Correction

Nootboom et al. (2020) was published with an incorrect citation provided. The original text cites:

“A lack of access and availability negatively influences the care processes, for example by lowering attendance for appointments [21–52].” (p.8)

The citation at the end of this sentence should only cite references 21 and 52, not the full range. The correct sentence reads:

“A lack of access and availability negatively influences the care processes, for example by lowering attendance for appointments [21, 52].”
