

Universiteit
Leiden
The Netherlands

Colonial Calvinism: colonial ideologies of Dutch clergymen in Batavia, ca. 1700-1850

Meer, A. van der

Citation

Meer, A. van der. (2025, October 23). Colonial Calvinism: colonial ideologies of Dutch clergymen in Batavia, ca. 1700-1850. Retrieved from <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/4279534>

Version: Publisher's Version

License: Licence agreement concerning inclusion of doctoral thesis in the Institutional Repository of the University of Leiden

Downloaded from: <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/4279534>

Note: To cite this publication please use the final published version (if applicable).

Colonial Calvinism:
Colonial Ideologies of Dutch Clergymen in Batavia, ca. 1700–1850

Proefschrift

ter verkrijging van de graad van doctor aan de Universiteit Leiden, op gezag van rector magnificus prof.dr.ir. H. Bijl, volgens besluit van het college voor promoties te verdedigen op donderdag 23 oktober 2025

klokke 11.30 uur

door

Alexander van der Meer

geboren te Ede

in 1989

Promotores: Dr. A.F. Schrikker
Prof. dr. J.J.L. Gommans

Promotiecommissie: Prof. dr. C.H. Parker (Saint Louis University)
Prof. dr. F.A. van Lieburg (Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam)
Prof. dr. R. Raben (Universiteit van Amsterdam en Universiteit Utrecht)
Dr. C.M. Stolte

Funding for this dissertation was provided by the Dutch Research Council (NWO) as part of the project Institutional Memory in the Making of Colonial Culture: History, Experience and Ideas in Dutch Colonialism in Asia, 1700–1870.

Table of content ¹

Colonial Calvinism.....	1
Table of content	4
List of Figures	9
List of Tables.....	10
Acknowledgements	11
Introduction	14
Colonial Ideology	17
Batavia.....	19
Indies' Experience	21
Ecclesial Culture	23
Ecclesial Practices	26
Methodology	27
Sources	31
Structure	35
H1. Ideology from the Pulpit.....	39
Prayer and Thanksgiving Days.....	39
Introduction	40
1.1 Sermons, Ceremonial, and Attendance	44
Sermons	45
Ceremonies	48
1.2 Prayer- and Thanksgiving-day Sermons and Texts.....	57
Forty-Years War	60
The Chinese Massacre and Java War	67
Batavian Malaria Epidemics and Dutch Cattle Plagues.....	72
The Fourth Anglo-Dutch War	78
Waterloo, and the King	84

¹ Image on the cover page: 'De Hollandse kerk of "Kruiskerk" te Batavia', 1682. Tropenmuseum, Jakarta Archive, Atlas of Mutual Heritage. <https://www.atlasofmutualheritage.nl/page/3447/de-hollandse-kerk-of-kruiskerk-te-batavia>

Conclusion.....	95
H2. Ministerial Status, Pietism, and Enlightened Hierarchies.....	98
Integration in VOC elites	98
Introduction	100
2.1 Status	103
Formal Rank.....	104
Clothing and Informal Elite Circles	107
Ceremonial and Formal Events	114
2.2 Decadence and Deference	116
Internal Critics	119
Pietist Ministers	122
2.3 Old Elites, Enlightened Circles, and Devout Knowledge: Dutch as a Civilisational Tool.....	130
Indies Enlightenment	132
The Promotion of Dutch in Batavia	138
Conclusion.....	147
H3. Accommodation, Islam, and Missionary Zeal.....	150
Local Christians and non-Christians in the Later VOC Era	150
3.1 Introduction	154
Accommodation Versus Orthodoxy: Separation of Sacraments	159
Strategic Ambiguity.....	165
Ministerial Strategies	172
Batavia and Ambon	180
3.2 Islam and the Missionary Church.....	186
Dutch Reformed Perspectives on Islam	186
Islam as Competitor.....	189
Countering Islam with Translations and Refutations	192
Dutch Reformed Missionary Drive	198
Foreign Missionaries	200
Contemplating Dutch Reformed Missionaries	201
Renewed Missionary Zeal	208
3.3 Conclusion.....	214
H4. Pennsylvania and Patriots.....	218

