

Universiteit
Leiden
The Netherlands

Amulets, materiality and experience: demarcating space in the Roman world

Kret, P.M.M.

Citation

Kret, P. M. M. (2026, September 22). Amulets, materiality and experience: demarcating space in the Roman world. Retrieved from <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/4309854>

Version: Publisher's Version

License: Licence agreement concerning inclusion of doctoral thesis in the Institutional Repository of the University of Leiden

Downloaded from: <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/4309854>

Note: To cite this publication please use the final published version (if applicable).

Amulets, materiality and experience:
demarcating space in the Roman world

Patricia Kret

© Copyright 2026: Patricia Kret. All rights are reserved. No part of this book may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means, without the written permission from the author.

All images on the cover are open access/in the public domain (CC0). The objects come from the Rijksmuseum van Oudheden, Leiden; The Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York; Getty Museum and the papyri from the Papyrology Collection of the University of Michigan Library.

Cover design: Iliana Boshoven | www.ridderprint.nl

Layout: Arul Raja | www.ridderprint.nl

Print: www.ridderprint.nl

Amulets, materiality and experience: demarcating space in the Roman world

Proefschrift

ter verkrijging van de graad van doctor aan de Universiteit Leiden, op gezag van rector magnificus prof.dr. S. de Rijcke, volgens besluit van het college voor promoties

te verdedigen op dinsdag 22 september 2026

klokke 16:00 uur

door

Patricia Maartje Margaretha Kret

geboren te Leiderdorp

in 1993

Promotor

Prof. dr. Luuk de Ligt

Copromotor

Dr. Kim Beerden

Promotiecommissie

Prof. dr. Emma-Jayne Graham (The Open University)

Prof. dr. Miguel-John Versluys

Prof. dr. Jürgen Zangenberg

Dr. Claire Weeda

Deze publicatie maakt deel uit van het project Verandering in gebruik, een verandering in behoeften? Het gebruik van amuletten van de eerste eeuw v. Chr. tot de vroegchristelijke wereld met dossiernummer PGW.20.019 van het onderzoeksprogramma Promoties in de Geesteswetenschappen dat (mede) is gefinancierd door de Nederlandse Organisatie voor Wetenschappelijk Onderzoek (NWO).

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Acknowledgements		9
Abbreviations		11
Preface	The impact of amulets	13
	Bringing different time periods together	15
	Scope	16
	Research questions and outline	18
Chapter 1	Studying amulets	21
	1.1 Historiography: the many faces of amulet research	22
	1.1.1 Early research: broad interests and normative discourse	23
	1.1.2 Revival of the 1990s: magic and texts	25
	1.1.3 Amulets with Christian elements: parallel developments in the 1990s and beyond	32
	1.1.4 Bringing together different approaches	34
	1.2 New research into amulets: materiality studies	35
	1.2.1 Object agency	36
	1.2.2 Ancient material religion and agency	37
	1.2.3 Amulets, materiality, and experience	39
	1.3 Definition: what is an amulet?	43
	1.3.1 A new definition of amulets	44
	1.3.2 What is not included in this definition	46
	1.4 Approach: amulet use as a process	48
	1.4.1 Agency, relationism, and change	49
	1.4.2 Amulet use as a process	52
	1.4.3 Approach to sources	59
	1.5 Towards new questions	61

Chapter 2	Reaching out to amulets	65
2.1	Human individuals using amulets	66
2.1.1	Human bodies	66
2.1.2	Houses and other possessions	69
2.2	Problems and motives: why were amulets used?	70
2.2.1	Motives, fear and hope	70
2.2.2	Sphere of influence	72
2.3	How to acquire an amulet	78
2.3.1	How to make an amulet	79
2.3.2	Who made amulets	82
2.3.3	Personal contact with a specialist	86
2.4	The efficacy of amulets: installing the object in significant locations	92
2.4.1	Amulets and locations	92
2.4.2	Marking religious space	93
2.4.3	Amulets marking the boundary between inside and outside	96
2.5	Conclusion	99
Chapter 3	Experiencing the impact of amulets	103
3.1	The impact of religious practices on mental health and physical well-being	104
3.2	The impact of expectations before use	108
3.3	Embodied sensory experiences of amulet use	111
3.3.1	Experience of visibility	112
3.3.2	Experience of touch	117
3.3.3	Experiencing scent	122
3.3.4	Experiencing sound	123
3.3.5	Experiencing taste	125
3.3.6	Experiencing the efficacy of amulets through the senses	126

3.4	Excursus: the experience of materiality in the choice between judicial amulets and curses	127
3.4.1	Using a curse	127
3.4.2	Using an amulet	130
3.4.3	Amulet or curse?	132
3.5	The experience of controlled amulet space	134
3.6	The experience of time	136
3.6.1	A moment in time	136
3.6.2	Duration of use	137
3.6.3	De-installation and assessment	140
3.7	Experiencing circularity: the impact of reusing amulets	141
3.7.1	Circular processes in amulet use	141
3.7.2	Motives for the reuse of amulets	146
3.8	Conclusion	148
Chapter 4	Continuity and change in Late Antiquity	151
4.1	Change and amulets	152
4.1.1	Material expressions of late antique religions	154
4.1.2	Studying change	155
4.2	A new source: early Christian bishops discussing amulets	157
4.2.1	Critique on the use of amulets	157
4.2.2	Motivations for criticising amulets	166
4.3	The late antique process of amulet use	171
A.	Human individuals with problems and motives	172
B.	How to acquire an amulet and the role of the priest	176
C.	The efficacy of amulets: externalisation of danger	181
D.	The role and experience of text	185
E.	The sensory experience of amulet use	193
F.	The experience of a controlled amulet space	196

