

Universiteit
Leiden
The Netherlands

Hello, who is this? The relationship between linguistic and speaker-dependent information in the acoustics of consonants

Smorenburg, B.J.L.

Citation

Smorenburg, B. J. L. (2023, June 28). Hello, who is this?: The relationship between linguistic and speaker-dependent information in the acoustics of consonants. LOT dissertation series. LOT, Amsterdam. Retrieved from <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/3627840>

Version: Publisher's Version

License: Licence agreement concerning inclusion of doctoral thesis in the Institutional Repository of the University of Leiden

Downloaded from: <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/3627840>

Note: To cite this publication please use the final published version (if applicable).

Curriculum Vitae

Laura Smorenburg was born in 1992 in Tiel, The Netherlands. She finished her secondary education at O.R.S. Lek en Linge in 2010. The following year, she spent travelling in Australia and New Zealand, after which she decided to study English. She obtained her BA in English language and culture from Utrecht University in 2015 with a thesis on the acquisition of sarcastic prosody in Dutch learners of English. Laura continued to develop her interest in linguistics with a research MA in linguistics at Utrecht University. During her MA, she was a research intern at the Joint Centre of Language, Mind and Brain at the Chinese University of Hong Kong where she researched the role of language experience in the perception of lexical tones in infants. In 2017, Laura graduated cum laude from her MA, with a dissertation on the role of female pitch and formants in verbal processing. The following year, she was a lecturer in English language and linguistics and Utrecht University. In 2018, Laura started working as a PhD candidate at Leiden University Centre for Linguistics in dr. Willemijn Heeren's NWO-funded VIDI project The speaker in speech. Currently, Laura is a lecturer in English language and linguistics and researcher at Utrecht University.