

Universiteit
Leiden
The Netherlands

The construction of China's national interest: between top-down rule and societal ideas

Mokry, S.

Citation

Mokry, S. (2023, November 14). The construction of China's national interest: between top-down rule and societal ideas. Retrieved from <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/3656754>

Version: Publisher's Version

License: Licence agreement concerning inclusion of doctoral thesis in the Institutional Repository of the University of Leiden

Downloaded from: <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/3656754>

Note: To cite this publication please use the final published version (if applicable).

Table of Contents

1	Introduction	11
1.1	Puzzle and research question .....	11
1.2	Relevance .....	14
1.3	Prevailing understandings .....	17
1.4	Argument .....	19
1.5	Data and methods .....	21
1.6	Plan of the study .....	23
2	Current understandings of constructions of China's national interest	26
2.1	Portrayals of China's national interest and its changes .....	27
2.2	Statist explanations for changes in the official construction of China's national interest .....	31
2.3	Refutation of statist explanations for changes in the official construction of China's national interest .....	35
2.4	Societal explanations for changes in the official construction of China's national interest .....	41
2.5	Conclusions .....	46
3	Theoretical argument	48
3.1	The dissertation's argument.....	49
3.2	The official construction of the national interest .....	51
3.3	Societal constructions of the national interest.....	55
3.4	Societal actors' proximity to the state and the state's openness to societal input.....	58
3.5	Hypotheses .....	61
3.6	Conclusions .....	64
4	Data and methods	66
4.1	Mapping changes in the official construction of China's national interest .....	67
4.2	Measuring societal actors' proximity to the state .....	75
4.3	Identifying societal constructions of China's national interest.....	77
4.4	Assessing fit between official and societal constructions of China's national interest.....	83
4.5	Measuring the state's openness to societal input .....	86
4.6	Potential problems with causal identification.....	88
4.7	Conclusions .....	92
5	Official and societal constructions of China's national interest	94
5.1	Official constructions of China's national interest .....	95
5.2	Scholars' constructions of China's national interest.....	101
5.3	Think tank analysts' constructions of China's national interest .....	106
5.4	Comparative analysis of official and societal constructions of China's national interest .....	111
5.5	Conclusions .....	114
6	Scholars' ideas, domestic structures, and the official construction of China's national interest	115
6.1	Quantitative evidence for the conditions under which scholars influence the official construction of China's national interest.....	116
6.2	Qualitative evidence for the conditions under which scholars influence the official construction of China's national interest.....	118
6.3	Changes in domestic structures and their effects on scholars .....	121
6.4	The impact of changes in domestic structures on scholars' ability to influence the official construction of China's national interest .....	126
6.5	Conclusions .....	127

7	Think tank analysts' ideas, domestic structures, and the official construction of China's national interest	129
7.1	Quantitative evidence for the conditions under which think tank analysts influence the official construction of China's national interest .....	130
7.2	Qualitative evidence for the conditions under which think tank analysts influence the official construction of China's national interest .....	132
7.3	Changes in domestic structures and their effects on think tanks .....	137
7.4	The impact of changes in domestic structures on think tank analysts' ability to influence the official construction of China's national interest .....	140
7.5	Conclusions .....	141
8	Conclusions	143
8.1	Societal actors' impact on the foreign policy of authoritarian states .....	143
8.2	The importance of domestic structures.....	147
8.3	Differences between scholars and think tank analysts.....	149
8.4	Implications for understanding China under Xi Jinping .....	152
8.5	Relevance for understanding other authoritarian states .....	154
8.6	Limitations of the analysis .....	155
8.7	Future research .....	158
9	Bibliography	161
10	Curriculum Vitae	179

List of Figures

Figure 2.1: Chinese scholars' debates about China's national interest(s) .....	30
Figure 2.2: Aggregated differences in relative salience of components of the construction of China's national interest between Xi and other foreign policy actors .....	36
Figure 2.3: Aggregated differences in relative salience of components of the construction of China's national interest between Xi and societal actors .....	37
Figure 2.4: Relative salience of components of the official construction of China's national interest over time .....	38
Figure 2.5: Aggregated differences in relative salience of components of the construction of China's national interest between bureaucratic actors.....	39
Figure 2.6: Aggregated salience of components of the official construction of China's national interest.....	40
Figure 4.1: The frame analysis process (author's own illustration) .....	71
Figure 5.1: Relative salience of selected components of the construction of China's national interest.....	96
Figure 5.2: Relative salience of selected components of the construction of China's national interest in scholars' contributions to foreign policy debates .....	102
Figure 5.3: Relative salience of selected components of the construction of China's national interest in think tanks' contributions to foreign policy debates .....	107
Figure 5.4: Comparisons of the relative salience of selected components of the construction of China's national interest .....	112
Figure 6.1: Proportion of research topics listed per discipline in NPOPSS funding calls .....	124
Figure 6.2: Number of yearly mentions in NPOPSS' funding calls.....	125
Figure 6.3: Number of references to foreign policy slogans in NPOPSS' funding calls .....	125
Figure 6.4: Number of policy shifts influenced by scholars before and after the change in domestic structures.....	126
Figure 7.1: Number of policy shifts influenced by think tank analysts before and after the change in domestic structures .....	141

List of Tables

Table 2.1: Statist explanations for changes in the official construction of China's national interest.....	35
Table 3.1: Conditions under which societal actors influence the official construction of the national interest .....	51
Table 3.2: Illustration of conditions under which societal actors influence the official construction of the national interest .....	63
Table 4.1: Analyzed official foreign policy statements.....	70
Table 4.2: Categories for “defend China’s territory, political system, and citizens” (Def) .....	73
Table 4.3: Categories for “expand China’s economic relations” (Econ) .....	74
Table 4.4: Categories for "lead global governance" (Gov) .....	74
Table 4.5: Categories for "offer global public goods" (Publ).....	75
Table 4.6: Categories for "promote China's values" (Val).....	75
Table 4.7: Categories for "control the region" (Reg).....	75
Table 4.8: Selected scholars.....	79
Table 4.9: Selected think tanks .....	82
Table 6.1: Quantitative evidence for the conditions under which scholars influence the official construction of China’s national interest .....	117
Table 7.1: Quantitative evidence for the conditions under which think tank analysts influence the official construction of China’s national interest.....	131
Table 8.1: Comparative assessment of scholars’ and think tank analysts’ influence on the official construction of China’s national interest .....	150