

Universiteit
Leiden

The Netherlands

Categorial hylomorphism: an inquiry into the significance of categories for the doctrine of hylomorphism through a confrontation of the ideas of Aristotle and Kant

Pantoja Quiroz, D.R.

Citation

Pantoja Quiroz, D. R. (2026, February 19). Categorial hylomorphism: an inquiry into the significance of categories for the doctrine of hylomorphism through a confrontation of the ideas of Aristotle and Kant. Retrieved from <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/4292367>

Version: Publisher's Version

License: Licence agreement concerning inclusion of doctoral thesis in the Institutional Repository of the University of Leiden

Downloaded from: <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/4292367>

Note: To cite this publication please use the final published version (if applicable).

CURRICULUM VITAE

Daniel Rienzi Pantoja Quiroz was born on 6 December 1986 in Valparaíso, Chile. He completed his primary and secondary education in Viña del Mar, Chile. After studying law for a few years (2005–2008), he switched to sociology at the Universidad de las Artes y Ciencias Sociales (ARCIS), graduating with a Bachelor's degree in Sociology in 2015. His graduation thesis was a translation of the Platonic dialogue Amatores from Ancient Greek to Spanish, including an introduction and notes. He then obtained an MA in Philosophy from Universidad Alberto Hurtado in 2016, writing his dissertation on the influence of Edmund Husserl's Logical Investigations on Emil Lask's theory of categories and the hylomorphic doctrine of the object. He began his PhD studies at Diego Portales University in 2017, successfully completing his candidature. From September 2019 to February 2026, he has been a PhD researcher at the Institute for Philosophy at Leiden University.