

Universiteit
Leiden
The Netherlands

Platinum surface instabilities and their impact in electrochemistry

Valls Mascaro, F.

Citation

Valls Mascaro, F. (2024, September 5). Platinum surface instabilities and their impact in electrochemistry. Retrieved from <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/4054933>

Version: Publisher's Version

License: Licence agreement concerning inclusion of doctoral thesis in the Institutional Repository of the University of Leiden

Downloaded from: <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/4054933>

Note: To cite this publication please use the final published version (if applicable).

The background of the cover is an abstract, artistic representation of a surface. It features a complex, wavy pattern of colors, primarily deep blue and vibrant red, with some orange and yellow tones. The pattern resembles a topographical map or a microscopic view of a surface with various ridges and valleys. Scattered throughout the pattern are several small, semi-transparent spheres in shades of blue, orange, and yellow, which likely represent atoms or molecules on the surface.

Platinum Surface Instabilities and their Impact in Electrochemistry

Francesc Valls Mascaró

