

Universiteit
Leiden
The Netherlands

The oligarchy in China: a case study of China's electricity industry, 1978-2013

Song, C.

Citation

Song, C. (2024, November 15). The oligarchy in China: a case study of China's electricity industry, 1978-2013. Retrieved from <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/4109197>

Version: Publisher's Version

License: Licence agreement concerning inclusion of doctoral thesis in the Institutional Repository of the University of Leiden

Downloaded from: <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/4109197>

Note: To cite this publication please use the final published version (if applicable).

CURRICULUM VITAE

Chunli Song was born in Beijing, China, in 1973. He studied Philosophy at Renmin University from 1992-1996. After graduation, he worked in the CCP Party School of Xuanwu District, Beijing Municipal Committee. In 2001, he worked in the Educational Bureau of Haidian District in Beijing City. While working in Haidian, he studied Public Administration at Tsinghua University and obtained his MPA (Master of Public Administration) in 2006. In 2008, he resigned from the “Inside System” (ti zhi nei) in China and came to the Netherlands to study Political Economy. Chunli is now a PhD candidate at the Institute for Area Studies of Leiden University (LIAS). He was a non-resident research fellow (April-December 2022) at the Ash Centre of Harvard Kennedy School. While researching, he was concerned about human rights in China and the global climate.