

Universiteit
Leiden
The Netherlands

Religious coexistence in health-seeking: an ethnographic study in a Pentecostal Hospital, Madina, Accra, Ghana

Darko, M.L.

Citation

Darko, M. L. (2026, June 2). Religious coexistence in health-seeking: an ethnographic study in a Pentecostal Hospital, Madina, Accra, Ghana. Retrieved from <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/4304718>

Version: Publisher's Version

License: Licence agreement concerning inclusion of doctoral thesis in the Institutional Repository of the University of Leiden

Downloaded from: <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/4304718>

Note: To cite this publication please use the final published version (if applicable).

Religious Coexistence in Health-seeking

An Ethnographic Study in a Pentecostal Hospital,
Madina, Accra, Ghana

Universiteit
Leiden

Martin Luther Darko

Religious Coexistence in Health-seeking:

An Ethnographic Study in a Pentecostal Hospital, Madina, Accra, Ghana

Proefschrift

ter verkrijging van de graad van doctor aan de Universiteit Leiden, op gezag van rector magnificus prof.dr. S. de Rijcke, volgens besluit van het college voor promoties te verdedigen op dinsdag 2 juni 2026
klokke 11.30 uur

door

Martin Luther Darko

Geboren te Accra op 4 november 1980

Promotores

Prof.dr. R.A. van Dijk

Prof.dr. B. Meyer (Universiteit Utrecht)

Copromotor

Dr. K.A. Senah (University of Ghana)

Promotiecommissie

Prof.dr. M. Dekker (voorzitter)

Prof.dr. M.E. de Bruijn

Prof.dr. R. Spronk (Universiteit van Amsterdam)

Dr. C.L. Williams

Dr. K. Knibbe (Rijksuniversiteit Groningen)

Contents

LIST OF IMAGES AND FIGURES

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Introduction.....	1
Laying the groundwork.....	1
Christian- Muslim Relations: An Overview	2
Madina: A Brief Introduction	13
Christian-Muslim Relations in the Zongo : A Panoramic View	15
Conceptualising religious coexistence	18
Health, Health-seeking, and Religion	22
Study objectives/ questions and goals.....	28
Ethnography Inside the Hospital: introducing the research methodology and its challenges.....	29
Data Collection Approaches and Participants.....	32
Observation inside the hospital	33
Formal and Informal Conversations	34
Beyond the hospital.....	34
Informed Consent.....	35
Anonymity and Confidentiality	35
My key interlocutors	36
Data Processing and Analysis	36
My Position and Reflexivity	37
Dissertation Outline	38
CHAPTER ONE: HEALTHCARE DELIVERY SYSTEM: STRUCTURE AND OVERVIEW.....	39
Introduction.....	40
Describing Ghana's Health Sector.....	40
Health Delivery Structure	43
Health Delivery Challenges	45
The National Health Insurance Scheme (NHIS).....	51
Religious Health Provisioning in a Secular State	53
The Christian Health Association of Ghana (CHAG).....	58
CHAG-Government Relations.....	61
CHAG-government relationship challenges	63

Structure of the Healthcare delivery system in Madina	66
Conclusion	72
CHAPTER TWO: PENTECOST HOSPITAL IN A MUSLIM COMMUNITY	75
Introduction.....	75
History, Mission, and Values of the Hospital	77
Accessing Healthcare at the Pentecost Hospital	80
Physical Infrastructure in the Hospital - A tour	83
‘Humanitarian Health Delivery’ and Pentecostal Values	88
Hospital Staffing and Staff Policies	94
Contestations in the Hospital: The Muslim Nurse’s Hijab in Focus.....	101
Conclusion	105
CHAPTER THREE: ‘GOD IS THE HEALER’: PRAYER SERVICE AND HEALTH SERVICES PROVISIONING IN THE HOSPITAL	108
Introduction.....	108
Jesus, the Restorer of Health.....	111
The Sermon: Persuasion and Compromise	119
To Attend or Not to Attend: Patients’ Reactions to the Morning Devotion	126
Conclusion	130
CHAPTER FOUR: ‘A SMALL SIN TO PREVENT A BIGGER HARM’	133
Introduction.....	133
Gender Stereotypes of Women	134
Cross-gender Encounters and Islam.....	136
Gender Relations in the Medical Context	138
The Sanctity of Life: The Islamic Way.....	139
Darura as a Modality for Negotiating Maternal Health	141
Coexistence of Health Practices.....	147
Conclusion	151
CHAPTER FIVE: ‘DO YOU BARBER?’ PRAGMATISM VS. DOGMATISM	154
Introduction.....	154
Historicising Male Circumcision	155
The Ghanaian Context	157
Becoming a wanzam in Ghana.....	159
Circumcision Practices in Madina	160
Circumcision in the Zongo: Do you Barber?	166
Responses from Patrons on Choice and Reasons for Circumcision	171
Conclusion	172

General Conclusion.....	174
References.....	185
Samenvatting in het Nederlands	200
Summary in English	204
Curriculum Vitae	207

LIST OF IMAGES AND FIGURES

Images are of both primary and secondary sources

Figure 1: Image of the National Chief Imam with Rev. Fr. Andrew Campbell.

