Zhong Xian Chua was born in Singapore and studied locally up to high school, with a focus on Mathematics and Physics. Upon completing his high school, he served two years in National Service. He then started his Bachelor studies in 2009 at Warwick University (UK), enrolling in the course Mathematics and Physics, switching to Mathematics and Philosophy in his second year to focus on Mathematical Logic. During this period, he discovered “Continental Philosophy”, and decided to dedicate his effort to it. Upon completion of his Bachelor studies in 2012, he followed up with a Master study in Continental Philosophy at Warwick University (2012-2013), and a MPhil degree in Philosophy at KU Leuven (2015-2016), with a focus on Phenomenology. He started his PhD at Leiden University in 2018, supervised by Dr. Frank Chouraqui. He is co-editing a volume titled, Movements of the Dialectic – Merleau-Ponty, Althusser and post-1968 Marxist Philosophies, scheduled to be published by Historical Materialism, Brill, in 2027.
