

Universiteit
Leiden
The Netherlands

Deception, risk, and evasion: the politics of sovereign debt in emerging markets

Brown, K.J.

Citation

Brown, K. J. (2025, September 30). Deception, risk, and evasion: the politics of sovereign debt in emerging markets. Retrieved from <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/4262400>

Version: Publisher's Version

License: Licence agreement concerning inclusion of doctoral thesis in the Institutional Repository of the University of Leiden

Downloaded from: <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/4262400>

Note: To cite this publication please use the final published version (if applicable).

Curriculum Vitae

Kathleen Brown was born on May 17th, 1996, in Albuquerque, New Mexico. In 2014 she graduated from Mt. Lebanon High School in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. In 2018 she earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Economics summa cum laude from Northeastern University in Boston, Massachusetts. After her undergraduate studies, she was awarded the Humanity in Action Senior Fellowship to study political evolution in post-genocide societies, in Bosnia and Herzegovina. Kathleen was then awarded the MasterMind fellowship from the Flemish Ministry of Education and completed a Master of Science in Economics at the University of Antwerp in 2019. She joined the Leiden University Institute of Political Science as a PhD candidate in 2020 under the supervision of Dr. M.R. DiGiuseppe, Dr. R. van der Haer, and Dr. D. Thomas. Her work contributed to the European Research Council grant project “Microfoundations of Debt Crises” (MIDEBT) project, led by Dr. M.R. DiGiuseppe. Having completed her PhD dissertation, in August 2025 Kathleen joined the Leiden University Institute of Security and Global Affairs as a postdoctoral researcher within the Horizon Europe project, “Networks and the Rule of Law” (NET-ROL). Her published works have appeared in peer-reviewed journals including the Review of International Organisations, the European Journal of Political Research, the Review of International Political Economy, Population and Development Review, and New Political Economy.