TRUSTED NON-ELITE NETWORKS	51
AFTER AND BEYOND FIELD-RESEARCH: HOW I ANSWERED MY RESEARCH QUESTIONS	54
CONCLUSION	56
CHAPTER 2
PREPARING FOR THE '79 REVOLUTION FROM PARIS:
KHOMEINI'S DISCOURSE ON THE IRANIAN LEFT AND WORKERS	58
INTRODUCTION	58
DISCLOSING KHOMEINI'S DISCURSIVE STRATEGIES: FROM RESPONSE TO ACTION	62
CONSTRUCTING THE ENEMY WHILE BUILDING A COMMUNITY: OCTOBER CHRONICLES	65
ENVISAGING THE ISLAMIC REPUBLIC: WHAT WAS AT STAKE FOR THE LEFT? THE NOVEMBER SHIFT	74
WALKING TOWARDS VICTORY: KHOMEINI'S GOAL-ORIENTED STRATEGY IN DECEMBER	85
ORGANIZING THE IRI BEFORE GOING BACK: THE STRATEGIES OF OSTRACISM AND EXCLUSION	89
CONCLUSION	93

CHAPTER 3

THE LANGUAGE OF RESISTANCE:

THE IRANIAN REVOLUTION IN WORKERS' WORDS AND SLOGANS	97
INTRODUCTION.....	97
CONSTRUCTING A COUNTER-HEGEMONIC DISCOURSE.....	101
1978-1979 WORKERS' STRIKES: A TIMELINE THROUGH STATEMENTS.....	103
"UNITY," "FREEDOM FROM DICTATORSHIP" AND "FOREIGN INTERFERENCE": THE SLOGANS	116
SELF-DEFINITIONS AND MEMORIES FROM THE REVOLUTION.....	122
CONCLUSION.....	125

CHAPTER 4

TALKING TO WORKERS: FROM KHOMEINI TO AHMADINEJAD, HOW THE ISLAMIC REPUBLIC'S DISCOURSE ON LABOR CHANGED

THROUGH MAY DAY SPEECHES (1979-2009)	128
INTRODUCTION.....	128
DISCOURSE AS A TOOL OF POWER: LINKING LINGUISTIC CONSTRUCTIONS AND KNOWLEDGE.....	130
LABOR AS A MANIFESTATION OF ALLAH, WORKERS AS "WARRIORS" IN THE ISLAMIC DOMAIN	132
WORK AS A WEAPON AGAINST CAPITALISM AND IMPERIALISM FOR THE COMMUNITY OF BELIEVERS	138
MARGINALIZING WORKERS' DAY: THE PATH TO ECONOMIC LIBERALIZATION	140
THE ISLAMIC-IRANIAN RHETORIC OF CULTURAL LIBERALIZATION ADDRESSING THE MIDDLE CLASS....	147
JUSTICE, THE ALLEGIANCE OF THE PEOPLE AND REPRESSION: AHMADINEJAD'S CONTRADICTIONS....	152
CONCLUSION.....	158

CHAPTER 5

TRAJECTORIES OF RESISTANCE AND SHIFTING FORMS

OF WORKERS' ACTIVISM (1979-2009).....	162
INTRODUCTION.....	162
THE POLITICS OF RESISTANCE	164
COLLECTIVE ACTIONS AND COUNTER-CONDUCT: PATHS OF DEFIANCE	166
HOW WORKERS EMERGED AS REVOLUTIONARIES IN 1978-79 AND CONSOLIDATED IN THE 1980s.....	168
NEGOTIATING SPACES FOR STRUGGLE AGAINST LIBERALIZATION POLICIES IN THE 1990s.....	175
RESISTING PRECARIETY AND ISOLATION IN THE REFORMIST ERA (1997-2005).....	181
COPING WITH AHMADINEJAD'S CRACKDOWN: STRUGGLE, INFORMAL ACTIVISM AND THE INTERNET ..	185
CONCLUSION.....	188

CHAPTER 6

“PRODUCE” AND “CONSUME” IN THE ISLAMIC REPUBLIC:

