

Universiteit
Leiden
The Netherlands

Marabout women in Dakar : creating trust in a rural urban space

Gemmeke, A.

Citation

Gemmeke, A. (2008, May 22). Marabout women in Dakar : creating trust in a rural urban space. Mande Studies. Lit-Verlag, Zürich/Münster. Retrieved from <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/13403>

Version: Not Applicable (or Unknown)

License: Licence agreement concerning inclusion of doctoral thesis in the Institutional Repository of the University of Leiden

Downloaded from: <https://hdl.handle.net/1887/13403>

Note: To cite this publication please use the final published version (if applicable).

Marabout Women in Dakar:
Creating Trust in a Rural Urban Space

PROEFSCHRIFT

TER VERKRIJGING VAN DE GRAAD VAN DOCTOR AAN DE UNIVER-SITEIT LEIDEN, OP GEZAG VAN DE RECTOR MAGNIFICUS DR. MR.
P.F. VAN DER HEIJDEN, HOOGLERAAR INTERNATIONAAL AR-
BEIDSRECHT IN DE FACULTEIT DER RECHTSGELEERDHEID VOL-
GENS BESLUIT VAN HET COLLEGE VOOR PROMOTIES TE VERDEDI-
GEN OP DONDERDAG 22 MEI 2008 KLOKKE 16:15

door
AMBER BABKE GEMMEKE
geboren te Zaandam in 1977

MARABOUT WOMEN IN DAKAR:
CREATING TRUST IN A RURAL URBAN SPACE

Amber B. Gemmeke

Lit Verlag
Münster – Hamburg

For Ine

In the series Mande Worlds have appeared:

- Vol. 1 Stephen Wooten (ed.) Wari Matters: Ethnographic Explorations of Money in the Mande World (2005)
- Vol. 2. Amber B. Gemmeke (2008)
- Vol. 3. Molly D. Roth Ma parole s'achète: Money, Identity and Meaning in Malian Jeliya (2008)
- Vol. 4. Stephen Belcher, Jan Jansen & Mohamed N'Daou (eds.) Mande Mansa - Essays in Honor of David C. Conrad

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	5
1. Introduction	7
Defining 'marabout' and 'maraboutage'	10
Finding the real marabout	12
Marabout women in Senegal	15
Political-religious and economic developments	19
Enchantment of urbanisation	22
- From the countryside to the city and back	23
- Development of an occult economy	25
Living and working in Dakar	31
- Filming	36
Outline of the book	37
2. Parcelles Assainies	39
Dakar	40
Parcelles Assainies	43
From the village to Dakar	47
Goorgoorlou and the art of dressing well	50
Insecurity and distrust	53
Media	55
- Newspapers	57
- Television, cinema, song writing and literature	61
Government policies	63
Under construction	67
3. Women and Maraboutage	71
'Problèmes de ménage'	72
Being a co-wife	74
Mothers-in-law	84
Infertility	87
In search of a husband	93
The absent husband	101
In the waiting room	103

4. Islam, Magic, and Femininity	107
A male marabout majority	109
- Without family network	114
Marabout women	116
- Meissa	116
- Ndeye	118
- Fanta	121
Gaining trust	123
- Purity	124
- Authority	127
- Dreams of the future	132
The paradox of success	136
 5. The Rural Urban Space	 139
Four women	142
- Mariama	142
- Thérèse	145
- Marie	153
- Fatou	156
- Four women and a husband compared	159
Not jinn-proof	160
Foreign and familiar	165
- Rural power	168
- Urban need	172
Filling the gap	176
 6. Charlatans	 181
A head not empty	183
Trust	185
Expectations of treatment	187
The fear factor	191
- Causing harm	192
- Manipulation	193
- Abuse	199
City of rumour and ruse	201
How to find a real marabout in Dakar	203
 7. Conclusion	 207
Creating trust	209
In a rural urban space	210
Beyond Senegal's borders	212
Women on a map of magic	216

TABLE OF CONTENTS

3

References	218
Appendices	228
A. Newspaper articles on arrested ‘charlatans’ in Dakar	228
B. Map of Dakar	231
C. Marabouts interviewed	232
D. Demographic data on Dakar and Parcelles Assainies	233
E. Senegalese health care centres and NGO’s promoting ‘traditional’ medicine	239
F. Advertisement of a marabout	240
Authors’ index	241

Figures and Photographs

Figures

1. Map of Dakar	43
2. Goorgoorlou by T.T. Fons	50
3. Cheikh Amadou Bamba	56
4. Average age of marriage according to sex and age	83
5. Cartoon on marriage	84
6. Map of Senegal	140
7. Advertisement from The Netherlands	214

