Curriculum Vitae

Daniel William Carter was born in 1985 in Southampton, England. He studied Sociology and Criminology at the University of Brighton, graduating with honours in 2008. In 2010, he was admitted to the Graduate Diploma in Law (GDL) at the University of Bournemouth, graduating in 2011 with Distinction, receiving the highest overall grade in his cohort. In 2014, Daniel studied for an LLM in European Law at Leiden University, graduating cum laude in 2015. During his studies, Daniel participated in the European Law Moot Court (ELMC) competition. He and his team, One Directive, won the prize for Best Written Memorials and won the Prague Regional Final, eventually finishing Runners Up in the All-European Final at the Court of Justice of the European Union in Luxembourg.

In August 2015, Daniel started reading for a PhD in European Law at Leiden Law School, under the supervision of Prof. Christa Tobler and Dr. Moritz Jesse. Alongside his PhD, Daniel acted as Academic Coordinator for the Advanced LLM in European and International Business Law. He was also a coach for the Leiden European Law Moot Court teams.

Daniel's PhD research focuses on the area of the free movement of persons in the European Union, in particular the protection of those engaged in modern forms of employment. His research more widely looks at social integration in the EU and the value and enforcement of social rights within the EU legal order. Daniel has numerous publications in academic journals and books.

Alongside his academic career, Daniel currently works as an Employment Consultant and Labour Market Analyst in the area of civil litigation, providing independent expert evidence on employment and labour market matters before the English, Scottish, and Irish civil courts.
