Curriculum Vitae

Danny was born in 1989 and was raised in Amersfoort. He obtained a BSc in Mathematics from Utrecht University in 2010 (cum laude) and a MSc in Mathematics from Utrecht University in 2012 (cum laude). His master's thesis, Impact of Demographical Change on the Severity of an Epidemic, was supervised by Dr Martin Bootsma, Professor Odo Diekmann, Professor Hiroshi Nishiura and Professor Joseph Wu.

In 2013, Danny joined Rebel Group as a financial consultant. After three years, in 2016, he moved to Transtrend, a Rotterdam-based hedge fund. In 2019, alongside his role at Transtrend, he began a PhD under the supervision of Professor Michel Mandjes, with co-supervision from Dr Robert Duivenvoorden and Professor Daan Crommelin, initially at the University of Amsterdam. The project later transferred to Leiden University following Professor Mandjes' move there.
