Curriculum Vitae

Zhuang 'Oliver' Tian was born in Guangdong Province, China on 29 July 1991. He obtained his Bachelor's degree in law from Sun Yat-sen University, China. During his undergraduate studies, Zhuang successfully passed the Chinese Bar Examination and collaborated with his supervisor to translate and publish legal articles from French to Chinese. Furthering his education, Zhuang pursued an LL.M. in Air and Space Law at the International Institute of Air and Space Law (IIASL) of Leiden University, the Netherlands. During the LL.M. program, Zhuang gained practical experience in air and space law through internships at HEAD Aerospace Netherlands in Noordwijk, the Netherlands, and China Southern Airlines in Guangzhou, China. After graduation, Zhuang worked at De Wolf Law Firm Shanghai, first as a legal intern and later as an Associate.

Zhuang commenced his PhD study at Leiden Law School in September 2018. During his time in Leiden, he specialised in the legal aspects of space debris and has published multiple articles in this field in journals and books. In addition to his research, Zhuang coached the IIASL space law moot court for four years and delivered guest lectures on Chinese space law. In 2021, Zhuang participated in the Space Studies Program (SSP) at the International Space University (ISU) in Strasbourg, France, where he enhanced his interdisciplinary skills through collaboration with space experts from diverse backgrounds on team projects.
