

Spanish-English contact in the Falkland Islands: an ethnographic approach to loanwords & place names

Rodriguez Gutiérrez, Y.V.

Citation

Rodriguez Gutiérrez, Y. V. (2022, June 14). Spanish-English contact in the Falkland Islands: an ethnographic approach to loanwords & place names. LOT dissertation series. LOT, Amsterdam. Retrieved from https://hdl.handle.net/1887/3348457

Version: Publisher's Version

License: License agreement concerning inclusion of doctoral thesis in the Institutional

Repository of the University of Leiden

Downloaded from: https://hdl.handle.net/1887/3348457

Note: To cite this publication please use the final published version (if applicable).

Curriculum vitae

Yliana V. Rodríguez was born on July 2nd, 1983, in Montevideo, Uruguay. She obtained a Bachelor of Arts degree in Linguistics from Universidad de la República, and a Master of Arts in Human Sciences from the same Uruguayan University. During her studies, she has had academic training in L'Aquila University, Saint Petersburg State University, University of Amsterdam, University of Kiel, as well as in the International School for Advanced Studies (SISSA) in Trieste. Conducting her Ph.D. research involved fieldwork in the Falklands which she did twice accompanied by her 1-year-old son. Yliana has participated in dozens of linguistic conferences and published a number of peer-reviewed articles in prestigious journals and edited volumes. At present, she works in the Centre for Foreign Languages of Universidad de la República, in Montevideo.