Church-State and Ecclesial Colony-Metropole Relations in the Early Age of Revolutions	218
Introduction	219
4.1 Church and State, Colony and Metropole	221
Indisch Sion.....	226
Pennsylvania and Batavia: Accusations of Ecclesial Independence	229
4.2 Patriot Reverberations and Ecumenicalism in Batavia	238
Conclusion.....	246
H5. Pattimura and Protestant Unity	249
(Dis)continuity in the Ecclesial Restoration of Batavia.....	249
Introduction	250
5.1 Schoolmasters, Pattimura, and Restoration in the Moluccas	252
5.2 Protestant Unity in Batavia	257
5.3 Dutch Reformed Restoration in Batavia	262
5.4 Ministerial Life in Batavia: Associations and Elites	268
Conclusion.....	272
H6. Early NZG Missionaries.....	275
Integration in the Colonial Establishment, Islam, and Accommodation of Local Faithful	275
Introduction	275
6.1 Missionary Status	281
Civilisation, Class Distance, and Conflict	283
Betwixt and Between	293
6.2 Accommodation, Intimacies, and Islam	298
Local Agency and Intimacies	305
Strategic Intimacy: Missionary Wives	309
Islam	313
Conclusion.....	317
H7. Slavery, Indigents, and Ommelanden.....	321
Christian-Making and Subject-Making Through the Diaconate.....	321
Introduction	322
7.1 The Batavian Diaconate	324

Localised Diaconate	324
Dutch Reformed and Non-Dutch Reformed Indigents	334
7.2 Slavery, Indigents, and Austerity	339
Worldly Motivation: Political Loyalty.....	339
Mardijkers, Inlanders , Austerity, and Ommelanden	344
7.3 Tugu: A Case Study of Christian- and Subject-Making	351
Slavery and Ommelanden	352
Militiamen and Koeliediensten	354
Missionary Post.....	360
7.4 The Orphanage	363
The Orphanage as a Marriage Pool	365
Conclusion.....	370
H8. Inclusion and Submission.....	373
The Colonial Ecclesial Hierarchy Through (Ecclesial) Disciplining and
Diaconal Regulations	373
Introduction	373
8.1 Ecclesial Disciplining and Punishments	376
Class-Justice: Fornication and Concubinage	378
Punishing Ecclesial Staff, Local Christians, and Tugunese	382
8.2 Colonial Hierarchies Within the Diaconate	393
Conclusion.....	404
Conclusion.....	407
Institutional, Pragmatic, and Practical Colonial Calvinism.....	408
Frontier Mentality	411
Strategic Ambiguity.....	413
Gradually Evolving Colonial Ecclesial Culture	415
Inclusion and Submission: Colonial and Racial Hierarchies, Slavery, Enlightenment, and Pietism
.....	417
Wider Relevance and Concluding Remarks	420
Bibliography	424
Archival Collections and Primary Sources.....	424
Published Primary Sources	426
Secondary Sources	431

Appendix 1: Diaconal income in the Eighteenth Century (Dutch)	454
Samenvatting	455
Curriculum Vitae	460

