

Universiteit
Leiden

The Netherlands

The silenced paradoxes of urban renewal: morality, welfare reconfiguration and precarious labour in Collective Food Procurement in Turin

Vasile, M.

Citation

Vasile, M. (2023, September 6). The silenced paradoxes of urban renewal: morality, welfare reconfiguration and precarious labour in Collective Food Procurement in Turin. Retrieved from <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/3638588>

Version: Publisher's Version

License: Licence agreement concerning inclusion of doctoral thesis in the Institutional Repository of the University of Leiden

Downloaded from: <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/3638588>

Note: To cite this publication please use the final published version (if applicable).

The silenced paradoxes of urban renewal
Morality, welfare reconfiguration and precarious labour in Collective Food Procurement in Turin

Proefschrift

ter verkrijging van
de graad van doctor aan de Universiteit Leiden, op gezag van rector magnificus prof.dr.ir. H. Bijl, volgens besluit van het college voor promoties
te verdedigen op woensdag 6 september 2023
klokke 10.00 uur

door
Maria Vasile geboren te Pietrasanta (Lucca) in 1992.

Promotor:

Prof.dr. Cristina Grasseni

Co-promotor:

Dr. Erik Bähre

Promotiecommissie:

Prof.dr. Paul Wouters (Decaan/voorzitter)

Prof.dr. Bart Barendregt

Prof.dr. Marja Spierenburg

Dr. Carlo Capello (University of Turin)

Dr. Jessica Duncan (Wageningen University)

This project received funding from the European Research Council (ERC) under the European Union's Horizon 2020 research and innovation programme (grant agreement No 724151)

*Per Hajar,
per una Torino che sia a misura dei tuoi bisogni
o che venga contagiata dalla tua allegra ribellione.*

[For Hajar,
for a Turin that can be tailored to your needs or animated by your cheerful rebellion.]

Table of Contents

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	1
INTRODUCTION.....	5
PREAMBLE	5
COLLECTIVE FOOD PROCUREMENT AS A LENS TO INVESTIGATE URBAN TRANSFORMATIONS	9
METHODOLOGY	19
OUTLINE OF THE DISSERTATION	32
PART 1.	35
GROWING FOOD IN THE URBAN PERIPHERY. TRANSFORMING SPACE, TRANSFORMING CITIZENSHIP	35
INTRODUCTION.....	37
CHAPTER I. CO-PRODUCING URBAN RENEWAL?	43
(RE)DEFINING URBAN GARDENS	47
“GIVING BACK”	54
CHAPTER II. APPROPRIATE GARDEN(ER)S	67
NETWORKS OF VOLUNTEERS	67
NEW RULES AND SILENCED CONFRONTATIONS	77
CHAPTER III. AT THE MARGINS OF URBAN RENEWAL	87
SPONTANEOUS GARDENERS	89
THE ERRANT SHEPHERD	100
CONCLUSION.....	115
PART 2.	119
WORKING AT THE FOOD MARKET. AUSTERITY, LABOUR PRECARITY AND ENGAGEMENT AT THE MARKETPLACE	119
INTRODUCTION.....	121
CHAPTER IV. “YOU CANNOT INVENT YOURSELF AS A MARKET VENDOR”	125
A REAL MARKET	128
MARKET VENDORS IN CRISIS	140
SOLIDARITY, ENGAGEMENT AND CONTESTATION	152

CHAPTER V. COLLECTING FOOD SURPLUS. ASYLUM SEEKERS AND THE CONSTRUCTION OF DESERVINGNESS	169
HELLO BROTHER	172
GENTRIFICATION AND THE REDEFINITION OF FOOD GLEANING	183
PRECARIOUS SUSTAINABILITY STEWARDS	191
CONCLUSION	209
PART 3.	211
FOOD AID, COMMUNITY CARE AND THE RECONFIGURATION OF RIGHTS INTO NEEDS. ANTHROPOLOGY OF WELFARE AT THE TIMES OF COVID-19.....	211
INTRODUCTION.....	213
CHAPTER VI. GENESIS OF A FOOD AID HUB	217
GENEALOGY OF A COMMUNITY CENTRE.....	219
COVID-19 SOLIDARITIES AND FOOD AID.....	230
ASSEMBLAGE OR THE MAKING OF THE VIA AGLIÈ FOOD AID HUB	240
CHAPTER VII. THE MATERIALITY AND MORALITY OF FOOD AID ...	247
FOOD AID PACKAGES	252
FROM VOLUNTEERS TO LOCAL HEROES	262
FROM CITIZENS TO NEEDY	278
THE RETURN OF THE STATE?	286
CONCLUSION	295
CONCLUSION	299
EPILOGUE.....	299
SUSTAINABLE TURIN?.....	302
MOVING FORWARD	304
REFERENCES.....	307
SUMMARY	341
SAMENVATTING	345
PROPOSITIONS	351
CURRICULUM VITAE	355