	G. The experience of time: reuse in the early Christian era	201
	H. Amulets or alternatives?	210
4.4	Conclusion: continuity, innovation, and change in the role of amulets in Late Antiquity	215
Conclusion	Continuity through change	219
	What made amulets particularly attractive?	221
	Potential to impact emotional and bodily well-being	223
	Continuity through change in Late Antiquity	224
Bibliography	Ancient textual sources	227
	Secondary literature	234
Curriculum Vitae		260
Nederlandse samenvatting		261

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First of all, I want to thank my supervisors Prof. Dr. Luuk de Ligt en Dr. Kim Beerden. Without their help I would neither have obtained my scholarship nor finished my thesis in time. They helped me structure my thoughts and form my arguments, and gave me the motivation to continue. Working on my thesis, it was a pleasure to have Kim as a role model. She showed me how important it is to see what women can do: be excellent teachers, productive scholars, and the best mothers. She helped me to develop, made sure I did not take on even more tasks, and always was my greatest supporter.

Carrying out PhD research is essentially a lonely process. I would therefore like to thank all my colleagues, who helped me get through it and were always ready for a chat: my roommates Marlisa, Larissa, Teuntje, Bente, Jamal, Suzan, Ruben, Liesbeth, Geert, Roosje, Sarah, and Camilla; my Ancient History colleagues Geert, Indira, Jürgen, Kim, Liesbeth, Luuk, Manon, Marijke, Miko, Rafal, Rens, Renske, and all the temporary colleagues who came and, unfortunately, went; all the PhDs who shared their experiences with me, especially those with whom I started my PhD trajectory: Alies, Ramona, Tessa, and Geke; and Theo, my fellow PhD representative. Warm thanks are especially due to Renske for her wisdom, kind words, and advice throughout my project. Last but certainly not least, I would like to thank my two paranymphs: Geke and Geert. From the start of my PhD research, I always looked forward to seeing Geke in the office next to mine, ready to talk about anything. She helped me enjoy the experience of writing, and her discipline inspired me to finish in time. Geert helped me control my nerves as the end of the trajectory came in sight and always provided a listening ear.

I also want to thank the organisations, institutions, and people that made this thesis possible. First of all, NWO for their confidence in me as a researcher and their appreciation of the interest and value of my subject. Furthermore, Leiden University for accommodating me as a researcher; OIKOS and KNIR for allowing me to attend various courses and gain experience abroad; KNAW and NEMO Kennislink for guiding me in the communication about my research; the organisers of conferences I was able to attend and my hosts at the places where I stayed. I am deeply grateful to Prof. Dr. Emma-Jayne Graham for the wonderful contact we had during my project. Finally, I would like to thank Frits Naerebout, Joanne Stolk, Efstathia Dionysopoulou, Ben van den Bercken, Glyn Muijtens, Indira Huliselan, and Anna Beerens for the help they provided in coping with sources, research, and texts.

I would like to thank my friends and family for always being interested, even when it must have been hard for them to see what exactly I was doing. Arina, Cornalijn, Saskia, my parents and sister, apologies for having bothered you with stories about strange amulets and annoying bishops, and thank you for listening. Closer to home, I owe more than can be expressed in words to Twan, to his unconditional love and support, and to his willingness to be my own private encyclopedia with much more knowledge than I can ever keep in my own head. Most of all, I need to thank Ian. His entrance into this world almost meant my exit. He made me experience liminality at its most intense and brought me closer to my research topic than I could ever have imagined. Dear Ian, although I love studying the Roman world, my love for you will always come first.

ABBREVIATIONS

- ACM M.W. Meyer, R. Smith (eds.), Ancient Christian Magic. Coptic Texts of Ritual Power (Princeton 1994).
- CCSL Corpus Christianorum, series Latina.
- GEMF C.A. Faraone, S. Torallas Tovar, Greek and Egyptian Magical Formularies, Vol. I: Text and Translation (Berkeley 2022).
- GMA R.D. Kotansky, Greek Magical Amulets. The Inscribed Gold, Silver, Copper, and Bronze Lamellae (Opladen 1994).
- GMPT H.D. Betz (ed.), The Greek Magical Papyri in Translation, Including the Demotic Spells (Chicago 1996).
- PCM K. Dosoo, M. Preininger, Papyri Copticae Magicae. Coptic Magical Texts, Volume 1: Formularies (Berlin/Boston 2024).
- PDM The Demotic magical papyri that were included in the GMPT, but excluded in the PGM.
- PG J.-P. Migne (ed.), Patrologiae cursus completus, series Graeca, 161 Vol. (Paris 1857-1866).
- PGM P Christian texts added to the PGM edition of 1973-1974.
- PGM K. Preisendanz, A. Henrichs, Papyri Graecae Magicae. Die griechischen Zauberpapyri, 2 Vol., Second Edition (Stuttgart 1973-1974).
- PL J.-P. Migne (ed.), Patrologiae cursus completus, series Latina, 221 Vol. (Paris 1844-1855).
- PLS A. Hamman (ed.), Patrologiae cursus compeletus, series Latina: Supplementum, 5 Vol. (Paris 1958-1974).
- SC Sources Chrétiennes.
- SM R.W. Daniel, F. Maltomini, Supplementum Magicum, 2 Vol. (Opladen 1990-1992).