Photographs

1. Aminata and Meissa	34
2. Parcelles Assainies, Unité 15	45
3. Parcelles Assainies, Unité 20	46
4. Ndeye in her office	125
5. Meissa’s villa, Cambérène	129
6. Ndeye in front of her apartment in Guediawaye	130
7. Ndeye in front of her new built villa, Parcelles Assainies	133
8. Aminata (in white) and Fanta in Fanta’s living room	134
9. Thérèse in her office	146
10. Fatou performing a treatment	170

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This thesis came into existence through the practical and mental support of more people than I can mention here. I am deeply grateful to them all.

The research is funded by the Faculty of Social Sciences of the University of Leiden and facilitated by the Research School CNWS. A travel grant to visit Senegal was provided by NWO's WOTRO. I am grateful to all institutes for giving me the possibility to write this book. Many thanks in particular to the staff of the CNWS, the African Studies Centre (ASC) and the ASC library for easing my PhD years: Ilona Beumer, Barend ter Haar, Sjaan van Marrewijk, Jarich Oosten, Wilma Trommelen, Ella Verkaik, Willem Vogelsang, Marieke van Winden, and Guita Winkel.

I am much indebted to the people who made my stay in Dakar so pleasurable and my research so fulfilling; Aminata Diop and her family Ibrahima, Coumba, Balla, and Sankoung Diop. Many thanks for having faith in me, for taking amazingly good care of me, my friends, and my family, and for much, much more. Mille fois merci. I equally thank Thérèse Diouf and her family for heart-warming support, as well as Inge Clarijs and her family. Thanks also to Alexander Schier for his company in Dakar. I thank Karim Sane and his family in Koussanar. I am blessed with the help of all the participants in this research in Dakar and elsewhere in Senegal. They helped me in my quest for marabouts and in thinking with me about my many questions. I thank them all. Specifically, I thank marabouts Thérèse and Paul, Ndeye, and Fatou, for their faith and support. At the Council for the Development of Social Science Research in Africa (CODESRIA) in Dakar, I was always most hospitably received by Ndeye Sokhna Gueye, Francis Nyamnjoh, and Jean-Bernard Ouédraogo. I thank them all for the lively conversations and the enriching comments on my research.

In Paris, I thank Perrine Drapier for her hospitality and company during conferences. In the Netherlands, I thank foremost Hans van den Breemer for the many occasions in which he helped me finding contacts in Dakar and in arranging paperwork. I also would like to express my gratitude to Bart Barendrecht, Anneke Breedveld, Martin van Bruinessen, Rijk van Dijk, Gerti Heselting, Sabine Luning, Erik de Maaker, Trevor Marchand, Steef Meyknecht, Geert Mommersteeg, Dirk Nijland, Peter Pels, Metje Postma, José van Santen, Benjamin Soares, Rachel Spronk, and Karin Willemse for their interest, the inspiring discussions, and the enlightening comments on my research. I equally thank the many people I met at conferences, workshops, and seminars in the Netherlands, France, the USA, Germany, and the United Kingdom who showed great interest in this thesis and helped me with its progress. My colleagues at the CNWS, the University of Amsterdam, The International Institute for the Study of Islam in the Modern World (ISIM) and at the ASC also gave me food for thought during the years of writing this thesis. I thank Roos Gerritsen, Joost Hagen, Wendelmoet Hamelink, Victor Igreja, Renaud Kutty, Nienke Muurling, Maarten Onneweer, Lotte Pelckmans, Juniator Tullius, Caco Verhees, Menno Welling, and Martijn Wienia for articles, book references, and many witty lunches and drinks. My special thanks to Clara ten Hacken and Ismail Hakkı Kadı for hapjes and grapjes, and for years of unconditional support. Special thanks also to Marloes Janson and Baz Lecoq for their help and reassurance. I thank Miriam Lang for her dedicated editing of the English text of this thesis.

I thank my family: Emil, Jort, Mireille, and Martijn, Annelies and Eric, for their love and support. Many thanks also to Bregje and Elly. I am grateful for the friendship of Annemieke, Lenneke, Liesbeth, and Moniek. I thank them for traveling with me in person and in spirit, for reflecting upon my thoughts, for making me laugh, and for endless care. I thank Tryfon for all his gifts of beauty, comfort, and joy.

I dedicate this thesis to my late mother, Ine van der Wal, whose curiosity and humor showed me how to see, how to listen, and how to comb the beach.