Title: Dear future me: behavioral and neural mechanisms underlying self-concept development in relation to educational decision-making in adolescence

Issue date: 2021-06-15

A child in a dark blue dress stands at the end of a winding path that leads to a bright, circular opening in a dark blue tunnel. The path is composed of various textures and colors: a brown stone-like pattern, a grey textured path, a blue path, and a large, flowing orange and pink path. The background is a dark blue space with small white stars and a larger white star at the top. The overall mood is contemplative and hopeful.
