

Universiteit
Leiden
The Netherlands

Migrant rights, voting, and resocialization: suffrage in Chile and Ecuador, 1925-2020

Finn, V.J.

Citation

Finn, V. J. (2021, September 16). Migrant rights, voting, and resocialization: suffrage in Chile and Ecuador, 1925-2020. Retrieved from <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/3210897>

Version: Publisher's Version

License: Licence agreement concerning inclusion of doctoral thesis in the Institutional Repository of the University of Leiden

Downloaded from: <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/3210897>

Note: To cite this publication please use the final published version (if applicable).

Cover Page

Universiteit Leiden

The handle <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/3210897> holds various files of this Leiden University dissertation.

Author: Finn, V.J.

Title: Migrant rights, voting, and resocialization: suffrage in Chile and Ecuador, 1925-2020

Issue Date: 2021-09-16

Curriculum Vitae

Victoria Finn was born on March 18, 1986, in Pittsfield, MA, in the United States. In 2007, she earned a Bachelor of Arts in Spanish and minor in Business Administration from the University of Central Florida and in 2013 attained a Master of Arts in International Affairs from the Elliott School of International Affairs at the George Washington University. She has worked in research centers, policy institutes, and international organizations in seven countries. She is currently a resident Visiting Doctoral Fellow at Tallinn University, Estonia, and an Affiliated Researcher at the Instituto de Investigación en Ciencias Sociales (Institute for Research in the Social Sciences) at the Universidad Diego Portales, Chile. She serves as an elected Co-Convener for the European Consortium for Political Research (ECPR) Standing Group on Migration and Ethnicity and elected Executive Council Officer for the American Political Science Association (APSA) Migration and Citizenship Section. She researches migrant political participation, (non)citizenship, and South American migration governance. Her publications appear in Citizenship Studies, International Political Science Review, and Latin American Policy, among others. In September 2021, she will begin her post-doctoral position within the Global Citizenship research area at the European University Institute, Italy, as a Max Weber Fellow.