THE 90S’ MYTH OF THE WINNER AND ITS IMPACT ON WORKERS..... 191

INTRODUCTION	191
ANALYSIS OF REPRESENTATION: FRAMING CHANGE AND PROJECTING SUCCESS THROUGH DISCOURSE	194
“VEILED CAPITALISTS?” IN CONTEXT: THE “SECOND REPUBLIC” ON THE ROAD TO PRODUCTION	197
A CURE FOR PAIN IN DISCOURSE: ECONOMIC AND INDUSTRIAL “ACHIEVEMENTS”	201
MARGINALIZING WORKERS DISCURSIVELY AND LEGALLY	203
CONSTRUCTING THE “SUCCESSFUL” THROUGH A CULTURE OF COMPETITION	206
YOUTH AS AN ELEMENT FUNCTIONAL TO THE NEOLIBERAL PROJECT	208
CONNECTING SPACES: THE MODES OF MIDDLE CLASSES AND URBAN TRANSFORMATIONS	211
CONCLUSION	212

CHAPTER 7

LAGGING BEHIND: LABOR PRECARIZATION, CIVIL SOCIETY AND

THE KHĀNEH-YE-KĀRGAR’S DISCOURSES IN THE REFORMIST ERA 216

INTRODUCTION	216
THE MULTIFUNCTIONAL ARENA OF CIVIL SOCIETY IN A GRAMSCIAN UNDERSTANDING	218
KHATAMI’S QUEST FOR THE RULE OF LAW AND CIVIL SOCIETY	221
UNPROTECTED ERGO INVISIBLE: CORNERING WORKERS, SEEKING TO REFORM THE LABOR LAW	225
THE WORKERS’ HOUSE UNDER THE MAGNIFYING GLASS	229
RIGHTS AND PARTICIPATION IN KĀR-O-KĀRGAR	232
CONCLUSION	238

CHAPTER 8

THE GREEN MOVEMENT VIS-À-VIS WORKERS: MISSING CONNECTIONS

AND BREAKING POINTS WITHIN THE 2009 UPRISING..... 241

INTRODUCTION	241
NAVIGATING THE BREAKING POINTS: BETWEEN DISCOURSE AND COLLECTIVE AWARENESS	244
FROM THE ELECTIONS TO THE STREETS: CHRONOLOGY OF AN UPRISING	247
EVOLVING SLOGANS, FRAGILE IDENTITIES	253
WORKERS, SOCIAL JUSTICE AND THE GREENS	262
CONCLUSION	268

CONCLUSION	271
BIBLIOGRAPHY	278
SAMENVATTING	301
CURRICULUM VITAE	305

PREFACE

Chapter 1 will appear in Middle East Critique, with minor editing changes.

Chapter 4's text is published in Iranian Studies, with minor editing changes.

Chapter 5's text is forthcoming in International Labor and Working-Class History journal, with minor editing changes.

Chapter 6's main corpus is a longer version of the article published in the International Journal for Middle East Studies.

Chapter 7's core sections will appear in a chapter in The Rule of Law and the Politics of the Judiciary in Contemporary Iran, edited by Hadi Enayat and Mirjam Künkler (Cambridge University Press, forthcoming 2021).

NOTE ON TRANSLITERATION

The transliteration of Persian words follows the scheme suggested by the Iranian Studies Association and Journal, with diacritical marks for long vowels.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

In Persian they say dast-o-del-baz. Those who are generous have their hand and their heart open. This labor of research, which is primarily a labor of love, is dedicated to all the generous people who have accompanied me throughout these four years. I am thankful to my supervisor, Marlou Schrover, for guiding me through every single step of my PhD journey with patience, academic rigor, and sincere support. I cannot express sufficient gratitude to my co-supervisor, Maaïke Warnaar, who has always pushed me to ask inconvenient questions as a scholar, while making me a better human being. Her mentorship has been crucial to the development of this project.

I have to acknowledge an immense debt of gratitude to all those who dedicated their time to my research in various forms: by sharing their knowledge and their experience, but also by opening their homes, their lives, and their memories to me. Some of them need to remain anonymous, but they are the core and the essence of this work.