List of Figures

Figure 1 – Location of Batavia’s churches on map of Batavia of 1733.....	20
Figure 2 - Chinese militia, Jan Brandes, 1779 - 1785, Collection Rijksmuseum Amsterdam, https://www.rijksmuseum.nl/en/collection/NG-1985-7-2-130 (consulted 02-09-2024).....	47
Figure 3 - A VOC merchant with his wife and an enslaved servant, ca. 1650 - ca. 1655, Aelbert Cuyp. To the right is the retourvloot at the shore of Batavia. Collectie Rijksmuseum, https://www.rijksmuseum.nl/nl/collectie/SK-A-2350 (consulted 02-09-2024).....	49
Figure 4 – Chinese Massacre, 1740, Adolf van der Laan, 1740. Collection Rijksmuseum https://www.rijksmuseum.nl/en/collection/RP-P-OB-75.354 (consulted 17-02-2023).	67
Figure 5 - Jacob Caspar Metzlar. W.H. Heikes, “Klundert Onder Franse Bezetting (1793),” Jaarboek De Oranjeboom 17 (1964): 115.....	78
Figure 6 – Javanese auxiliary forces of the VOC. Jan Brandes, 1779 - 1785, Collection Rijksmuseum. https://www.rijksmuseum.nl/nl/collectie/NG-1985-7-2-65 (consulted 02-09-2024).....	82
Figure 7 - Batavia, Waterlooplein, ca 1900. To the left is the column with Dutch lion. Smits, F.B. Ca. 1900. KITLV collection, Leiden University Libraries.....	91
Figure 8 – Tea-visit in a European house in Batavia, Jan Brandes, 1779 – 1785, Collection Rijksmuseum, https://www.rijksmuseum.nl/en/collection/NG-1985-7-2-15 (consulted 02-09-2024).....	107
Figure 9 – Dutch wedding in Batavia, Jan Brandes, 1779 - 1785, Collection Rijksmuseum, https://www.rijksmuseum.nl/en/collection/NG-369 (consulted 02-09-2024).....	111
Figure 10 - Two portraits of Roosje, enslaved of Lutheran minister Jan Brandes, 1779 - 1785, Collection Rijksmuseum, https://www.rijksmuseum.nl/nl/collectie/NG-1985-7-2-72	113
Figure 11 - Funeral ceremony of Jacob Mossel, Governor-General of Batavia. As discernible in this image, these events were highly choreographed. 1761, anonymous, 1762, Collection Rijksmuseum. https://www.rijksmuseum.nl/en/collection/RP-P-OB-75.363 (consulted 02-09-2024).	115
Figure 12 - View of the bastion Gelderland, Batavia, 1740. In the background is the Portuguese outer church [outside of the city wall]. Collection Museum De Lakenhal, Leiden. https://www.lakenhal.nl/nl/collectie/3121-276 (consulted 1 June, 2025).....	172
Figure 13 - Wayang, Jan Brandes, 1779 - 1785, Collectie Rijksmuseum, https://www.rijksmuseum.nl/en/search/objects?set=NG-1985-7-2#/NG-1985-7-2-9,9 (consulted 02-09- 2024).	181
Figure 14 - Islamic bowing and greeting, Jan Brandes, 1779 - 1785, Collection Rijksmuseum, https://www.rijksmuseum.nl/nl/collectie/NG-1985-7-2-54 (consulted 02-09-2024).....	193
Figure 15 – British East India Company Government House & Council House, Fort Marlborough, Benkulen, Sumatra, 1799. Drawing by Joseph Constantine Stadler. https://collections.britishart.yale.edu/catalog/tms:29396 (consulted 1 June, 2025).....	231
Figure 16 – Lutheran Church in Batavia, Jan Brandes, ca. 1785, Collection Rijksmuseum, https://www.rijksmuseum.nl/nl/collectie/NG-2016-38 (consulted 02-09-2024).	244
Figure 17 - Willemskerk, 1881–1889. Collection wereldmuseum. https://collectie.wereldmuseum.nl/ (Consulted 22-02-2024).	261
Figure 18 - List of ministers of both congregations, Lutheran and Protestantse (Dutch Reformed). gereja Immanuel, Jakarta. Photograph: Alessandra de Mulder, 2023.	261
Figure 19 - List of ministers of the union church post-1854, Gereja Immanuel, Jakarta. Photograph: Alessandra de Mulder, 2023.	262
Figure 20 - Print with caption: ‘Sacred tree, stones and place of sacrifice of the Alfoer pagan, Minahassa,’ The term Alfoer was derogatory and was used to refer to non-Abrahamic inhabitants of present-day eastern Indonesia. published in Maandberigten , 1865, p. 6.....	285

Figure 21 - Celebration of Chinese New Year, Batavia, Wouter Schouten, 1676, Collection Rijksmuseum, https://www.rijksmuseum.nl/nl/collectie/RP-P-OB-68.163 (consulted 02-09-2024).	300
Figure 22 – Chinese ceremony of walking over fire. Missionary Sketches, April 1838. in: Missionary Sketches, ‘dated 1818-1838. In a volume entitled: China and the Chinese: a collection of pamphlets relating thereto. Volume 106’. https://ecommons.cornell.edu/items/01a55075-4008-4ee3-881a-128b471ed337 (consulted 02-12-2023).	307
Figure 23 - Mission chapel, at Batavia. Missionary Sketches, 1835. In: Missionary Sketches, ‘dated 1818-1838. In a volume entitled: China and the Chinese: a collection of pamphlets relating thereto. Volume 106’. https://ecommons.cornell.edu/items/01a55075-4008-4ee3-881a-128b471ed337 (consulted 02-12-2023).	307
Figure 24 - Batavia and Ommelanden, A. van Pers, 1851. KITLV collections, Leiden University Libraries. https://digitalcollections.universiteitleiden.nl/ (consulted 22-03-2024).	349
Figure 25 - Missionary Douwes’ list of Tugunese who received diaconal alms and their church attendance. KRB 21, unnumbered.	359
Figure 26 - The Batavian Orphanage, print Atlas van Stolk, 1682 collection Koninklijke Bibliotheek. https://www.atlasofmutualheritage.nl/page/3451/the-orphanage-at-batavia (consulted 22-03-2024).	363
Figure 27 - Petition of Tugunese congregants, 1822. KRB 180, unnumbered.	389

