JOURNAL OF AFROASIATIC LANGUAGES, HISTORY AND CULTURE (JAAL)

VOLUME 15, NUMBER 1 2026

THE JOURNAL OF AFROASIATIC LANGUAGES, HISTORY AND CULTURE, also known from the beginning as THE JOURNAL OF AFROASIATIC LANGUAGES (JAAL), is published by the of Semitic Studies. JAAL brings forward contributions of history, culture and linguistics of all types—historical, comparative, theoretical, descriptive, and others—that deal with Afroasiatic languages and their speakers. JAAL welcomes book reviews in any area of linguistics and Afroasiatic studies, reactions to articles in JAAL or to relevant issues raised anywhere, and addenda to articles. JAAL intends to provide a forum for debates on specific issues, and invites suggestions.

Note to Contributors

Submitting Articles and Book Reviews

Authors should send an electronic copy of the manuscript in Pdf format to the editor at girma@awprsp.com. Authors will be required to submit, in case of acceptance the final copy Microsoft Word.

JAAL urges authors submitting manuscripts to conform to the rules (cf. Style Sheet), except where there is strong reason to do otherwise. In such cases, prior consultation with the Editor will be appreciated. JAAL cannot overemphasize that improper presentation causes needless delays.

The identity of the contributor must be hidden from the reviewers. The identity should only be known to the managing editor or the general editor for communication purposes. Therefore, addresses and name /names of contributors must be written separately. Acknowledgment must be avoided in the first submission, and when one quotes his previous work, he/she should avoid the usage of I in reference to his/her work. For instance, instead of saying "as I discuss in my work (Yilma 1989)", one should say "as Yilma (1989) discusses…". However, the former usage can be maintained once the paper is accepted for publication.

Editorial procedure

Receipt of manuscripts will be acknowledged. Manuscripts will be evaluated by at least two reviewers other than the Editor, and a decision on publication will be made in six month time.

Authors are entitled to get a single hard copy of the whole Journal in which their article appeared.

Ethical consideration

JAAL expects authors to submit their original works. In case of a manuscript published somewhere else, authors need to notify the general editor during the first submission process. Plagiarism in any form will not be tolerated. Although JAAL will try to detect and take appropriate action with plagiarized manuscripts before they get published, mistakes may happen. Authors will take responsibility for their works. If JALL finds a case of plagiarism or malpractice after publication, it will immediately notify authors and their employer and academic institution.

Spatial Expressions in Ethiopian Languages
(Part 1)

Edited by
Azeb Amha, Anbessa Teferra, and Binyam Sisay Mendisu

Journal of Afroasiatic Languages/Journal of Afroasiatic Languages, History and Culture (JAAL)

VOLUME 15, NUMBER 1

ISSN 0894-9824

Note from the General Editor

Volume 15 is dedicated entirely to Spatial Expressions in Ethiopian Languages, featuring 12 well-researched articles. This first issue (Vol. 15, No. 1) presents the first five articles (and an introduction), while the remaining seven will appear in the forthcoming second issue (Vol. 15, No. 2).

The editorial and review processes for this volume were expertly managed by Professors Azeb Amha, Anbessa Tefera, and Binyam Sisay Mendisu. We wish to express our sincere gratitude for their dedication and professionalism; this volume is a testament to their hard work. Following their extensive peer review, our editorial team provided only minor remarks and editorial inputs to ensure the journal's high standards were maintained.

We welcome inquiries from scholars of Afroasiatic Studies for future collaborations. We are eager to dedicate future special issues or volumes to exceptional research that sheds light on Afroasiatic languages and the rich and diverse histories and cultures of their speakers.

STYLE SHEET

JAAL urges authors submitting manuscripts to conform to these rules, except where there is strong reason to do otherwise. In such cases, prior consultation with the Editor will be appreciated. JAAL cannot overemphasize that improper presentation causes needless delays.

OVERALL MATTERS

Manuscripts written in English should use American spelling.

Authors should send an electronic copy of the manuscript in Pdf format. Authors will be required to submit, in case of acceptance the final copy in Word or Writer.

Manuscripts must be doubled spaced with Times New Roman font; font size 12.

CORRECTIONS

JAAL exhorts authors to submit clean copy. Pages with many handwritten corrections are not acceptable.

Handwritten symbols, diacritics, and the like are acceptable if legible.

JAAL regards accepted manuscripts as virtually finished work, requiring minor corrections only. No major alterations will be accepted after typesetting. Authors will receive proofs for correction of printer's errors at JAAL's expense. Necessary minor alterations may be made at the author's expense.

ORGANIZATION

All manuscripts should begin with an abstract of 100-150 words.

All reviews should begin with a full bibliographic designation of the reviewed book (see below for form), plus the number of pages and the price of the book if available.

A table of contents may be required by the article's length or complexity.

All lengthy manuscripts should have major headings; the use and number of sub-headings to increase clarity are at the author's discretion.

All linguistic examples must be numbered and they should be in brackets. When there is more than one example in a single category, they must be listed in alphabetical order and separated by dots.

Footnotes should be numbered consecutively throughout the text, and presented in the same page, i.e. typed at the foot of the page. Acknowledgements appear before the numbered notes, and are distinguished with an asterisk. Footnotes are for comments, not bibliographic references.

Tables, figures and maps should be identified as Figure 3, Map 5 etc., and their preferred place in the text clearly indicated. Use explanatory 'notes to the editor' where necessary to make layout intentions clear. If word-processing, use tab rather than multiple blanks in laying out a table.

Bibliographic references should appear in the body of the text, in abbreviated form and in parentheses, as follows: (Author's name date [: pages, if necessary])

The full reference should appear in a list of references at the end of the article, as follows:

FOR BOOKS, LIST

Author's last name, first name or initials. Date. Book title. [Capitalize as in normal writing.] Place of publication: Publisher.

FOR PERIODICALS, LIST

Author's last name, first name or initials. Date. Article title. [Capitalize as above.] Journal title. Volume number: inclusive page numbers.

FOR EDITED BOOKS, OR BOOKS BY SEVERAL AUTHORS, LIST

All editors' or authors' names, but names other than the first one will have the following order: first name, initial, last name.

To distinguish between works by the same author published in the same year, put lower-case letters after the date.

FOR WEB RESOURCES, LIST

Hyperlink and date of access in addition to the author's name and title of manuscript (if there are any).

USAGE

For general conventions, authors should follow the latest edition of the Modern Language Association (MLA) style.

Authors are urged to transliterate foreign scripts, using current American conventions. Foreign scripts should only be used for a special reason. Authors who use foreign scripts, as well as rare phonetic or other symbols, should be able to furnish the fonts in some form, preferably not handmade.

If a given language or language group uses its own terminology for categories, please define them in general linguistic terms. It is important for JAAL to make its articles accessible to those who work in other areas of linguistics.

Foreign-language and emphasized material should be underlined for printing in italics. For glosses, use 'single' quotation marks; "double" quotation marks are reserved for other quoted material or "so-called" expressions.

All fonts should be Unicode.

For additional details, please consult earlier issues or the Editor.