Without the support of Ebrahim Mahmoudi and Fatemeh Sadeghi I would not have been able to even start my research stay in Tehran as a visiting doctoral researcher at Tarbiat Modarres University. They helped me through the emotional and bureaucratic process, they pushed me to see the broader picture and taught me how to laugh at myself while persisting in my struggles. In particular, Ebi's sense of humour, along with countless cups of tea, laughs and discussions on Gramsci, Italian cinema, Iranian history and politics in the university courtyard helped me navigate four seasons of intense archival research and interviews in Tehran. Hashem Aghajari welcomed me at Tarbiat Modarres with courage and generosity, as he shared his memories with me throughout the period of my stay at university. I will never forget our hours of conversation in his office, and his immense kindness and knowledge. Mohammad Maljoo stimulated crucial reflections on the labor realm in Iran, and challenged my research questions when this dissertation was still a blurry outline, while nurturing my curiosity and pushing me to sharpen my critical enquiry. Arshin Adib-Moghaddam served as an inspiration and guide through the months I spent at SOAS University of London. I profoundly benefited from his insights. My academic growth and progress would have been missing a fundamental component had I not met Paola Rivetti. She sharpened my critical approach to Iranian contemporary politics and inspired me to keep walking and studying, always standing on my own two feet. Shirin Saedi encouraged me to write and dream bigger. From Marina Calculli I learned how to toughen my academic stance, while following my own passions and never forgetting to help others in the process of learning. I was incredibly fortunate to participate in the conference “The Iranian Revolution as a world event” in Amsterdam in December 2018 organized by Peyman Jafari, whose work on labor in Iran has been an example and a trigger to begin trekking my own path as a researcher. During that event, I met Behrooz Ghamari-Tabrizi, Negar Mottahedeh, and Naghmeh Sohrabi, who generously shared fundamental ideas and insights. Since then, Negar has represented special source of inspiration. Ghoncheh Tazmini graciously pushed me to believe in myself from the very first time I shared a panel with her in Turin. She always laid to rest my impostor syndrome whenever I felt stuck in the writing process and London’s winter seemed too difficult to bear after years spent between the warm chaos of Tehran and Palermo, the Italian city where I live. A big thanks goes to Judy Nagle who scoured every sentence of this dissertation with patience and efficiently enhanced my English.

I owe my entire research and my growth as a human being throughout the years spent on this research project to the insights, the smiles, the dinners, and the hours spent together with special friends in Tehran, Esfahan, Naples, Palermo, Rome, Leiden and London. Nassim Marashi and Hesam Eslami always made me feel at home, even when I felt lost. Saideh Ghavasi’s brilliant mind and special humour helped me through the process of learning a Persian that went beyond the daily needs of life. Mandana Afshari’s immense kindness prevented me from giving up on the Iranian sources I was reading when I felt overwhelmed. Her smile shed light on the darkest days of improving my Persian. Faeze Z. has simply been my sister in Iran since 2007. Narges K. and Morteza V. have generously provided help and support at any time. With Milad S., Nilufar N., Nazanin M., Hadiseh B., Mohammad M., Pooya A., Amin H., Soudeh B. and Fereshteh S. I shared hours travelling and exploring Iran, off the beaten track. Without our long trekking trips, “bum gardi,” jokes, and games sleeping on the floor, my life in Iran would have missed the real sense of the expression dast-o-del-baz. Rassa Ghaffari has been the best partner in crime for sharing not only gaffes, jokes, and readings, but also the awkward experiences of being a young woman conducting research in Iran. Augusto D., Faraaz M., Hajir M., Anahita N. and Alessandro D. supported me to stay positive, strong and smiling even when I encountered hostile responses during my stays in Tehran. Soheil D., Mostafa A. and Mehdi B. represented the best friends I could wish for to navigate Iranian cultural life with, through art, poems and music. They trained me to join the dots and go beyond apparent certainties. Sara F., Alfonso B., Isa S., Nicola D.G, and Matteo M. made my London months unique. Astrid B., Inge S., Tanja K., Peppe C., Valentina V., and Meagan H. have been the source of my strength throughout my years in Leiden, especially in the first phase of this project. Marta B. and Chiara D. have been my angels in Palermo.

I have reached the finish line thanks to my big family of special friends who have been on my side for the last fifteen or twenty years: Assunta C., Valentina M., Romina D., Anna Michela G., Rossella I., Claudia S., Filippo B., and Giulia A.. No words can explain how much I owe to them. To my mum, Pinuccia and my dad, Ignazio, I will be eternally grateful. They instilled within me the seeds of curiosity, modesty and love for every human being. They worked so hard every day of their life to guarantee my education. To my brother, Simone, my sister, Valentina, and my nieces and nephews Matteo, Giorgia, Samuele, Niccolò and Emma: your smiles remind me every day how wildly capable and uniquely united we all are as a family. To my grandmother Gina, who never had the opportunity to study and could barely write her first name, I dedicate this dissertation. She has been the best mentor I have ever had, as I will never forget her teachings on street politics and rules in Sicily when I was just a little kid.

Last and not least, there is my rock, my love, my lover, my best friend, my biggest challenger and my greatest supporter: Antonio. Thanks for existing and for staying in my life.