List of Tables

Table 1 - European, Mestizo, Mardijker and Total Inhabitants of Batavia.....	328
Table 2 - Inhabitants of the poorhouse and orphanage, as well as families receiving alms.....	329
Table 3 - Income of the diaconate between 1690 and 1795 in rijksdaalders (rds).....	331
Table 4 - Inhabitants of the poorhouse and orphanage, as well as families receiving alms.....	347
Table 5 - Expenditure of the poorhouse in 1746 and 1766 in rds.	397
Table 6 - Alms according to VOC rank.	399

Acknowledgements

Although writing a dissertation is often described as a solitary process—and in many ways it was—I have rarely felt alone in it. Along the way I have been surrounded by people whose support, encouragement, and humour made this journey lighter and more rewarding. This is the moment to thank them, even if words cannot fully capture what their presence has meant to me.

My warm thanks go first to my supervisors. Alicia Schrikker, your trust and encouragement, especially in the early and difficult stages, kept me going. Your intellectual depth, originality, and creativity in recasting colonial history from fresh perspectives, especially by centring local actors, have been truly inspiring and have decisively shaped my own thinking. Jos Gommans, I am grateful for your sharp eye for the big picture and your humour, which helped me keep perspective. I also wish to thank the members of my defence committee for their careful reading of the manuscript and their thoughtful comments.

I am especially grateful to my fellow traveller in this project, Philip Post. Our friendship has been one of the most valuable outcomes of these years, from shared trips to Indonesia to countless discussions about history and life. To defend and celebrate together feels like a fitting conclusion.

My enthusiasm for history was not born in isolation. My mother is East German, and my maternal grandparents—born in the Weimar Republic, raised in Nazi Germany, and later Lutheran pastors in East Germany—passed on moral lessons rooted in their experiences of war and dictatorship. Their stories taught me how easily people can be drawn to extremism, how trauma travels across generations, and how important it is to keep searching for humanity and connection, even and especially amongst the smouldering ruins of history.

I also owe gratitude to Peter Westerveld, my high school history teacher, who first showed me the coherence of the past and present, and to Martijn Eickhoff at NIOD, who encouraged me to continue on the academic path.

I also thank many colleagues in Leiden and beyond for making these years intellectually stimulating and socially enjoyable. Special thanks go to Bente de Leede for your support, to Charles Parker, Henk Niemeijer and Carolien Stolte for valuable feedback, and to my office-mates for laughter and the right kind of distraction. I am grateful as well to colleagues in Indonesia, in particular Bondan Kanumoyoso, for their expertise and encouragement.

This research was made possible by access to archives in Jakarta, The Hague, Utrecht and Amsterdam, and by the generosity of several funding bodies (NWO, LUF, Prins Bernhard Cultuurfonds, Posthumus Institute, the Corts Foundation, and Marinus Plantema Foundation). I also thank Bresser-Chapple for their careful editing of the manuscript. I am equally thankful to the language teachers at Alam Bahasa in Yogyakarta for their patience, humour, and guidance—for sharing in moments of cultural surprise, and for initiating me into the richness of Indonesian language and culture.

Teaching has been a privilege. My students in Leiden and The Hague have inspired me more than they realise, and strengthened my optimism that younger generations—often more self-aware, emotionally intelligent, and attuned to the world—may call upon the better angels of our nature.

Family support has been foundational throughout. I am deeply grateful to my family for their love and encouragement, and especially for the way we have, in recent years, begun to confront and work through our family past. This process has brought us closer, and it has reminded me of the broader societal urgency to come to terms with the long shadows of history. I am equally thankful to my family in-law, who welcomed me with warmth and generosity and made me feel fully at home in their family.

Friends have added lightness and joy to these years, amongst whom HABAT. Special thanks go to Niels van den Broek and Peter Bijl, who visited me in Asia more than once, and who were there as my historical interest turned ‘Asian’. My paranymp, Tom Kanis deserves special mention for his unconditional friendship and for fostering intellectual curiosity for the world, from our early days until now. I also want to acknowledge the many friends and colleagues whose names are not mentioned here; only a few could be singled out, but far more have contributed with their presence, advice, kindness, and humour.

And finally, above all, I thank Alessandra De Mulder. Your unconditional love, patience, and unwavering support have carried me through this journey. Without you, this dissertation would not have come into being—and without you, the years of writing it would not have been nearly as joyful.