Figure 2: Image of Muslims Observing Friday Prayer (Jumah) at the Premises of the Christ Apostolic Church of Ghana at Nima, Accra.

Figure 3: Map of Madina.

Figure 4: Structure of the National Healthcare Delivery System in Ghana.

Figure 5: Structure of the Healthcare Delivery System in Madina.

Figure 6: The Refurbished Front View of the Pentecost Hospital.

Figure 7: Field Map Showing Pentecost Hospital and its Adjoining Structures.

Figure 8: Front View of the Health Information Department at Pentecost Hospital.

Figure 9: Front View of the Refurbished O.P.D. (Triage).

Figure 10: Image of the Pew for Patients at the O.P.D.

Figure 11: The Entrance and Security Post at the Pentecost Hospital.

Figure 12: The Organisational Structure of the Pentecost Hospital.

Figure 13: List of Services Provided at the Pentecost Hospital.

Figure 14: Cross-section of Patients Attending the Morning Devotion.

Figure 15: Boxes for Collecting Patients' Cards at the Antenatal centre.

Figure 16: Circumcision Days at the Pentecost Hospital.

Figure 17: Cross-section of Queued Mothers Awaiting Circumcision Services at the P.H.

Figure 18: Tools for Circumcision.

Figure 19: A Neonate Being Dressed up at P.H. after Undergoing Circumcision via the Plastibell procedure.

Figure 20: The Signpost of the Muslim Circumciser in Madina Zongo.

Figure 21: The Modern Set of Tool Kit of the Local Circumciser in the Zongo.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to express my heart-felt appreciations and thanks to my principal supervisor Professor Birgit Meyer and co-supervisors Professors Rijk van Dijk and Kodjo Senah. I am also deeply indebted to Professor Martha Frederiks. To you all, I say, it was your guidance, coaching, and attention to fine details that made it possible for the completion of this manuscript.

I would also like to thank all the senior members on the Madina Project: Professor Samuel Ntewusu, Professor Kwabena Asamoah-Gyadu, Dr Johnson Mbillah, and Dr Rabiātu Armah. The insights and expertise you shared during our meetings at the Institute of African Studies conference rooms, Legon, were remarkable. The demands you made for clarity on issues which were ambiguous helped to shape the final manuscript.

Special appreciation goes to the management and staff of the Pentecost Hospital. Of special mention are Pastor Enoch Odame, Elder Moses, the moderator of the Morning Devotion, the administrator of the hospital, the matron of the hospital, the in-service coordinator, Madam Sadia, and the female circumcisor and her assistant.

I would like to appreciate Sheikh Dr Seebaway, Mallam Musah, and Mallam Fuad. Your insights and guidance helped me navigate and appreciate practical Islamic issues within the Madina enclave.

Special thanks also go to all my interlocutors, both within and without the precinct of the hospital. I am eternally grateful to you all; without you, this manuscript would not have seen the light of day. You all took time off from either your schedules at the hospital or home to attend to me. I also wish to use this moment to thank your partners, who were either present to corroborate your stories or gave additional information by way of reminders as to the issues I discussed. Of particular mentioning here is the wife of Mallam Musah.

I also extend my heart-felt gratitude to both past and present members of the ‘Religious Matters in an Entangled World Project’, with whom we shared stimulating intellectual discussions during my periods of visitation to Utrecht. My warm thanks go out to Pooyan Tamimi Arab, Christoph Baumgartner, Daan Beekers, Margreet van Es, Nina ter Laan, Annelise Reid, Manpreet Janeja, Angelantonio Rossi, Annalisa Buttici, Murtala Ibrahim, Mariam Goshadze, Elza Kuyk, Jip Lensink, Katja Rakow, Shaheed Tayob, Rodrigo Toniol, Marleen de Witte, and Annewieke Vroom. I would also like to thank Professors Brian Larkin and Jouda Verrips. You are such amazing people and really helped me in the course of my PhD journey. I cannot end the list of appreciation without mentioning Annemeik Schlatmann; your arrangements for my accommodations during my visits to Utrecht are still fresh on my mind. I also would like to thank my colleagues on the 'Madina Project', Joseph Fosu-Ankrah, Rashida Adum-Atta, and Kauthar Khamis. The friendship we have shared and continue to share will forever be cherished.

I would like to state my appreciation to Maaïke Westra of the African Studies Centre at Leiden University for her timely correspondence during my PhD trajectory.

My final thanks go to my family members, particularly my sisters Veronica Adom Amanfo and Eva Darko. My brothers, Andrew Darko and Michael Darko. My parents, WO1 (rtd) Emmanuel Kumah Darko, and my mother, who passed during the course of my studies. I thank Juliana Yeboah for her great management support whenever I travelled to the Netherlands. You took good care of my poultry business in my absence. I am most grateful, Akos! My special thanks to my partner, Eunice Amuzu. You have been a great helper since our paths crossed.