Acknowledgements

This dissertation is the result of five years of work, discovery, effort and collaboration. Curiosity, fatigue, encounters and isolation. It is the outcome of a transformative pathway, across different countries and contexts. A pathway made of many stories and many people whom I want to thank.

This study developed as part of the project “Food citizens? Collective Food Procurement in European Cities: Solidarity and Diversity, Skills and Scale”. I am grateful to all Food Citizens? team members for the work that we did together: Cristina Grasseni, Ola Gracjasz, Vincent Walstra, Federico De Musso, Marilena Pouloupoulou, Robin Smith and Hanna Stalenhoef. In particular, thank you Cristina for this opportunity, the anthropological training and your thorough supervision. Thank you, comrades Ola and Vincent, for everything that we shared, for our exchange, collaboration and laughter. I also thank all the people who commented on the advancement of our work such as the Food Citizens? advisory board members and seminars’ guests.

I thank the Department of Cultural Anthropology and Development Sociology and its members. Special thanks to my co-supervisor Erik Bähre for his feedback and stimulating questions. I am also especially grateful to all PhDs candidates with whom we shared thoughts, discussed tips and feelings by developing the Bring Your Thesis seminars and the Anthro Career sessions. Thanks to my colleagues Irene Moretti and Fang-I Chu for representing important reference points, and to Vera Mens for her help.

At the heart of this work are the words, practices, gazes and knowledge of my research participants and all the people I met during my fieldwork in Turin. I wish to thank all of them for allowing me to enter their worlds, asking questions and reflecting critically on what I observed. In some cases, this work is mine as much as theirs and it continues as part of our engagements and relations in this city. Thanks also to the people at the University of Turin, principally to Carlo Capello for his inspiring reflections and feedback, and to Egidio Dansero and Alessia Toldo for involving me in the local academic debate on food systems.

I want to thank all the people, friends and family who patiently supported me during these five years. All the people that helped me during my stays in the Netherlands, above all my friends Alex and Kati, for their practical support and for the beautiful moments that we shared. I thank my aunt and uncle Ellen and Alain for their presence and for their pinch of craziness, which reminded me about the importance of never taking oneself too seriously. Thanks to Christine for restoring my health.

I would not be writing these lines if I did not have the support of my friends and family in Italy. I thank everyone with whom I spent time in these last years, for sharing thoughts and love, reflecting with me on this work, our lives and providing advice. I want to particularly acknowledge the continuous presence, amazing strength and work as organic intellectuals of the women in my life. Thanks to Sarona, Vale and Cu for their energy and for being the greatest flatmates during the pandemic. Thanks to my friends and compagne: per gli stimoli, la cura, l'intesa, l'ascolto, i percorsi e le lotte. In particolare grazie a Debi che c'è da sempre, a Cate, Ale e Mati per il bellissimo percorso che abbiamo condiviso in Aurora, alle compagne di Non Una di Meno Torino, e a Marti e Anna con cui sto crescendo ora. Grazie a Aicha, Mariem, Fatima, Hajar, Israe e Safaa per avermi accolta in famiglia, per ricordarmi quello che è importante e per rallegrarmi, sempre. Grazie a Maman, Nanno, Lily e soprattutto a mia madre per tutto quello che avete fatto per me e per la curiosità che mi avete trasmesso.

[Thanks to my friends and comrades: for the inspiration, care, understanding, listening, paths and struggles. In particular, thanks to Debi who has always been there, to Cate, Ale and Mati for the amazing path we shared in Aurora, to my Non Una di Meno Torino comrades, and to Marti and Anna with whom I am growing now. Thanks to Aicha, Mariem, Fatima, Hajar, Israe and Safaa for welcoming in the family, for remembering me what is important and for cheering me, always. Thanks to Maman, Nanno, Lily and especially to my mother for everything that you did for me and for the curiosity that you have passed on.]